

Still Mopping Up

When the Gallant Canadians charged the enemy's lines on many a hard fought field their verve and dash carried them right through the enemy's positions and into conflict with the reserve troops behind. It then became the duty of supporting battalions to "clean up" the ground covered, bombing the dugouts in which terrified Germans had taken cover, rushing pill boxes and bringing prisoners in by the score. This was the task of the 26th New Brunswick Battalion at Courcelette and stiff work it was—But it was well and thoroughly done.

The Canadian army as a whole did far more than could reasonably be expected of it during the war—never failing to achieve its objective, never yielding ground once captured and consolidated—Our four divisions really met and defeated one-fourth of the whole German army during 1918.

Our soldiers have won the day, they have carried the charge. It remains for the people at home to "Mop Up" after the long battle which ended so gloriously one year ago tomorrow. The subscribing of the Victory Loan 1919 to the last dollar is an imperative part of this cleaning up process while the soldiers who broke the resistance of the enemy are meeting the stubborn tide which they must face in re-establishing themselves in civil life.

Hear How You Can Do Your Part By Turning Out to Grand Armistice Day Rally Imperial Theatre - Tuesday, November 11 9 p. m.

In commemoration of the capitulation of the enemy and the triumph of the Allied arms.

Lieut.-Governor Pugsley, Mayor Hayes and several speakers from outside the province will address the gathering. The Veterans' Band will be in attendance and all classes will be represented on the platform. The Imperial Theatre was the scene of many historic gatherings during the war but none was more momentous than this will be—the celebration of the first anniversary of the cessation of hostilities.

By request of the King, all activities cease at eleven o'clock on Tuesday for two minutes. Why not give these two minutes to a quiet consideration of the Blessings of Peace with Victory and to your individual duty towards your country and to the men who made victory possible, deciding to make your subscription to the Victory Loan at least twice what you had first intended.

Merchants and householders are requested to display flags and bunting tomorrow in honor of Armistice Day and as a reminder to
