

of age, and when a blessed season of revival was in progress in our churches in Martintown, I was led to see the "exceeding sinfulness of sin" in my heart, and to look for a way of escape from the displeasure of God and the burden of my sin, and immediately I found answer to my heart's longings in the words of Jesus, "Come unto Me!" So without delay, I simply and confidently came to Him, and gave Him my heart for cleansing and safe keeping, and at once realized the full satisfaction and joy of believing in the Lord Jesus.

Since this period, my chief desire has been to win my companions and friends over to "the Lord's side," and in this the Lord has been pleased to use me in some measure.

In passing I must say also, that ever since my conversion I have been a happy little follower of Christ, finding Him always worthy of fullest confidence and happiest trust.

Whenever I would wander from His side, or mis-step in my Christian course, He would lovingly raise me up again, and restore me to my former place in His love and confidence.

I remember praying often and earnestly
