The hat was found near where the body was discovered, and in it were two tell-tale cuts. The importance of the following marks on the beautiful that was no better evidence of Christianity. the blood marks on the barn door cannot be underestimated, in view of the fact that the two men who were on the scene soon after the body was discovered declare that they saw the men are William Metcalf and Fred Dewberry, employed on the farm of Reeve Millen. A Dominion police officer may be called in to try and how whose finger prints they are. Mrs. Downing of Stony Creek, a sister-in-law of Thomas Finton, who is under arrest, claims that there are dead man around at 10 o'clock in the and his aged brother looked somewhat alike at a distance, the latter may have been mistaken for the brother. However, unless the brother restracts his statement of yesterday, that he was at the barn door about 10 o'clock and saw nothing of the body, some importance may be attached to the report. Doctors, however, say death oc-

The Dog Question.

At a very lively session of the properly committee to-night Chairman Birrell wanted to have the dog bylaw amended so that dogs could be allowed out between 7 and 8 a.m., and same in the evening, as he considered that the dog scare was over. Ald, Kingdon and Forth held out for the retention of the bylaw and Geo. Bellings, a ratepayer, went after them roughshed. He apused the two alder-men in such strong language that the chairman had to cut him off. Bellings organizing genius is being given to replied that the aldermen should be muzzled. Ald. An Old-Timer's Recollection.

John L. Blaikle, a co-worker with Sir George Williams, remarked sixty-six years was a long-way to look back. With such a lapse of time as that it was difficult to see events with the clearness one naturally would if the date of happening was nearer. He had spoken at the Y.M.C.A. on the occasion of Sir George Williams' death, and read a letter written by W. Creese in Tewkesbury, which gave particu-lars of the first Y.M.C.A. meeting in lars of the first Y.M.C.A. meeting in a bedroom of Geo. Hitchcock & Co., Ludgate Hill, June 6, 1844. He said the numbers of the gathering soon grew and they had to secure quarters which cost 2s. 6d. for every meeting. It was a long call to asking a city its Toronto to give $600,000 to a movemen; which had so far outgrown its found

"It was a baby then, it is a full-grown man now. May the Lord prosper it. I trust you may accomplish the work you have undertaken. May it go to the heart of the whole community." said Mr. Blaikie. E. R. Wood was greeted by a standing audience. He received round and round of applause. "I regard this movement," he said, "for securing suitable Young Men's Christian Association buildings in Toronto as one in which all classes of our citizens may reasonably be expected to

"Those who are active in the work of the churches should regard it as an opportunity to vitalize and extend dis-tinctively religious activities among boys and young men. Those who be-lieve in the cultivation and maintenanca of good health by means of physical culture and in the promotion of sports calculated to increase physical and moral stamina may depended upon to assist the organization which has such an enviable record among athletes in this city and thruout our Domition.

"The men and the women who desire to help the average youth who has to work for his living to add his store of useful knowledge and thus to fit him-self for a better position in dife will find the association in its educational work worthy of approval and great

The Massey Benefactions.

The contribution of $100,000 to the Y. M. C. A. building fund by Chester D. Massey is but the most recent of a long series of generous donations to worthy objects from the funds of the estate of the late Hart A. Massey, of which Mr. C. D. Massey is dispenser. In Toronto alone the Massey estate has been benefactor to churches and educational and public institutions to the extent of more than $1,500,000. while outside the city, and principally in Canada, there ments totaling over threequarters of a million more.

The list given below does not include the new Lillian Massey School of House-hold and Domestic Science. now in course of erection, and three students' buildings recently added to the University by Mrs. Massey Treble, nor the splendid organ of the Metropolitan Church.

The late Hart Alinerrin Massey, first president of the Massey-Harris Co., was born on a farm in Northumberland County, Ontario, in 1823. He grew to manhood well inured to manual labor and having by his own labors paid for his education At 21 he was in charge of his father's farm, and teaching school in winter.
