MISSING MONEY LOCATED IN TORONTO

Harry J. Matthews Arrested With Twenty-Five Hundred Dollars Stolen From New Westminster Bank in His Grip — Refused to Say How or Where He Got It.

Harry J. Matthews, aged about 44, who claims New York as his home town, and declares he is in town negotiating for a moving picture site, was arrested by Detectives Guthrie, Newton and Montgomery at a downtown hotel, early Saturday morning, with over $2500 of the $275,000 stolen in the celebrated New Westminster Bank robbery in the early part of 1911, in his possession.

The police believe that Matthews can throw a lot of light on the famous robbery, if he can only be made to talk; but first efforts in this line Saturday morning proved a decided failure. For three hours Inspector Kennedy and Sergeant Mackie tried to find out from Matthews where he got the stolen bills, but Matthews at all times maintained silence, smiling at times at some questions put by the officers.

The police were first notified of the passing of the stolen money by the clerk of the hotel, who had taken down the numbers and compared them with the list kept in all the large hotels. The three detectives arrived just as Matthews was dressing and placed him under arrest. The money was found in a small club bag, done up in packages of $500. There were five packages, each containing 100 five dollar bills and 13 loose five dollar bills, making a total of $2500. Every bill was identified as one of those stolen from the Bank of Montreal. Matthews was lodged in No. 1 station and will be charged in today's police court with receiving stolen money.

Matthews is the second man caught in Toronto passing some of the stolen money. Over a year ago a man named Davis was arrested at the Palmer House in company with a woman, who were found to have over $6000 of the bills in their possession. Davis was sent to New Westminster to stand trial for taking part in the robbery, was acquitted and brought back to Toronto and sentenced to six months in the penitentiary on a conviction for bringing stolen money into Canada.

NEW GAS FLOW AT OIL SPRINGS

Gusher of Quarter Million Feet Struck on Donley Farm and Capped.

Canadian Press Despatch. ESTERLEY, Ont., June 7.—Another gas flow has struck at the new oil springs fields. On the Donley farm, a couple of miles from Esterley, a gusher of a quarter of a million feet was struck this morning and the new well was capped without difficulty. The Oil Springs Oil and Gas Company, of which W. J. Aikens, of Bradford, is the principal shareholder, are the owners of the huge gusher. It struck the other day, which has an estimated output of 25,000,000 feet, and which has not yet been capped, owing to the gigantic flow. The gas is of excellent quality, no odor of any kind being detected.

BROKE AWAY AT STATION DOOR AND FIRED TWICE AT OFFICER

Alvin Thompson, Suspected Shopbreaker, Rearrested After Shooting at Pursuers.

Alvin Thompson, a suspected shopbreaker, attempted to murder Acting Detective Koester of No. 2 division in front of the Agnes street station at 10.30 Saturday night, after having broken away from the officer just inside the station door.

A week ago the tailoring shop at 113 1-2 West Queen street was broken into and Detectives Koester and Strom, working on the case, arrested Thompson along with Stanley Perry on Queen street, on a charge of shopbreaking. The pair made no resistance, until Koester was about to open the station door. Koester had the door half open and his man up the first step, when Thompson jerked free and ran for Yonge street. Koester immediately pursued and the fleeing man stopped, drew a heavy calibre revolver, and fired two shots at the detective, who jumped behind a telegraph post for shelter.

Walter Koester pursued his man along Agnes to Yonge street. Strom ran down Terault to head off any attempt at doubling on his tracks. Thompson jumped a Yonge car, alighted and fired a Queen street man and escaped tonight.

Police and Suffragettes Clash at Gates of King's Palace

A concentrated raid by the militants on Buckingham Palace called out the cordon of police drawn around the King's residence to cope with the strenuous women who were besieging the gates to the palace. The photograph shows what the police had to cope with. Some of the women are seen in an attempt to pull the reins of the policemen's mounts.

FARMER AND HIS WIFE KILLED BY CYCLONE NEAR WOODS LOCK HOUSE BORNE AWAY IN INSTANT

Thomas Bartley Met Death in Home in Which He Was Born Eighty-Four Years Ago — Roofs Were Torn Off and Fences and Trees Swept Away — Disturbance Came Without Warning.

WOODSTOCK, June 7.—In the house in which he was born, Thomas Bartley, 84 years of age, and his wife, 77 years of age, were killed about 6.30 o'clock tonight when the frame structure, without the slightest warning was picked up by a cyclone. Portions of it were scattered thru adjoining fields for several hundred yards. The disturbance appears to have originated near a bush between the 12th and 13th concession lines, north of Woodstock. The wind took a southerly course, crossing the field in which an asylum stands, taking trees and fences with it along the south side of the cross road.

