DR. ROBINSON IS SOUGHT BY AUTHORITIES

Officials Think He Has Knowledge of Miss Yorke.

Tamworth, July 20.—Developments in the mystery of Miss Yorke today tended to a belief that Dr. Robinson knows something about her disappearance.

Chief of Police Vankoughnet and Miss Yorke's two brothers, Sam and Edgar Yorke, were in Kingston today, and had a special plainclothes detective from Kingston assisting them in searching the city for Dr. Robinson. After an all-day search they report he could not be found, nor could his wife. He had told parties here he would be back last Thursday but he did not turn up Thursday night, nor has he since.

Chief Vankoughnet telephoned from Kingston to Tamworth today to Chief Constable Wood to go on guard at Dr. Robinson's residence here tonight, and remain till further notice. There have been several patients of Robinson's anxiously looking for him every day, and another doctor has to take them over.

SEARCHING AT THE BORDER

Kingston, July 20.—Search for Miss Blanche Yorke is being made across the border. Her brother and a constable went to Cape Vincent today to see if the customs officers at that port noticed any one of her description entering on July 9.

The belief now prevails that she may have crossed the border, but nothing yet is known of her whereabouts. It is the general impression that she was taken away in an automobile and that some people in Tamworth know about it.

Tamworth, July 20.—Searchers for Miss Yorke do not attach any importance to the reported absence of Dr. Robinson who left this place last Thursday, and has not returned. The doctor is said to be away on private business.

Miss Yorke's state of health was discussed at her home the day following her disappearance, it is said, and she became despondent.

Additional troubles have come upon the Yorke family through Ruth Yorke, a cousin of Blanche Yorke, taking horse liniment in mistake for a stimulant on Saturday, and he now is in a critical condition. He was worn out by the search for the girl and endeavored to secure something to tide him over his fatigue. In the next room, but in ignorance of his condition, is his grandmother of 90, who has been confined to her bed for five years with a dislocated hip.

BOB'S OPPORTUNITY

Will the Honorable Bob Rogers kindly take the platform and tell us in his characteristic style what he thinks of the manner in which the Roblin Government naturalizes aliens and plugs voters' lists in Manitoba.

He falsely accused the Scott Government of disfranchising British subjects. He charged that British rule no longer obtained in Saskatchewan. True, he made these statements behind the closed doors of a party gathering and was too cowardly to come forward with respect to them before an investigating committee of the Legislature when challenged to do so.

Now one of the paid officials of the Roblin government has admitted—both in a secret convalesce—but upon oath in an open court of law—that under direction he signed bogus naturalization papers under order from a superior official of the government, and a Government official paid the necessary court fees to register the bogus naturalizations, and how they were then distributed to one or more of the notorious "slubbers" of Winnipeg which thrive with open approval of the Roblin Government.

The charges invented by Rogers against the Scott Government read like a Sunday School lesson in the comparison with these sworn statements of the iniquities of the machine maintained by and under the command of Bob Rogers.

But Bob will not rest about the sacredness of British citizenship in Manitoba and how it is being corrupted by the Roblin Government. Not he. No, he will likely thunder against the Liberals for daring to charge, and then to prove the charge to the hilt, that anything could possibly be done by the Roblin-Rogers machine that was not perfectly right and proper. He may even be expected to denounce the judge who presided at the Court of Revision and to threaten to have him removed from the bench for daring to accept the word of any man, even upon oath, who utters so much as a syllable against the great twin institution, the Roblin Government, and the Rogers liquor-manned machine—Regina Leader.

MARKET REPORTS

The market this morning was very large and prices remained almost unchanged except in a few lines.

New potatoes brought from forty to fifty cents per peck. The supply was fairly large.

Wagon loads of huckleberries were surrounded this morning and the produce disappeared into some of the baskets at the rate of sixteen cents per quart.

Butter soared up to thirty cents per pound in some places.

Berries and currants were very plentiful. Raspberries, red, sold at twenty cents per box; blue raspberries 12-1-2 per box; white currants three boxes for twenty-five cents; red currants ten cents per box.

Eggs sold at twenty-two cents per dozen.

Pears sell at fifteen cents per quart; beans at five cents per quart.

All vegetables bring five cents per bunch.

Fries of hides and hogs remain unchanged, live hogs, $8 to $8.25; dressed hogs, $10.50 to $11.

A FORCIBLE MARRIAGE

Young Couple From Near Kingston Were Married at Watertown.

A despatch from Watertown states that a young couple residing near this city in the country had an experience one day last week that they will never forget.

The young fellow and girl went over on the Cape boat, leaving here on Thursday morning last. They passed the immigration inspector straight, telling him that they were going to Sackett's Harbor. It was found that they had not gone to that place but had bought a ticket to Watertown. Malicious tongues found them registered in a Watertown hotel.

A warrant was sworn out for their arrest and they appeared in police court for a violation of the Mann Act. The judge thought the best way out of the difficulty was for the young couple to get married so a clergyman was called in and the ceremony took place in the court room.

The newly weds were then deposited and seen on the Cape boat by a couple of officials. This is said to be the second case of its kind from this vicinity in the last few months.—Kingston Standard.

