

C. M. B. A. We would call the attention of our C. M. B. A. Branches and members to the fact that we have a very large stock of gold fringe, according to price, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, and $2.50 per yard, by the dozen, and also a large stock of medals, and as a demonstration of our kind and it is open to a body of citizens, and we are making a specialty of association supplies, such as...

C. M. B. A. In the letter of our Supervising Examiner, which appeared in last issue, the words "provision of" which occur near the end, should read "Province of."

Resolutions of Condolence. Hamilton, Ont., March 5th, 1890. At the last regular meeting of Branch 65, Hamilton, the following resolutions of condolence were adopted and forwarded to Mr. W. A. D. Baby of the exiles department of this city: Whereas it is the duty of every Catholic in his infinite wisdom to remove by death the beloved daughter of our dear and beloved Brother, W. A. D. Baby, and though we humbly believe that his Christian submission to the divine will, and his noble and unselfish efforts to provide shelter for the victims were roughly sealed, the police marching to the farm where but were in course of erection, and arresting the workmen, in gross violation of law. Another lawless outrage of the police was their breaking into tenants' houses and arresting seventeen workmen. Could the police...

Successful Entertainment. Branch 89, Perth, gave a grand ball and supper in the town hall on Friday evening, 7th inst., which was a most successful affair. Bro. H. J. Conway and E. T. Conway sang at C. M. B. A. concert in Merrickville on the 10th ult., assisted by Bro. J. J. Conway, Miss Rose Braniff, of Brockville, Bros. Ross and Penford, of Montreal, and others. Bro. John Doyle and his family were present. The concert was a grand success, and the performers well sustained the high reputation they have successfully established for themselves. Kind regards to Bros. McCarty, Gill and McCabe, of Merrickville Branch.

Address and Presentation. On Tuesday evening last, Feb. 11th, 1890, Branch 16 a very pleasant event took place in the presence of the Rev. Father McAuley of a handsome chain and pocket watch, an address from the members of the Branch, on the occasion of the Rev. Father's departure from the diocese, and the Rev. Father's address to the Branch, in which he expressed his appreciation of the high regard and esteem in which you are held by him. Your upright and honorable career as a man and citizen has secured for you in this town and vicinity universal respect and friendship. The members of this Branch feel especially bound to you by long association, and by our knowledge of your devotion to the interests of our society. The members of this Branch have heard with very great pleasure and satisfaction of your appointment to an important position under the Ontario Government, and while they sincerely regret the necessity of your departure from their midst, they rejoice at this recognition of your merits, and wish you and your wife and family every prosperity and happiness in the future.

The Sisters of the Presentation of St. Casimir, after their usual thanksgiving for the charitable persons who have kindly taken part in this work of piety, and in return acknowledged St. Joseph to bless and protect them.

HOME RULE.

THE BATTLE FOR A PARLIAMENT IN COLLEGE GREEN.

MORLEY'S AMENDMENT. In the House of Commons, Monday, Mr. Morley gave notice that he would move, as an amendment to Mr. W. H. Smith's motion, that the House adopt the Parnell report, that the House rebukes the charges of the gravest and most obvious falsehood, based upon calumny, that have been made against members of the House, and while expressing its satisfaction at the exposure made of the evil doers, regret the wrong inflicted and the suffering and loss endured through those acts of flagrant iniquity.

Mr. Charles Edward Lewis, member for Antrim, gave notice that he would move that the House deplore that Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien and seven other members have, by an official commission, been declared parties to a treasonable conspiracy; that Mr. Parnell and many others have been declared parties to a criminal conspiracy; and that the House finds the conduct of such members deserving of severe condemnation.

Mr. Sexton moved to adjourn. His purpose was to call the attention of the House to the illegal violence used by the Irish executive during the Clongorey evictions. In the dead of night a body of emergency men, aided by a body of armed police, burned the houses over the heads of the tenants to be evicted, making many families homeless, while charitable neighbors who endeavored to provide shelter for the victims were roughly sealed, the police marching to the farm where but were in course of erection, and arresting the workmen, in gross violation of law.

Mr. Balfour denied that the police had destroyed the property of tenants. Mr. Sexton, he said, appeared to think that evicted persons should be allowed to violate the law with impunity. Poverty might excuse much but it could not excuse organized and wholesale lawlessness. The men evicted at Clongorey were, however, rich enough to subscribe to the plan of campaign. They were rich enough to offer the land agent certain payment on condition that they were not to be evicted; yet, if it was once admitted that the law might be defied whenever resistance was backed by a powerful conspiracy, a most injurious blow would be struck at the order and prosperity of Ireland.

