"Over There" at the Grand.
A love story of the world's war by Howard McKent Barnes, describes that truly successful war play, "Over There," coming to the Grand from its Princess Theatre (Chicago) success. Without doubt the greatest piece of stage work is the third act when an airplane in full flight and full war action is shown.

Sents will be placed on sale today for the famous New York dramatic success of last season, which will be the attraction at the Royal Alexandra Theatre all next week, "Eyes of Youth." At the Star.

At the Gaiety.
George F. Hayes, Kate Pullman and Al Perrier, a trio of clever players, who are well known in burlesque and well liked here, head the cast of Ross Sydney's London Belles in "Whoopee-De-Do," who will appear in their latest program through the coming week at the Gaiety.

Commencing Saturday the Allen Theatre will present D. W. Griffith's "The Great Love." This film is the first short-length feature which Mr. Griffith has made since "The Birth of a Nation," and contains practically the same cast that appeared in "Hearts of the World." "The Great Love" is a story of England and the war. It is a mighty story with a mighty theme, replete with thrilling and dramatic situations. The picture will be shown at regular Allen prices during its engagement.

ONLY TWO OUNCES OF BREAD A DAY

Mrs. MacEvenue Speaks to Members of St. Joseph's Alumnae.

At a meeting of members of St. Joseph's Alumnae held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Gough, 29 Chestnut Park road, yesterday afternoon, some interesting facts about the work of the women of England were told by Mrs. MacEvenue, who has returned to Toronto after assisting for four years in war work there.

All the bread used in England is like the darkest was bread used in Canada, the speaker told her audience. If one ate two slices in the morning one would get no more for the rest of the day. Everyone was just allowed two ounces. The speaker had not tasted butter for six months before her return. The difficulty in procuring bedding and other needs for the hospitals was very great. "You may have all the money needed to purchase and you may start out to get twenty bags and as many pairs of blankets, but you will perhaps go to many stores before you get the thing needed. The women volunteer their own bedding and other needs if they are on the morning shift, and pay their bus or carfare, the outlay being at least about 75 cents a day. Tissues were in such demand that the whole day thru," she said.

Mrs. MacEvenue worked first in the Perkins Bull Hospital and later in the house operated by the Knights of Columbus at 24 and 30 Grosvenor square. A pathetic case mentioned by the speaker was that of a major who had both hands taken off by a shell. The work of reconstruction is being so perfected that the muscles of the arm are being articulated to artificial hands which the maimed man will be able to use.

A daughter of Mrs. MacEvenue is married to John T. Ryan, son of the late Hugh Ryan of Toronto. It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. T. Ryan gave up their beautiful home near London as a rest home for Canadian nurses, and has been the means of recuperation for many from Canada.

The members present at the meeting took away with them which had been cut by Mrs. Wm. Walsh and which when made will be sent overseas to be used in the hut chapters of the Knights.
