Last Sunday afternoon a number of children residing in Marsh Road, and its near surroundings, were surprised while en route to Sunday School to notice a little girl in the water, struggling to reach the shore. Some of the more hazardous ones went to her aid and succeeded in rescuing her from her danger, which would have proved fatal only for the arrival of the rescuers. The little tot fell over the Marsh bridge while at play and when rescued, although nearly numb by the effects of her enforced bath, was none the worse for her experience.

Prior to enlisting Pte. Mantle was engaged with the Standard Publishing Company.

FRIGHT HANDLER'S STRIKE WAS FINISHED LAST NIGHT

Rousing Meeting of Union Men Held in West End City Hall —Majority Decided to Accept Wage of Forty-seven Cents Per Hour—Dozen Ships Will be Worked Today.

The strike of the New Brunswick Freight Handlers is over. Such was the result of a meeting of the union held last evening in the City Hall, West St. John, when 291 men gathered there, summoned by their President John Ward.

Discussion waxed warm at different times regarding the wage schedule of 47 cents per hour, as set by the C. P. R. Company. The men, at a previous meeting in the Temperance Hall, decided that they were entitled to 55 cents per hour with double pay for all extra work on Sundays, holidays, and all hours over time.

They concluded to remain firm and ask the company to concede to these demands. Meanwhile the C. P. R. is eager to alleviate the plight of the employees, and rush foodstuffs overseas, notified the men that according to the provisions of the McAdoo award they were bound by the provisions and any supplements of the same through the Canadian Railway War Board, to apply to all its employees a maximum wage schedule of 43 cents per hour. The men refusing to accede to these terms the company representatives met the committee of the union and offered to give a wage schedule of 47 cents per hour.

The men in return believed that they were entitled to the schedule of 55 cents, and held out for the same very strongly. By this time the officials of the company realised that their advancements to their employees were all that could be given the men, and upon their refusal to accept the same, it was rumored that serious action on the part of the company was to be undertaken, even to the removal of the several liners in port, awaiting discharge and others with cargo, to other Atlantic ports.

Seemingly, to the casual observer, the strike was now advancing to its climactic stages, and near action on the part of the company or the employees was hourly anticipated. The stage warranting action at once, the employees gathered together, but the Temperance Hall, West St. John, was inadequate to hold the meeting in, and through the courtesy of Commissioner McLellan, the City Hall in West St. John was placed at their disposal. Accordingly the men met there, and the outcome of the meeting resulted in a settlement.

Discussion arose at once on the proposed action of the Freight Handlers. Arguments went pro and con, and finally the discussion was concisely ended by the vote of the meeting "whether they accept the schedule of 47 cents as offered by the company, or not accept."

The vote of the house of 291 men, went as follows: 185 to accept the schedule of the company; 106 not to accept the schedule. The majority ruled the session, and the officers of the union communicated with the company officials, the action of the meeting. The company agrees to pay the men 47 cents per hour and double pay on Sundays and holidays. (What the most recent double time, should they work during dinner hour, is also understood.)

The men then stated to the officials of the company that they were willing to commence work immediately, should they receive pay dating from 6 o'clock last evening, the company's offer to allow the men to go to work at 11 o'clock last night and giving them wages dating from ten o'clock was turned down at the meeting, and the night gangs refused to work.

The meeting was then adjourned, not, however, before passing a vote of thanks to His Worship Mayor H. T. Hayes for his efforts to bring about an amicable ending of negotiations between the company and the employees. A second vote of thanks was also passed to the Mayor, and to the company, for his courtesy in procuring the hall in which the meeting was held last evening.

Certain provisions govern the men and the future, which are as follows: "The provisions as laid down are to be in effect until the fifteenth day of May, 1918, and thereafter, should either party be satisfied, if not a notice of thirty days time to either party so that the grievance complained of may be effectively righted, without any inconvenience to any party concerned."

Thus is ended a strike which indeed promised a serious aspect at one time, and it must be added that the men affected, and who were on strike, concluded themselves in a law-abiding manner; to the company, that they were willing to listen to their employees and offered them all that was in their power.

Officers of the Loyalist City will be glad to learn of the ending of the strike, as it approximately affected many of our good citizens, especially those engaged in the lines of imports, and many others. One could grasp the seriousness of the strike when he noticed that eleven ships lying at the docks were idle, two anchored in the harbor, were weakening berths also, and none of the number were sure of the time in which they might put to sea or if they would be compelled to return to their respective ports of departure without being unloaded, or so to some other port.

The rising sun of today marks the scene of activities in the Winter Port, when numerous cars will be unloaded, which have awaited many days, when the liners at the docks will be unloaded quickly and new goods placed therein, and finally when those ships anchored in the harbor will berth at the vacated docks to be unloaded.

AMERICAN PUBLIC HEALTH ASSN.