Mr. Charles Russell maintained that the Government procedure in Ireland constituted a system that could not long stand beside that of a country governed according to constitutional principles. The proceedings at Clongorey presented an instance where the police measures were purely arbitrary, without either legal sanction or moral justification. The despotism of Mr. Balfour directly endangered the peace of the country. The House should remember the case of Clongorey as another instance of how Mr. Balfour always stands by the police in enforcing the law, however brutal their conduct, or however great the interference with the rights and the liberty of individuals. The House voted against the motion to adjourn by 196 to 154.

MR. COBB (RADICAL) gave notice in the House of Commons Tuesday that, in the event of Mr. Smith's motion asking the House to adopt the report of the Parnell Commission, with Mr. Lewis' amendment censuring the Parnellites, being carried, he would move a resolution deploring that the House deplores that it appears from the dates in the report of the Parnell Commission, and the evidence submitted to the commission, that at the time the Parnellites were engaged in the alleged treasonable conspiracies many members of the government, especially Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour, were in close alliance and treaty with those members (O'Donoghue and others) and that therefore Lord Salisbury and the other members of the government deserve the severest condemnation.

MR. CAMPBELL WINS. Mr. Henry Campbell, member of the House of Commons for South Fermanagh and private secretary to Mr. Parnell, was charged, in a speech delivered at an Orange meeting, with having provided the knives with which Lord Frederick Cavendish and Under-Secretary Burke were murdered in Phoenix Park. The speech was published in the Belfast News-Letter. Mr. Campbell brought an action for libel against the paper, which was tried at Dublin, last week. The paper was found guilty of publishing a libel, and damages to the amount of £200 were awarded the plaintiff. Mr. A. M. Porter, master of the rolls in Ireland, whose speech was the cause of Mr. Henry Campbell's libel suit against the Belfast News-Letter, has apologized to Mr. Campbell and paid him £500. He also pays the cost of the case.

MORLEY'S SPEECH. The speech delivered by Mr. John Morley in the House of Commons in support of Mr. Parnell's amendment to the address, created a veritable sensation, and intensely delighted his friends, who see in him the legitimate successor to Mr. Gladstone, in the leadership of the home rule Liberals. Mr. Gladstone, nobody denies, but, in spite of this recognition of his ability, there are others among the followers of the ex-premier who expect the mantle of the leadership to fall upon them, and will fight hard against his descent upon other shoulders.

NO BARGAIN MADE.

There is a good deal of agitation in parliamentary circles over the allegation made by Mr. Chamberlain, in a letter to the Times, that the Gladstone party had made a bargain with the Parnell party to the prejudice of the uncommitted educationalists, agreeing to abandon opposition to Catholic schools for the Lish support on other things. Mr. Morley has been interviewed on the subject, and he denies that there is any such compact. He declares that he has never spoken on the subject to any member of the Parnell party.

THE PRINCE GROWS SOCIABLE. The persistent attendance of the Prince of Wales in Parliament is exciting astonishment and comment. People ask: "Is this another Prince Hal reform?" Ever since the session began his royal highness has never missed a night. When tired of the Lords he strolls into the Commons, chats the speaker in the first and the second, and drinks at the peers' buffet. He even nods to the Irish members and is a hail-fellow well met with anybody.

A LIBERAL RETURNED. The election to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons for Glamorganshire, caused by the death of Mr. Talbot, took place Wednesday, and resulted in the return of Mr. Evans, Liberal, who was unopposed. Mr. Talbot was a Liberal, but he refrained from voting on Mr. Gladstone's home rule bill. He, too, was returned without opposition at the last preceding election.

WILLIAM BRIGHT REIGNS. Mr. William Leatham Bright, member for Stoke-upon-Trent, has resigned his seat in the House of Commons, owing to ill health. He is the second of the late John Bright, and sat as a Gladstonian Liberal.

A MONTH IN JAIL. Mr. McInerney, the editor of the Limerick Leader, has been sentenced to imprisonment for one month for publishing a report received by cable of a league meeting. The new law purchase bill will not be limited to $100,000,000. It will provide for combining the landed estates court and the land commission into a single great tribunal for the settlement of all land disputes, and will simplify and cheapen the transfer of land.

