

BAKING POWDERS CONTAINING LIME.

Why "Royal" is Absolutely Pure.

Analysis shows the presence of Tartrate of Lime in several brands of Baking Powder placed upon the market.

"DR. PRICE'S" Baking Powder contains Tartrate of Lime.

"PEARL" Baking Powder contains Tartrate of Lime.

"GROFF'S SNOW-FLAKE" Baking Powder contains Tartrate of Lime.

"DE LAND'S" Baking Powder contains Tartrate of Lime.

All BULK Baking Powders contain Tartrate of Lime.

The presence of this substance in the above-named Baking Powders results from the use of inferior Cream of Tartar in their manufacture. The Cream of Tartar of the market, from which they are made, contains Tartrate of Lime in amounts varying from six to ten per cent, and hence these powders contain this impurity as a foreign substance to a corresponding extent, which is of no value, but a positive detriment in any powder in which it is found.

The Royal Baking Powder is made from Cream of Tartar specially refined and prepared for its use by patent processes by which the Tartrate of Lime is totally eliminated. This highly important result has been attained only with great care, labor, and expense. In money alone a quarter of a million dollars has been invested in patents, machinery and appliances by which the crude Cream of Tartar, being procured direct from the wine districts of Europe and subjected in this country to these exclusive processes, is rendered entirely free, not only from the objectionable Tartrate of Lime, but from other foreign substances. This adds greatly to the cost of manufacturing Royal Baking Powder; but, as all its other ingredients are selected and prepared with the same precise care, and regardless of labor or expense, an article is produced that is entirely free from any extraneous substance, and chemically pure in all respects. No lime, earth, alum, or impurity of any kind can, by inadvertence, or by the use of adulterated articles or otherwise, be introduced into the "Royal," and it contains no ingredients except those certified by the Government and other eminent chemists necessary to make a pure, wholesome, and perfect Baking Powder.

It costs more to manufacture the Royal Baking Powder than any other, but it is, as shown by chemical analysis, the only "absolutely pure" Baking Powder made.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., New York.

Sparkles.

A BANG-UP affair—a railroad collision; another—an exploding rocket.

THE wages of sin nowadays depend a great deal on the wealth of the bank and the chance that the cashier has.

"No," said Brown to Robinson, with a sigh, "I haven't got change for a five; but I shou'd like to have a five for a change."

WHEN the marriage ceremony was over, the parson was approached by the groom with the question, "What's the damage, elder?"

THERE are two reasons why some people don't mind their own business. One is that they haven't any business, and the other is that they haven't any mind.

IN the Auburn prison choir the first tenor is a murderer, while bass and soprano are merely burglars. This bears out what we have previously remarked about amateur tenors.

A POET sent to an editor a contribution, entitled, "Why do I Live?" and the editor answered: "Because you send your contributions by post, instead of bringing them in person."

"Can you paint me a sign at once?" "Yes, what kind of a sign do you want?" "A sign of rain." A cloud lowered on the painter's brow, and, fearing an immediate storm, the humourist left.

A HALF or Whole Bottle of Murray & Lanman's Florida Water mixed with the water of the bath is of great use to invalids and all delicate or nervous persons as it revives and braces up the failing strength, and soothes the most irritable nervous system.

A LOQUACIOUS blockhead, after babbling some time to Lord Erskine, observed he was afraid he was intruding on his lordship's ear. "Oh, not at all," observed Erskine; "I have not been listening."

"How old would you think my daughter was?" asked a mother of a lady friend at one of our summer resorts. "Would you think she was eighteen?" "Oh, yes," was the candid reply, "I should think she was eighteen—about ten years ago!"

"Don't talk to me about beginning at the bottom of the ladder," observed a "crushed" actress to a friend. "I began there ten years ago, and I'm there still. If I was to do it over again, I'd begin at the top. It's so much easier to fall down than to climb up."

AN old Dutch tavern-keeper, who had his third wife, thus expressed his views of matrimony: "Vell, you see, de first time I marry for love; dat vas goot; then I marry for beauty; dat vas goot too, about as de first; as time I married for money, and dis is peters as poth."

ALLEN'S Lung Balsam is recommended to cure the most distressing Cough.

A mosquito has easy manners; for it is hard for him to visit you without making himself to hum. But then he stays to hum a good deal, too.

THE patent fish-pole, with self-register attachment, showing the exact number of fish caught with it, displays great inventive skill; but it doesn't sell worth a cent.