Notable Picture Exhibited by G.T.R.

There has just been placed on public exhibition in the National City ticket office of the Grand Trunk Railway a picture which has already won the admiration of Canadian artists and connoisseurs. This is Mr. G. Horne Russell's painting of Mount Dufferin, in the Canadian Rockies.

What may be called the new mode in realistic impressionism in pictorial illustration has no better example than this work of Mr. Russell. He has achieved a masterpiece in color, and his impressionistic color that has seldom been surpassed. The artist has aimed to give the subtle effects of the play of light on surfaces and the poetry of distance walls, his tone and atmosphere are admirable. In his presentation of the Evening Hour at Mount Dufferin, Jasper Park, the peak itself appears flanked on both sides by rocky precipices and at its base lies Lake Maligne, opalescent with greens, mauves and purples, seemingly asleep, but watchful of the sublimity of Mount Dufferin, as it lifts its immaculate and majestic head above the sky. The picture expresses the appeal of one of the genuinely picturesque regions of the new wonderland of Canada, now opened up by the most modern of transcontinental railways, the Grand Trunk Pacific, which is already attracting tourists and lovers of the beautiful from all parts of the world.

Be t Money He Has Ever Spent

Was What C. Hansen Paid for Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Had been Ailing for Six or Seven Years when He Took a Neighbor's Advice and Found a Complete Cure.

Mons. J. Hansen, July 20.—(Special)—Mr. Cornelius Hansen, well known and highly respected here, in telling his friends of his simple but complete cure from a protracted illness, the facts in brief are: He had Kidney Disease, he took Dodd's Kidney Pills; they cured him. But let Mr. Hansen tell his own story.

"I was troubled with my kidneys for six or seven years," he says. "My back was so sore I couldn't get out of bed in the mornings. It ried medicines, but they did me no good. Then I met a neighbor, and he advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. He said he had used them in his family for a long time and they were a great medicine."

"I bought six boxes of them and by the time I had taken three of them I was feeling much better. Now I am quite well, and I think I am money I ever spent in my life was what I paid for Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They simply cure the kidneys, and they do all that is claimed for them."

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is agreeable to the taste, and is a certain relief for irritation of the throat that causes hacking coughs, and according to directions it will break the most persistent cold, and restore the air passages to their normal healthy condition. There is no need to recommend it to those familiar with it, but to those who seek relief from a cough, what they need to use, the advice is to try Bickle's Syrup.

Old Boys From Toronto Here.

A large crowd of visitors came down from the Queen City, the place of their adoption, to the old home town, Belleville, by Canadian Northern special. The train left the Union Station and reached here about noon. Arrangements have been made for a baseball match this afternoon at the driving park here, between the Toronto Post Office and Belleville Ontarios.

Mayor Wells on behalf of the city and Col. Ponton representing the O. B. Association met the visitors at the depot.

Rev. A.M. Hubly, left this afternoon for Lynn, Mass., where he had been called owing to the death of his brother.

A Thousand Men Ready to Go Aboard Komagata Maru.

Calumnies Wrecked Her Happiness, Says Mme. C. Illaux.

RAINBOW AT VANCOUVER SAYS SHE LOST HER HEAD

Big Party of Soldiers, Sailors and Police Will Be Used to Subdue Hindus If Peaceable Means Fail—They Demand That Provisions and Water Be Placed on Board Ship at Once.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 21.—Upwards of a thousand men, comprising the sixth regiment, Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles, and the newly formed Irish Fusiliers, were called out last night by special order of the Col. Dunn-Stewart and Col. George C. McSpadden. More than a thousand men should be on the Rainbow when the cruiser goes out today to take possession of the Komagata Maru. Unless the Hindus suffer a violent change of mind, they will show a stubborn resistance and a bloody fight may result.

Japanese Consul Hori received cabled instructions from his government yesterday morning to see that the Japanese crew of the Komagata Maru was not mixed up in any battle. To this end the whole Japanese crew was last evening taken off the ship, and will remain off until such time as the Rainbow bisects the Pacific. The matter under control, Gardner Johnson, agent for the owners, and Sir Charles H. Tupper, counsel for the owners, had a mid-day conference, and the lawyer had addressed another letter to the Hindu committee of the Komagata Maru, pointing out that the ship has all the water she needs, and assuring them that plenty of provisions will be put on board for the trip across the Pacific. The letter goes on to state that the fact that the Hindus will have to return, and that, therefore, they might as well go peacefully.

The Hindus are not preparing for peace, however; they are preparing for war. To-day, the forward and aft well decks on the vessel are short of wooden barricades, backed up with coal, and it looks as if they are prepared to make a vigorous defence.

With a message from the Governor-General, H. H. Stevens, M.P., and Immigration Inspector Hopkinson, with a party, went out to the ship at one o'clock yesterday afternoon. The wire was from the Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles on board the steamer.

No one appears to know just what was contained in the message to the passengers on the Komagata Maru in reply to their message of a day or two ago, but it is quite definite that it was nothing definitely satisfactory to the passengers. The probability suggests is that the Governor-General simply said that the question was being taken up by the Departments concerned. This at all events would seem to be the reply which might be expected.

