THE BOARD OF TRADE

Much comment has been made on our editorial remarks of last week relative to the withdrawal of the subsidy to S. S. Canada.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that this is a matter which should be taken up and handled diligently by the Board of Trade. To have a steamer on this route is absolutely necessary for the business life of Campbellton, and to have it cut off means the loss of thousands of dollars to the wholesale houses and merchants of this town. It is agreed that Campbellton is the natural distributing centre for all the towns along the Bay de Chaleur and it would not be in the best interests of business to allow the steamer to be withdrawn and place our merchants at the mercy of any one railway company, not to speak of them requiring to pay two railway charges. The Board of Trade could easily take this matter up and by resolutions forwarded to the proper quarter would do much to ensure the retaining of the vessel on this route.

THE BRIDGE

The petitions praying for the bridge across the Restigouche are now almost ready to be sent out throughout the county for signatures. There seems to be a lot of unnecessary delay in getting to work on this project in this county, where across the river the petitions which have been largely signed throughout the counties of Bonaventure and Gaspé are most of them in the committee's hands, and their arrangements completed for their delegation to attend at Ottawa. Get a hustle on and have both petitions and delegations in Ottawa at the same time.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION FOR 1913

The Youth's Companion appeals to every interest of family life from housekeeping to athletics. It begins with stories of youth vim and vigor, with articles that disclose the secrets of successful play in the great games, with charming tales of life at the girls colleges. But the companion does not surrender these readers when they have entered the more serious paths of life. Mothers will welcome the page for little children and the weekly doctor's article. Fathers will find the important news of the day as it is, and not as it is rumored to be. The entire household will appreciate the sketches which touch gently on common foibles or caricature eccentricity. In short, for less than five cents a week The Companion brings into the home clean entertainment, pure inspiration fine ideals, increase of knowledge.

Name rarely seen in tables of contents will be found in The Companion's Announcement for 1913, which will be sent upon request—with samples of the paper, to those not familiar with it.

Every new subscriber for 1913 who sends $2.25 will receive free all the issues for the remaining weeks of 1912, also, free, The Companion Window Transparency and Calendar for 1913, in rich, translucent colors—the most beautiful of all Companion souvenirs.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the Graphic:

When the writer a few years ago visited Campbellton he frequently heard of the bad state of the so called Tobique road from the International R. R. crossing through Seven Mile Ridge, but it was not until Saturday last that he had the unpleasant privilege of driving over that much used road. From that experience, and the experience of travelling over many roads in this province I have no hesitation in saying that for the number of people using this road, and its close proximity to Campbellton, it certainly holds the record. From careful scrutiny of the road it appears that not a dollar in real road work has been done for two or three years, although just before the Dominion election a year ago the brush was cleared from the roadside in some districts. There is no excuse for the numerous mudholes as good gravel abounds in nearly all sections of the roadside and a few hundred dollars spent in the right way would work wonders on this important road. Surely your local member who lives in your town, and who has the interest of Campbellton at heart could, if he tried, have this road put in shape next year. It is an important feeder to Campbellton and as one of the avenues of trade should not be neglected.

Thanking you for space I remain,
"Hunter"
Campbellton, Oct. 12.

Whereas, it has pleased God in His eternal wisdom to remove from our midst, the father and brother, of our beloved brothers, Montgomery and Thomas Cantwell. Be it resolved that we the members of Div. No. 1 extend our sincere sympathy to Brothers Cantwell, in their sad bereavement, and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Brothers Cantwell, a copy to the press, and a copy be recorded on the minutes of this meeting.

MERGER REGARDED AS ALMOST SURE

It was limited by a director of the Bank of Nova Scotia yesterday that the Bank of Nova Scotia was negotiating for the purchase of the local institution, but no information in regard to the state of the negotiations could be obtained.

On the street the opinion seemed to be that the transfer was likely to take place, and many pressed to know the basis of the proposed transfer. Some claimed that the transfer was to be on the basis of one share of the other, while others said that the terms would be more favorable to the shareholders of the Bank of Nova Scotia. H. A. Richardson, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who has been in St. John in conference with the directors of the local bank left there yesterday.

The capital of the Bank of Nova Scotia is $1,000,000, paid up, and the reserve fund is $1,790,000. The last dividend was at the rate of 13 per cent. The total liabilities to the public are $9,805,510, and the total assets $12,692,642.

The Bank of Nova Scotia has an authorized capital of $5,000,000, of which $4,200,000 is paid up. The reserve fund is $7,723,916. Its last dividend was at the rate of 12 per cent. Its total liabilities are $52,728,124, and its assets are $66,454,241.

The selling price of the stock is about the same in the vicinity of $465 a share.

HEROINE IS NOW LIVING IN POVERTY

Mme. de Ronsard, a heroine who nursed British soldiers with Florence Nightingale in the Crimean war, is now, at the age of eighty-four, living in an obscure quarter of Cairo, Egypt, in sickness and want, it is said. She commenced her career as a sister of Charity in 1849, and was decorated twenty-two years later by President Thiers for services rendered the wounded during the commune.

SCOTCH GIRLS' FRIEND

Mrs. Radford Undertook Big Task at Advanced Age

Mrs. Jane Radford, founder and principal of the Women's Canadian Employment Bureau of Montreal, has been busy for some time in the type of Scotch immigrant girls to Canada.

Mrs. Radford is considerably over the allotted span of years, and a very interesting story she had to tell of her work among girls who forsake the Old for the New World. Her public life commenced by her appointment to the Selecting Committee of an agency which was bringing girls out to Canada by the hundred. Her experience in this capacity gave her an idea of the great injustice done by the system under which these girls were sent out. Promises were made that never could be realized, with the result that disappointment and despair invariably made miserable the existence of girls who left the Old Country full of big hopes and ambitions. Realizing all this, Mrs. Radford, although seventy-four years of age, went to Canada and asked to be permitted to put her scheme into operation. That was to tell the truth with regard to the wages domestic servants would receive; to give opportunities to girls to select whom they should work for and see that the particular work of a domestic servant was made clear to her before any contract was closed; and to provide amusement and social intercourse for the girls during their free hours. This was rather a big undertaking for a woman, but the Women's Canadian Employment Bureau was organized as the result of Mrs. Radford's efforts, and part of its activity consists in bringing the girls into touch with ministers of their own denomination, whether Protestant or Roman Catholic, and giving them the advantage of a home at a very low rate for at least twenty-four hours after their arrival—a rest being desirable after the fatigue of their passage. To perform all these obligations, Mrs. Radford arranged a system of work which does her credit.

SAD END OF BARONESS

Member of Noble German Family Died in Straitened Circumstances.

There died at the Aged Women's Home in Toronto, Baroness von Helmsdorf, widow of the late Baron Ernest von Helmsdorf, who lived on a little farm at Humber Bay. Her husband died about two years ago. The Baron von Helmsdorf came from a distinguished noble Prussian family and when he came to Canada many years ago he had considerable money, which, however, he lost in unfortunate speculations. The old couple for many years eked out an existence by selling chickens, eggs, vegetables, etc., which they raised at their little farm at Humber Bay.
