Gossip From Chicago.

Counselman & Day to J. Dixon & Co.: Wheat has been supported by a rehash of the old stories about damage to wheat in shock and increased export demand. Our local crowd has been short, and in the present uncertainty of the markets they run very quickly. Until we get something positive as to shortage abroad we do not feel like taking the long side. It is a waiting market and about the only money is in scalping.
Shippers are buyers of corn and cash demand continues fair. Trouble with this gradi is that near options are rather dangerous to trade in and futures almost too much of a discount to sell.
Provisions weak under pressure of long stuff and efforts of local bears to depress prices.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to R. Cochram: Outside markets apparently took advantage of our holiday yesterday to put a rod in pickle for Chicago shorts, and they had to take their medicate.
