In Plea For Food, Says Allies Are Not Proof Against Revolution.

TO MOVE BEYOND RHINE.
BERLIN, Thursday, Jan. 16.—
Under the terms of the prolongation of the armistice, Germany must deliver by February 17 some 58,000 agricultural machines of varlous kinds.

As a guarantee for the fulfillment of the demands the Entente also reserves the right of occupyling the sector of the fortress of Strasbourg formed by the fortifications on the right bank of the

in front of it.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 17.—The armistice between the Allies and Germany has been extended, the agreement to that effect being signed by Mathias Erzberger, the German armistice commissioner, at Treves late Wednesday, according to a Berlin dispatch receivage here.

missioner, at Treves late Wednesday, according to a Berlin dispatch received here.

The meeting between Marshal Foch and the German delegates was featured by protests by Mathias Erzberger, representing the Germany, against the status in which Germany was left during the period of the armistice. The "financial and economic dictatorship of the Entente" was the theme of his main protest.

Talks Like Hollweg.

"When will you raise the blockade?" Herr Erzberger asked. "The food conditions in Germany are daily growing worse and hunger will produce a mental state, which the Allies cannot desire. Your peoples themselves are not proof against a world revolution.

"Will the Entente," he continued. "undertake binding obligations respecting the return of the German prisoners of war? When will you be in a position to conclude a preliminary peace? Germany has asked six times for negotiations for a preliminary peace, but has received no reply."

Says Allies Are at Fault.

Herr Erzberger, who made these statements in a speech opening the proceedings, declared the Germans had tulfilled the terms of the armistice-up to the limit of possibility. In the cases in which the terms had not been complied with the Entente was re-sponsible, he insisted, especially so far as regards the delivery of transport material. Herr Erzberger complained that the freedom of movement had been in peded between the occupied territ and the rest of Germany, and he clared that the measures taken by Allies in Alsace-Lorraine proved France aimed to anticipate the cision of the peace conference by

Victory, Declares Marshal

Allied Commander - in - Chief Points Out What Must Be Done To Protect All.

Treves, Wednesday, Jan. 15.—It is the conviction of Marshal Foch that the Rhine must be made the barrier between Germany and France. He expressed this clearly today when he received American newspapermen. The marshal is here in connection with the meeting concerning the extension of the German armistice.

Marshal Foch pointed out the difficulties that had been overcome, and said that peace must be commensurate with the price of victory. Germany now was beaten, he added, but with her resources, especially in men, recuperation in a comparatively short time was quite possible. It was now the duty of the Allies to prevent further aggressions.

soon the marshal said, and the Allies got all they asked for from Germany without continuing the fighting. The Allies were prepared for another offensive stroke which would have forced the Germans to give up. This was to have been made in Lorraine on November 14, with six American and twenty French divisions.

Marshal Foch, when asked by the correspondent if the armistice was not concluded too soon, replied:

"It was not possible to do otherwise," answered the marshal, "because the soon to be asked by the correspondent if the armistice was not concluded too soon, replied:
