Would You Sooner Fight in Flanders or in Canada?

Major (Dr.) C. O. Fairbank, of the 70th Battalion, received a remark-ably direct appeal for men and money from Capt. F. Chalk, V. S., of Forest, from Capt. F. Chalk, V. S., of Forest, who is with the British expeditionary force in Alexandria, Egypt. Dr. Clark is a member of the Lambton county council, and he writes to Major Fairbank to deliver his appealing message to that body.

The message reads:
"Don't slacken your efforts as a body, but give us your support as in the past; money and clothing, Red Cross supplies and men, are badly needed, and will be to the end. Send us 100,000 good men from the farms, who are strong and hardy. If you do, we can win this war next spring. We could take the Dardanelles in 24 hours if we had 100,000 Canadian troops here well trained. My last word is, as you have freely received a bountiful harvest in Lambton, freely give of your abundance, and do not give grudgingly; give us your hearty support in men and money. Tell the young men unless they come the war young men unless they come the war may go to them, even to their own

Death of James McLachlan

The Anaconda Standard gives the following account of the accidental death of James McLachlan, of Brooke:—
James McLachlin, a carpenter, aged 33 years, fell to his death from a scaffold on one of the new buildings at the reduction works Monday, striking the ground 32 feet below. Several fellow workmen were near, but none appears to have seen the cause of the accident. It is probable that he slipped in some way. His companions saw him as he was falling and hastened to his relief. He apparently struck on his head, as the face was badly bruised, and it is probable that the skull was fractured. The right arm and the left wrist were also broken. The unfortunate man died about an hour after the accident, which happened between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. McLachlan, came to Ausconda The Anaconda Standard gives afternoon.

Mr. McLachlan came to Anaconda from Billings in July last, and at once took out his card in the carpenters' union, being employed on construction at the works. He had evidently gone to Billings from Great Falls, as he had a working card from the Great Falls union, issued in 1913. He carried cards showing that he was a member in good standing in the carpenters' union here and in the Odd Fellows' lodge at Calgary, Alberta.

and in the Odd Fellows' lodge at Calgary, Alberta.

Little is known of his relatives. An unsigned letter was found in his pocket, in which he was addressed as brother, and in this letter, dated at Alvinston, Ontario, last September, the address of a sister, Miss Katie McLachlin, is given by the writer, either a brother or a sister, as on a rural mail route from Alvinston. His roommate, at 608 East Commercial avenue, says Mr. McLaughlin was a native of Ontario and that his mother is still living there.

Still living there.

Coroner M. P. Mahoney took charge of the body and will hold an inquest at 7.80 o'clock this evening.

In the inquest on the death of James McLachlan, a carpenter who was killed Monday afternoon when he fell from a building at the smelters, the jury impaneled by Coroner M. P. Mahoney returned the following verdict: "That the cause of death was by an unavoidable accident at the new roaster building No. 2, at the Washoe smelter." The following jurymen returned the verdict: Ira W. Potess, J. P. Dunn, James Marron, George Boyce, Dan McCarthy and Eber Golder.

Golder.

A number of witnesses were examined by Coroner Mahoney, including James A. McPherson, nurse at the smelters; L. B. Comer, carpenter foreman; Mr. West, carpenter helper; George Hofland, ironworker, and Frank McAndrews, ironworker. The gist of the testimony was that Mr. McLachlan was carrying a plank on the fourth floor of the building