Meeting Will be Held in Chicago Next Month — Epidemic Will be Principal Matter Discussed.

Hon. Dr. Roberts, Minister of Health, has received a letter from the president of the American Public Health Association, calling attention to the postponed meeting of the Association, which is to be held in Chicago, December 9 to 12.

This convention was to have been held in October, but was postponed because of the epidemic, and in his letter the president states that the principle thing to be discussed at the conference will be the epidemic. The subject will be dealt with under four heads: Administrative measures for prevention; administrative measures for relief; while the epidemic is raging; the use of vaccines and serum; and the study of statistics relating to the epidemic. The best known specialists on the continent have been obtained to talk on these subjects.

The letter further points out that the experience of the epidemic of 1918, 1919 and 1920 can be taken as a criterion, there will probably be a recurrence of the epidemic next year and the year after, and in view of this no municipality should be without representation at the conference, where the best methods of combating the disease would be discussed.

The minister stated that he expected the provincial department would be represented at the conference.

WOULD BE ROBBER MADE HIS ESCAPE

Young Lad Caught Trying to Force Entrance to German Street Grocery — Crowd Gathered and Boy Escaped.

An attempted robbery and the escape of the young lad involved caused quite a crowd to gather on Charlotte street last night for a few minutes but the excitement was soon over. The lad in question had attempted to open the door of a grocery store on German street and while tumbling with the lock was heard by a clerk who was in the office. He came out to investigate, and the lad "beat it." The young man followed him to Charlotte street and in front of the market building came across an officer to whom he started to tell the story. While he was relating what had taken place a crowd gathered around and the boy seeing a chance dodged under the arm of the officer and ran for all he was worth, making good his escape.

OPERATION THE RESULT OF BLOW

Miss Stella Hughes Was Struck on Collar Bone While on Visit to P. E. I. — Now in Hospital for Treatment.

Miss Stella Hughes, of the city, at the present time lies a patient in the General Public Hospital, and will undergo an operation this morning for a diseased collar bone, the same being caused by a blow.

This popular young lady was on a visit to Prince Edward Island a short time ago, and while there was at a gathering one evening, when a roughneck, under the influence of liquor, entered the company of the company, a somewhat unwelcome guest. A gentleman rushed him out very quickly, but the unwelcome one returning to the scene, became engrossed in an argument, with the gentleman who previously had forced him into the street.

In the melee which ensued, the ruffian hit Miss Hughes on the collar bone. Being told of the fact, he denied the same and departed quickly. Consulting an island physician the young lady was informed that she would be all right in the near future. After her return to St. John, she was bothered with acute pains in the region of the collar bone, and consulting a local physician, he informed her that the only remedy would be to have the injured bone removed, if she wished to enjoy any degree of comfort, as the affected bone was injured—a result of a hard blow—to which it is believed is in reality the outcome of the injury received while in Prince Edward Island.

She entered the hospital a few days ago, and will undergo the operation this morning.

LETTER OF INTEREST FROM MR. ATHERTON

Former Standard Man Tells of Meeting Fellow Employees as Well as Other St. John Men in France.

A few days ago Mr. and Mrs. William Atherton of 116 Moore street received a letter from their son, Gunner William Atherton, of a Siege Battery in France. Previous to enlisting for overseas Gunner Atherton was mailing clerk for The Standard. The letter was dated October 25th, in France and in part is as follows:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am still in the best of health. At the time of writing were in one of the towns recently captured by us, and there are a lot of civilians still in the place. The Hun left the houses intact, but he blew up the cross roads and cost mines round about. The Hun also destroyed the machinery in the factories. Of course we are not in action just at present, and may be here for several days so I am taking advantage of the chance to lie between white sheets.

Two of us fellows have hired a room for the time we will be here. We get for a trifling sum the military provide at a time like this are only bars, etc., so when a fellow can get a decent bed he might as well take advantage of it.

The people are so glad that they are freed that they cannot do enough for the fellows, they call us in off the lines to give us coffee.

I had a letter from cousin Ben a few days ago and they are all well at the time of writing.

In another letter written in France, on November, the 1st to his parents Gunner Atherton says:

Today was a day of surprises, this morning I went a few miles behind the lines to visit the hospitals. The first surprise came to me as I was walking down the street towards the dentist. A battalion of infantry were returning from a route march and who should I see but Mr. Thomas Fyle, so as all the rations I had with me was bully beef and biscuits, I went and had lunch with him, and I also saw Louis Nye, who is in the same band. Mr. Fyle wishes to be remembered to you. I had been fixed up at the dentist I was waiting for the torrie when who should I see but Tom Manile, who used to be on the elevator in The Standard office and he told me that Willard McFoster was with them in the 28th, so I went and had a chat with him in his room, so you see altogether here I had quite a day.

Well I will close for this time, With love from

WILLIE.