The London Times showed great bitterness and spleen in its obituary notice of Joseph Biggar, concluding with the statement: "The funeral will not be a public one." The Standard says that the Liberal Unionists will support W. H. Smith's motion in regard to the Parnell commission. One hundred and twenty tenants on the Pousony estates, in Ireland, have been summoned to surrender possession of their holdings. The American contributions to the National League, received during the last fortnight, sum up $50,000.

DIocese OF PETERBOROUGH.

Two weeks ago it was the pleasing duty of the undersigned to inform the numerous members of your invaluable journal that Missions were being held by the Redemptorist Fathers in different portions of the diocese of Peterborough. At that time the Missions had been conducted in the cathedral parish, in Lindsay and in Douro. It is now the pleasing duty of the undersigned to chronicle the fact that since then Missions have also been held in Ennismore and Emily. The first of these was in the former parish on Sunday, February 9th, and was brought to a close on the following Sunday. In the latter parish the mission began on Sunday, February 16th, and terminated Sunday, 23rd. In Ennismore 670 persons received Holy Communion and 46 adults received the sacrament of confirmation.

In Emily 598 persons received Holy Communion and 41 adults received the sacrament of confirmation. This finishes for the present the work of the Redemptorist Fathers in the diocese of Peterborough, and our beloved Bishop must be happy indeed to day when he contemplates the gigantic result: 6070 persons received Holy Communion in the several parishes visited by the Fathers and 345 adults received the sacrament of confirmation. In order to realize more fully the significance of these figures the reader will do well to remember that in that great multitude were many who for the first time enjoyed the unexpressible happiness of kneeling before the altar of God, because it was only during the Mission that the grace of conversion to the true faith had been vouchsafed them. Nor must the reader overlook the fact that very many were there who for years had patiently hardened their hearts and spurned the loving invitations of holy Mother Church. Finally, and this is of great importance, the kind reader must bear in mind that nobody received the sacrament of confirmation who had not already reached the age of fifteen years at least. Thus starting from fifteen, the candidates for confirmation represented all the different ages in man and woman's life, as far as even beyond the seventies. Necessarily what is written here can only give a very faint idea of the vast amount of good accomplished by the Missions. Most of it must not be scanned by human eye—it is on file, and must remain in Heaven's chancery, known only to God and His angels. It is "honorable to reveal and confess the works of God," but "it is good to hide the secret of a King" who is the King of kings.

Reverently we refer all the honor and glory of the good accomplished to the blessed name of God and His immaculate Mother. Truthfully we exclaim: "This is the change of the right hand of the Most High." (Ps. lxxvii, 11.) But while doing so let us say a word about the Redemptorist Fathers, those genuine servants of God. Nobly and thoroughly they did their duty. They are giants in work and in word. To paraphrase the words of Chaucer: "This noble example to the flock they gave—that first they wrought and afterwards they taught." They are pre-eminently men of self-sacrifice. Early in the morning, late at night, they were always at their post, instinctively at the sight of each one of good old man! how well in these appears the constant service of the antique world, where serfdom swart duty, not for meed!" They are enthusiastically eloquent, because they are God and country. They are always and everywhere in their thoughts, words and actions along the song of the angels: Glory to God on high and peace on earth to men of good will. May they never forget the Missions preached by the Redemptorist Fathers. May they never forget the words of counsel addressed them by our beloved Bishop. Finally, may they continually keep before their eyes the legend inscribed on the banner under whose blessed folds they are to march the remainder of their lives: "Whatever things are true, whatsoever modest, whatsoever just, whatsoever good, whatsoever lovely, whatsoever of good fame, if there be any virtue, if any praise of discipline, think on these things." (Philippians iv, 8.)

In conclusion, mention should be made of the fact that in the several parishes where the Missions were held the pastors were indefatigable in their exertions to promote the object in view: the glory of God and the salvation of souls. Vicar General Laurent, Chancellor Radkins, Fathers Dan. O'Connell, Kelly and Conolly did not spare themselves. May God, when the time comes, be their reward exceeding great. OSBERY.

"Each Palm Leaf or Head is from 3 to 5 feet long, and opens like a fan, with a spread that forms an almost perfect circle. The beautifully-meshed veins of gold and green, ending in the lightly waving plumes, give them the appearance of rays of sunlight, and resemble the wings of a butterfly in form, they make adornments for the Altar or for the Catholic Home that at once attract the eye by their simple beauty."