A RETIRED base-ballist, of some literary skill, was asked to write an epitaph for a man who had just died, after marrying his third wife. The ex-batter produced the following terse but expressive sentiment: "Out on thid."

A SAD NEGLECT. Neglecting a constipated condition of the bowels is sure to bring ill health and great suffering. Burdock Blood Bitters regulate the bowels in a natural manner, purifying the blood and promote a healthy action of the stomach, liver, kidneys and Bowels.

SCENE—Table d'hote at fashionable hotel on Deeside: big market day. Farmer of the old school has dined. Waiter: "Finished, sir?" Farmer: "Fat's the chairge?" Waiter: "Five shillings, please." Farmer (startled): "Five shillings? Weel, I'm nae deep yet." Resumes operations actively.

ROLLIBOY (extra heavy weight): "This hot weather wilts me. I agree with the philosopher that all flesh is grass." Scraggle (facetious featherweight): "You'd make a prize haystack, then, if only you were well dried." Rolliboy (witheringly): "And you'd make the needle that never could be found in me."

"How in the world can you content yourself to live in this dead-and-alive place?" asked the city visitor of her country cousin. "I know I should die if I had to stay here." "Well," replied the rustic relative, "I suppose I should, too; but then the city folks aint here only a few weeks in the year; you know."

A NATIONAL FAMINE.

WILL IT EVER OCCUR?—THE WONDERFUL EXPERIENCE OF ONE WHO HAS SOLVED THE BREAD PROBLEM.

[American Rural Home.]

A national famine would cause the greatest disaster, and there are many who believe it will eventually occur. Still the diversities of climate, the richness of soil and the character of the country seem to proclaim the impossibility of such a calamity. But without such aids as machinery furnishes the grass and grain of the country could not be secured. With all the machinery at their disposal and the employment of every man that can be hired for such work, our farmers in the great grain-growing sections of the country almost always fail to secure their entire crop in the best possible order, simply because sufficient help cannot be secured. Take away the harvesting machinery and the farm labour of the country could scarcely care for more than a twentieth of the present average yearly crop. As a consequence fewer acres would be planted, the lesser yield would enhance the price of grain, and bread would reach a figure beyond the means of the labouring classes—in fact, become a luxury. Manufacturers of harvesting machinery have, therefore, benefitted, not only the farmer, by enabling him to reap more acres of grain than he otherwise could, but all other classes through the cheapening of grain, (and consequently of bread) as a result of the vast quantity produced.

There is no man in America who has contributed more to this result than Mr. C. D. Dewey, president of the Johnston Harvesting Company, of Batavia, N. Y. Through his energy and ability the harvesting of grain by means of his wonderful machines has become almost an exact science, and in the accomplishment of this purpose Mr. Dewey has been an indefatigable worker. Indeed for an extended period he was so closely confined to his duties that he scarcely took time for proper rest or recreation. While in the very midst of these great labours he observed a peculiar sensation about the head, which did not leave him, and which he attributed to the strain of business. He also noticed that his appetite was fickle and his sleep broken, but he did not anticipate the terrible troubles which were before him, and like nearly every man who is prosecuting a great work his interest in the undertaking overcame all thoughts of self. But the physical difficulties which were slight at first, kept increasing. The little pains grew to agonies; the minor symptoms to serious calamities, until at last he broke down completely and was confined to his bed for more than two months. At that time his condition was deplorable. His mind was in a nearly comatose state and his body perfectly helpless. During the entire period he did not move a pillow's length, so great was his exhaustion.

It would indeed be difficult to imagine a more helpless position than that in which Mr. Dewey then was. And yet to-day he is a picture of health, and attends to his duties constantly. When asked how this had been accomplished he made answer as so many others have: "By means of Warner's Safe Cure. This great remedy, I am happy to state, has restored me to nearly the same health and vigour I formerly had. It is not surprising, therefore, that I consider it a most valuable medicine, and that I cordially recommend it."

The sharp competition of the present day forces men of business far beyond their strength before they are aware. The claims of society and the family undermine the vitality of women unknown even to themselves or their friends. The end of all such taxations is sickness, pain and death. Fortunate is the one who finds the means of escape from this terrible ending before it is too late. More fortunate is the one who avoids its final stages by overcoming the first symptoms while they are yet in their beginnings, and by such means as have been shown to be efficient and pure.

NESTLE'S

MILK FOOD.

Prepared at Vevey, Switzerland. A LITTLE WATER is all that is required to make it ready for use. It has stood the test of time. Send for pamphlet to THOMAS LEEHING & CO., Montreal.