THE high quality of our telephones and construction materials, combined with prompt shipments, are responsible for our great success. This year we have held all our old customers in the face of strong competition, and also made many new ones.

Last month, for example, two more independent municipal systems got ready to build. They placed their entire order for equipment with us after investigating thoroughly.

We have the facilities for handling the telephone business for either local or municipal systems in a more satisfactory way than any other organization in the telephone line. That is a strong statement to make, but we are proving it true every day.

If our telephones are not in use on your lines, write for our Free Trial Offer.
