

School." A young man from a distant part of the Province also visited the School and spoke of the good he received while an inmate. We might mention many others who have visited us during the year, thus showing continued interest in the home of their early days.

We cordially invite all friends interested in the reclamation of the youth of our City from vice and sin so prevalent around us to pay a visit to the School, we feel convinced they will go away with a still greater interest and a desire to help the Directors in their most important work.

The Directors have much pleasure in testifying to the continued confidence they entertain in the Superintendent and his most excellent wife, both have given every satisfaction, and the general conduct of the boys has never been so good as at present, thus showing the excellence of the management.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS, INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL:

Gentlemen,—During the past, as in former years, eight hours a week have been devoted to the educational interests of the School. The conduct of the boys has been uniformly good, and the progress made in proportion to the time spent in the school-room will, in my opinion, compare favorably with that of the average department of the city schools. I have confined my attention chiefly to what is of most value to all boys, viz: Reading, Writing and Arithmetic; but I have also given oral instruction in Drawing, Geography and other subjects. The School Board has kindly furnished us with books, slates, &c., so that we are tolerably well supplied with apparatus. It affords me pleasure to testify to the invariable kindness of the Superintendent, and to the support and sympathy which he has always given me in my work.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,

W. T. KENNEDY.