Mr. Hopkinson had quite an interesting conversation with Gedit Singh yesterday. Gedit Singh is Gurdit's secretary and no doubt officially represented the passengers on the boat at the conference with the Immigration Inspector. Hopkinson talked with him, apparently having no fear the Hindus, although made the object of such a deadly attack during the night affair.

Gedit stood beside him and Mr. Stevens on the Immigration launch, gave advice to Mr. Hopkinson, when the latter reported on the terms desired by the Hindus. Gedit opened fire with the proposition just as the message was received from Mr. Hopkinson. He said that the passengers were willing to leave if the provisions were put aboard at once; if medical attention was furnished for those injured in the night fight, and if they were given a chance to have a talk with some of the Hindus on the shore in order to say good-bye to them and to ask forgiveness for all the trouble which they had caused.

Mr. Hopkinson came back with a counter proposition, and allowed the Hindus to get up steam, and agreed in writing to permit the boat to weigh anchor and proceed to sea five hours after steam was up, the Immigration people would start putting the 400 worth of provisions on board. Arrangements would also be made to permit the secretary of the Sikh Temple and Rham Singh, one of the alleged charterers of the Maru, to go on board and talk to the passengers. Mr. Hopkinson demanded to see some of the Hindus said to have been hurt the other night, but Gedit Singh did not care to produce them.

Gedit further refused to agree to the suggestions and said that the provisions would have to be put on board at once. This was so manifestly unfair that, after Mr. Stevens and Mr. Hopkinson consulted for a minute or two, they unhesitatingly refused, saying that an agreement in writing would have to be made, and before any provisions would be put on steam must be up. They pointed out that if the provisions were put on board now from the Sea Lion, the Hindus, with their 400 tons of water and $5,000 worth of food, could take life easy and laugh at the Immigration officials. "Then you can send thousands of soldiers with us if you wish," declared Gedit Singh, dramatically. "We would sooner die here than go to sea, unless we get provisions right now. See our shore friends and have our sick attended to."

At Gananoque while employed on the new Government dock a piece of stone lodged in the other eye, and at the Hotel Dieu here it is feared he will lose the sight of this eye.

Wife of French Statesman When Arraigned For Murder of Editor Gaston Calmette Weeps in Court and Tells Judge That Attacks on Husband Made Her Life One of Misery.

PARIS, July 21.—Mme. Caillaux, the wife of Jose Caillaux, once Premier of France, and former Minister of Finance, occupied the prisoners' enclosure in the assize court of justice yesterday and recited in a dramatic manner the circumstances leading up to the shooting of Gaston Calmette, editor of The Figaro, with whose murder, on March 16, she is charged.

When the court clerk, reading the indictment, reached the words "wilful murder," she began to weep. Shaking with sobs, she placed a handkerchief over her face.

She said, when questioned by Judge Albanel, that she was married to Leo Caillaux at 19, and they had two daughters, one of whom died, and the other is 13. She obtained a divorce in 1908. She was married to M. Caillaux, who was then Premier. "I found complete happiness, but my life began to be poisoned by calumnies," she said. "The campaign of The Figaro against her husband then began and all the people in the salons received her with smiles that were intended to wound her. One person said behind her that her husband had taken money from Germany to cede the Congo. These slanderous rumors penetrated every part of society. She was forced to leave the gallery of the Chamber of Deputies owing to being the object of unpleasant attention. Painful incidents took place with her acquaintances when she went shopping, and even when at home.

"The attacks of The Figaro," she said, "were implacable. They had nothing to do with politics. They were personal. I suffered. I lost my head."

The attacks of The Figaro, she said, had nothing to do with politics, because they were personal attacks on her husband. She read all the titles of Gaston Calmette against M. Caillaux, and said: "Oh, my poor husband! He was recklessly accused."

She explained that the "My Joe" letter formed one of a trilogy which her husband's first wife had purchased to make use of against him. These letters were a sort of biography of M. Caillaux, and he referred to them to his meeting of the prisoner, his happiness, and his desire for freedom from his first wife. One letter explained to her that Caillaux had made an advantageous investment.

Witness denied that she was the cause of the divorce of her husband from his first wife.

OFF FOR JAMAICA.

Gen. Huerta, Gen. Blanquet and Families Set Sail.

PUEBLO MEXICO, July 21.—The German cruiser Dresden, with former President Huerta and his family and former War Minister Blanquet, Senora Blanquet and their daughter aboard, sailed at 7.30 o'clock last evening for Jamaica.

The departure of the former President was without incident, there not being even any shouts of "good-bye" to him from the deck.

Gen. Huerta yesterday shrugged his shoulders and smiled contemptuously at the idea that the force of Constitutionalists, known to be a short distance from here, would dare to attack this city.

The military companions of the fugitive former dictator, however, did not display the same degree of confidence and an extended line of outposts was maintained.

Huerta continued to pass most of his time in the railroad car in which he arrived from Mexico City. Since his arrival here he has not taken an hour's exercise.
