BROWN & AITCHISON, 6 Lister's Buildings Jame's Street, Hamilton.

Children, not only when grown up, but when great, must honor their parents, and behave dutifully, and respectfully towards them. It ill becomes a good man to prefer a bad request, or to appear in a bad cause. The best friend we have in the world, must not have such an influence over us, as to bring us to do a wrong thing. Ambitious spirits commonly prepare for themselves the instruments of death. He who employs the doctrines of God's electing love as a reason why he should not flee to Christ, is wielding a sledge hammer to drive his own soul home to hell.
