WASH suits are a very popular part of the summer wardrobe. In fact, some people consider it about as difficult to manage without such a suit as to get along without a winter coat. Those of us who live on the farm will find such a suit very useful, as there are few evenings in the summer months when we do not need a wrap of some kind. A wash suit always looks cool and summery. There is one point about wash suits which we should not overlook. That is, they should be chosen with particular care. To invest in a suit that attracts broad recognition the very first time it is worn is quite a calamity. For this reason we must be especially careful to choose material that is going to retain its appearance. The most appropriate materials for summer suitings this year seem to be shantung, cotton chambray and honeycomb weave. The styles are attractive, including the newest ideas in lovely trimmings, detachable belts, novel pocket effects and many buttons. One of the newest touches in neckwear is the satin neck consisting of collar and cuffs. These are equally effective worn with a dress or a separate blouse. They come in many styles and are belted, button-trimmed or embroidered.

2485—Dress for Misses and Small Women.—Is this not a cool and comfortable looking costume for the hot weather? It is very simple and as noted, the belt crosses in front and hangs on either side with a button and buttonhole. Sleeves may be either long or short. Three sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years.

2486—Girls Dress.—One style feature worthy of note in connection with this little frock is the loose waist going around from the sides and tying in the back. This relieves the plain appearance of the back. The yoke, both back and front, should also prove practical in making the dress wear longer. Five sizes: 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 years.

2487—A Smart Sport Suit.—This attractive combination should prove a favorite with many of our house dress makers. If desired sleeves may be made as a thin under blouse of the same material as the skirt, or one may wear white blouses with the outfit equally well. Sleeveless coats are very popular and this design is very neat in appearance. Two patterns are required for this design, 10 cents for each. The coat is cut in sizes 34 to 46 inches and the skirt from 38 to 34 inches waist measure.

2488—Lady's Dress.—Poplins still hold a prominent place and are very becoming to many figures. A dress of pretty flowered material would make up very nicely from this design. Note the attractive sleeve, also the unique style of belt. Contrasting material for the belt and collar will add a nice trimming. Sleeves may be made short and flaring if desired. Six sizes: 34 to 44 inches bust measure.

2489—Lady's Apron.—This apron would almost fill the bill as a house working dress on hot days, as the sleeves come down well over the shoulders and the apron is fitted in front. Four sizes: small, medium, large and extra large.

2490—Lady's Working Costume.—How does this "service" uniform appeal to our readers? Is it not neat and business-like? It has the new style of collar and also the wide belt which goes into slanting pockets at each side. The pockets, too, are unique. Seven sizes: 34 to 46 inches waist measure.

2491—Girl's Dress.—This little dress looks very suitable for a dress-up occasion and would make up nicely from some of the dainty white materials trimmed with fine lace and tucks. Four sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years.

2492—Girl's Dress.—Another dainty dress for the young girl is here shown. The fabric effect is quite pleasing with a trimming of lace and insertion, also a loosely tied sash. Four sizes: small, medium, large and extra large.

2493—Lady's Nightdress.—If looking for a pretty nightgown pattern, what could be more pleasing than the one herewith. It is cut in a very effective manner, hanging full from the waist in both back and front. Dainty lace and insertion will add decidedly to its attractiveness. Four sizes: small, medium, large and extra large.