A slaughter house belonging to J. Milson, Woodstock, between the 11th and 12th concessions, lost its roof but a litter of pigs in the barn were not affected.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT ARENA MARKED BY SIMPLE GRANDEUR TORONTO MOURNED WITH ARMY

NEW CRISIS IN MEXICAN SITUATION

WASHINGTON, June 7.—A new crisis in the Mexican situation developed late last night when two Mexican federal gunboats, closely trailed by two American war craft, the cruiser Tacoma and gunboat Sacramento, steamed from Puerto Mexico for Tampico to enforce a blockade of that port decreed by Gen. Huerta. No specific orders have been given, the American commanders merely being instructed to keep the Mexican boats under surveillance, but it is known that Rear Admiral Badger has been advised that the United States Government regards Tampico as an open port and desires that there be no interference with commerce there.

DAY OF MEMORIAL IN TORONTO FOR SALVATIONISTS WHO DIED

Three Large Meetings Attended by Thousands Who Heard Messages of Hope and Cheer From General Booth and Expressions of Sympathy From Prominent Laymen.

Sunday in Toronto was a day of memorial. Thousands of persons at three large meetings in the morning, afternoon and night, paid final tribute to friends and relatives who perished in the Empress of Ireland disaster. The morning and evening services in Massey Hall were held specially for members of the Salvation Army who were lost in the wreck. The afternoon service in the Arena, honored by the presence of city and provincial officials, was public, and despite the storm which broke over the city as it opened, was attended by more than 5000 persons.

Following the funeral Saturday of sixteen Salvationists who died in the disaster, yesterday's services were a fitting close for the universal expressions of sympathy and tokens of honor to the heroes of Canada's greatest marine tragedy. Simple, but impressive as the services were, there was potent through the day the pathos and impressiveness of the occasion which marked Saturday's memorial. Among the laymen to join in the tributes to the missing Salvation Army members were His Honor Sir John Githens, who occupied the chair at the public meeting; Mayor Hooker, Hon. Dr. Fyde and Hon. J. L. Fox.

Stories of Bravery. Commissioner Thomas McKie, of London, England, representing General Booth, addressed each meeting. Mrs. Major Atwell, who, with her husband, was rescued, told of her last moments aboard the ill-fated vessel. Her description of the bravery with which the missing Salvationists met their death brought tears to the eyes of hundreds of the audience which filled the Arena. Major Atwell addressed the evening meeting in Massey Hall, also telling of his experiences, during the fifteen minutes that the Empress remained afloat after she was struck by the Storaasund.

Many persons were prevented from attending the opening services in the Arena by the thunderstorm, which began as the hands played the strains of the first hymn. Nearly five thousand persons already were within the building, however, and others continued arriving until the service closed. The evening service in Massey Hall was the best attended of the day. An hour before the band began playing the addition to the hymn, "The Empress of Ireland," was sung.

IT CERTAINLY DID RAIN. At 2.45 yesterday afternoon the thunderstorm which had been brewing for several hours, broke over the city in a deluge of rain. The meteorological department that .35 inches of rain fell while the storm lasted.

NO STRINGS TO THE PROMISE BY HUERTA OF RESIGNATION

President of Mexico Does Not Intend to Hide Behind Any Technicalities, Says His Delegates to the Peace Conference at Niagara Falls.

Canadian Press Despatch. NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 7.—No strings are attached to Gen. Huerta's promise to resign the Mexican presidency as soon as his country is "politically pacified." His delegates to the mediation conference took occasion yesterday to say publicly that he does not intend to hide behind any technicalities.

It had been said that under the language of his pledge to resign when the country was politically pacified, Gen. Huerta might insist on holding office until all guerrilla bands were dispersed. On that account another statement was issued yesterday by the ranking member of the Huerta delegation. It follows:

"Mr. Robassa of the Mexican delegation has been asked what is the interpretation given by the Mexican delegates to the word 'politically pacified' in their statement declaring that Gen. Huerta is prepared to withdraw from office at the time of his withdrawal. He shall be politically pacified, and if he thinks that an agreement between the two contending parties would not be considered as fulfilling Gen. Huerta's condition.

MAY BE MAN WHO SHOT NEGRO

About 2 o'clock on Sunday morning the night watchman at Davies packing house at West Toronto observed a man, dressed as a cowboy, and with a revolver in his belt, wandering around the premises. He ordered the man off, and was asked by him the way to West Toronto. The watchman notified the police station and an officer traced the man to Jane street, where it was found that he had gone to Mount Dennis. The police at that place were asked to arrest the man, who is believed to be the circus employe who shot a negro at Napanee.

TWO WARRANTS AGAINST DOUGLAS CHARGING PERJURY AND FRAUD

Former Toronto Social Service Worker Now Sought by Police of Newark and New York.

Special to The Toronto World. NEW YORK, June 7.—Kenneth D. Douglas, who attracted notice in Newark by religious and social welfare work and by his marriage with a Wesleyan College graduate, also a social worker, is being sought in this city by the Newark police, who have two warrants for his arrest. One of the warrants alleges perjury, and the other the passing of a worthless cheque. The belief that Douglas is in seclusion somewhere in New York City was strengthened today, when it was learned that on Friday he had telephoned to his wife, who is stopping at the home of the Rev. George P. Dougherty. He made an appointment to meet her in Jersey City, but when Mrs. Douglas went there he failed to keep the appointment.

