Mr. Wood was cutting lumber in the woods when the accident occurred, and was being assisted by a lad named John Ridge, who gives the details of the accident. Mr. Wood was cutting down a large tree, and as the tree fell ran to get out of its way. In falling the tree struck a stub of dead tree, which broke off and fell in the direction which the unfortunate man had taken. He looked up when he heard the grash, and as he looked the immense stub struck him on the forehead, killing him instantly.

Ridge notfiled the people of the village, and the body was brought to Maccan. No inquest was considered necessary. He was thirty-two years of age and had resided for some time in the United States, returning home recently. He leaves a widow (to whom he was married last autumn, just before returning from the States), but no children. > Sydney, March 20.-(Special)-There is: an incipient strike at Dominion No. 2, the mammoth colliery of the Dominion Coal Co., at Glace Bay, which at present is affecting only a few men, but it looks as if it would assume more formidable proporment requiring firemen to remove ashe previously done by helpers. The firemen, sixteen in number, refused to do this and sixteen in number, refused to do this and quit work Friday, and their places were at once filled with Italian labor.

The striking men carried their grievance to P. W. A. lodge to which they belonged and a committee was appointed to interview Manager McEachren and endeavor to effect a settlement.

Although two interviews have been held no understanding could be reached and to no anderstanding could be reached and tonight it would look, to quote Manager Me-Eachren, that a settlement was as far off as ever. He does not anticipate any senious trouble out the P. W. A. men are ance to a finish. Manager McEachren further states that the company will not retreat from the position they have taken and should the P. W. A. lodge take a decisive stand a general strike would in all probability follow. He, however, feels morally certain

Young Lady of St. John Among the Number in Burning Hospital at Melrose (Mass.)

The Boston Traveler publishes a starring story of the fire recently in Melrose (Mass.) hospital and the brave work of the nurses in rescuing the patients. This has pecial interest here for one of the young adies training for a nume in this hospital with the others was summoned to aid in preparing the patients for removal from the burning building.

All the patients were bed-ridden but all were carried down the fire escapes and taken to the nurses' home. The Traveler Last Thursday evening Mrs. Jones, Union street, entertained about sixty friends at progressive whist. The prizes were won by Mrs. Locke and Mr. C. The interior of the hospital was quite bad-ly damaged. the patients had recently undergone sargi-cal operations and all had to be assisted.

Sackville, N. B., March 18—(Special)—
The debate between Mount Allison and U. N. B. took place in Music Hall this evening. The attendance was very large and the greatest interest was manifested in the proceedings throughout. Charles D.
Richards, Wm. G. Pugsley and J. McCarthy, of U. N. B., argued in favor of government ownership of railways, while
A. S. Tuttle, E. S. McQuaid and W. P.
Bell, of Mt. Allison, upheld the negative.
Hon. W. T. Pipes, of Amherst, who acted as judge, decided in favor of Mt.
Allison. In the presentation he said the sides were about equal, with one Mt.
Allison man superior.

Allison man superior.

The Mt. Allison boys celebrated the victory in true college style: Tomorrow representatives from the U. N. B. and Acadia confer with Mt. Allison in order to draw up rules to govern inter-collegiate athletics.

I. C. R. Season Tickets.

Although the snow is with us yet, the suburbanites are beginning to talk about the coming season in the country, and to hope that the I. C. R. authorities will make a change in regard to season tick-

At present a season ticket at a reduced At present a season ticket at a reduced rate may be got for three or six months. For many suburbanite, three is too short and six is too long. If a man gets a ticket for three months, and would like to stay another month out of town, he must pay for that one month's ticket half as much as he did for three months. For example, if he paid $24 for a three months ticket, an extra month's ticket would be $12. Now if a three months ticket can be got at $8 per month, why not one more month at $8? month at $8?

The railway wants business, and would get more of it, if this little change, which can hardly be called a concession, were