In this telephone message Douglas is reported to have told his wife not to lose faith in him, and that when they met he could explain satisfactorily his present difficulties.

The charge of perjury against Douglas is based on his statements when he applied for a marriage license six weeks ago. He asserted at that time he had not before been married, but investigation showed, it is alleged, that he had been married but had been divorced while living in the west.

The other warrant was issued on a charge made by a New York merchant, who alleged that Douglas gave a cheque drawn on a bank in which he had no funds. The police allege that another complaint has been made against Douglas by a New York bond dealer who lives in Newark.

DR. SHEARER TO SUCCEED DR. GRANT

Appointment is Expected to Be Made by Presbyterian Assembly Should Dr. Grant Decline to Act as Provisional Superintendent Under New Amalgamation Plan—Church Union Struggle Will Begin in Earnest

By a Staff Reporter. WOODSTOCK, June 7.—At their final meeting yesterday afternoon the home mission board and the board of social service and evangelism decided to recommend on Tuesday morning that they be amalgamated. The motion will also recommend that Dr. A. S. Grant and Dr. J. G. Shearer, the present heads of both departments, be appointed as provisional superintendents. If Dr. Grant does not withdraw his resignation it is understood that an endeavor will be made to have Dr. Shearer appointed as head of the committees. Outside of the city the work of the committees is widely different, but in the large cities they interlock considerably. The committee of social service and evangelism in its work in the country looks after weak churches. Prayers for Guidance. The morning service at Knox Church in St. Paul's Anglican Church, was addressed by Dr. J. A. Macdonald, Toronto, and Dr. J. G. Shearer, also of Toronto. Miss Christine Barte, superintendent of rescue work, and Miss Dr. Oliver, of Indore, delivered addresses at a women's rally in the First Baptist Church. Hall Spoiled Services. The moderator, Dr. W. T. Herridge, conducted a communion service in Knox Church at 4 p.m. The church was packed. He was assisted by Dr. Murdoch Mackenzie and Dr. Campbell. In the evening arrangements had been made for a large public rally, but owing to the storm it was canceled. The evening service at Knox Church was considerably interrupted by the storm. The church has a flat roof over the main auditorium, and when the hail stones which in many cases were more than an inch thru, fell on it, the moderator had to cease his speaking on account of the noise. The lights went out once, and when they lit the gas power went off the pipe organ rendering it useless.

Salvationists' Tribute to Victims of Empress of Ireland Shared in by Tens of Thousands of Citizens.

Thru streets lined many deep with citizens of every walk of life, who stood bareheaded as the four purple-decked funeral cars, with their mournful freight passed by, the remains of the 16 Salvationist victims of the Empress of Ireland disaster were borne from the Arena on Saturday afternoon and laid to rest in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Toronto has never seen such an impressive cortege; nor has a greater concourse gathered at a divine service in this city than that which was present to pay their last respects to those who "had been transferred to glory," as the comforting Salvationist expression has it. It was a Salvationist requiem, if you will, but it was a great city that joined in the mourning. And yet in the Arena, thru out the solemn service, the dominant note was not that of mourning, nor of hopeless grief. Rather was it a feeling of sad triumph befitting soldiers enlisted under that scarlet and blue flag, whose motto is "Onward and Upward."

Survivors have left it on record that amongst the ranks of the Salvationists who stood on that slanting deck there was neither confusion nor outcry; on the contrary, they had met death with their colors nailed to the mast. They had been so many times they had exhorted others to prepare. Eloquent was the feeling of the Salvation Army on this occasion is best conveyed by the message of their general: "Whether we live, or whether we die, the army must go on." And so, in pursuance of this, the trappings of war inseparable from ordinary interment ceremonies, were mostly conspicuous by their absence, while mourning badges, giving place to the customary sombre black, the cross and crown to crope bands.

An estimate of the crowds that lined the route would be hard to make. It is sufficient to say that Toronto was there. At least 6000 were at the service, but these 6000 formed but an infinitesimal fraction of the numbers who, thru lack of accommodation, were unable to attend. All morning, from 9 o'clock, had filed thousands—the great estimate was 25,000—into the public structure on Mutual street, to look their last on the silent forms lying in state.

Defied Analysis. It was a throng which defied analysis. Old men, young and middle-aged, the cleric and the bartender, the lawyer and the laborer, the clerk and the navy, the merchant prince and the man who had been put on the right path thru the efforts of the army, the woman of fashion and the seamstress, the school girl and the aged grandmother—all were there, and thousands besides. Past the caskets, the flag-draped biers they filed, silently in awe, sorrowfully gazing at the waxen features, and turning away with bowed heads. Many a tear was shed, and many a heart was broken.
