"DON'T CRITICIZE," SAYS MRS. ANNIS IN VAUDEVILLE, "IT'S FOR MY BOYS"

MRS. ANNIS PHOTOGRAPHED AT THE PLAYS REHEARSING WITH THE VAUDEVILLE MUSICAL TEAM, FOR WHICH SHE HAS BEEN ENGAGED AS PIANIST AT $200 A WEEK.

"Oh, no," she answered, "I've faced it before." "Blessed Room full of smoke. Windows open. Now please, take off your hat, Mrs. Annis." "Oh, I don't like to. I didn't take any too much trouble with my hair this morning." But the hat comes off, revealing a profusion of auburn hair done in a high pompadour and a huge 'psyché' knot. After the picture-taking was over, Mrs. Annis talked of her vocation, and of her reasons for taking the step she has.

"I'm going this for my two boys," she said. "It is not an agreeable thing for me to do, to go before the public, but I have got to support them and myself." "I know people will criticize me, but I only wish some of them might be in my place, that we might see what they would do." "I'm getting the highest market price for my musical ability, that is all. I have got to make good. This girl who's here I am taking in the quietest is a fine pianist, and I have got to work hard daily, at my practicing to fill her shoes." "Both my boys are at military school, and there is no home to suffer by my absence on the road. No, the boys do not know yet of my plans. They are just the finest little boys in the world. One of them is 12 and the other 7." "Nature has done well by Mrs. Annis. In case she should ever desire to be an actress, she is unusually tall for a woman, with a splendid figure, and regular features of undeniable charm."

THE PHOTOGRAPHER held his flashlight "don't you mind the flash" he asked.

FIRE THE WORST SINCE HOULTON CONFLAGRATION

RESQUE ISLE, Me., June 8.—While sincerely regretting the quarter of a million dollar fire which wiped out thirty acres of buildings and rendered homeless about 500 people, the citizens of Resque Isle were thankful tonight that so much of their town had been saved through heroic work on the part of the fire departments of Fort Fairfield, Caribou, Houlton and this town. Every effort was made to make as comfortable as possible those who were turned out of doors in the night by the fire. Many were sheltered tonight in the homes of friends and relatives in this and adjoining towns, while others were accommodated in the hall of the Catholic church and in other places. The family of Henry Tweedy was quartered in the Unitarian vestry. Headquarters were established in the marble shop of L. B. Thompson and food and clothing furnished by local people were dispensed to those who required such assistance. The fire was the worst of its kind in Maine since May 11, 1902, when a large number of business blocks and fire residences were burned at Houlton, another coastwise town, and, according to Revised estimates of losses made little change in the early figures. They were approximately $250,000, with an insurance protection of about 50 per cent, mostly placed through the local agency of A. G. Perry. Besides the Congregational church and Masonic block, there were destroyed fourteen potato and storehouses, fifty-three dwellings and twenty-five stables, according to latest reports. Buildings were threatened all day by the fire which spread into the woods, especially in the vicinity of the high school. They were fanned by a heavy wind, which did not subside until after sunset. Firemen and volunteers worked all day wetting down the burning embers.

The high school and buildings owned by G. H. Collins, George Larrabee, S. F. Pennington, Mrs. H. H. Robinson, J. M. Smith, Mrs. C. G. Chandler, E. W. Perrin, A. H. Jenkins, C. P. Allen, E. S. Perry, Jerry Holt and S. Piedman caught fire many times, but were saved.

ANNAPOLIS, N. S., June 8.—Occurred here this afternoon as a result of drinking wood alcohol and bay rum. Deceased was about thirty-eight years of age, a widow and several small children. Three brothers also survive.

MRS. TAFT WEARING HER NEWEST HAT

Mrs. Taft has decided views on fashions. The extravagance in hats met with her disapproval long ago. As a consequence Washington society women wear neither the peach-blossom nor the beehive hat. The latest fashion of Mrs. Taft shows an extremely smart, but very simple hat for outdoor daytime wear.

It is a large flat shape of rough straw-colored braid trimmed with a folded band of wide tan-colored tulle, silk ribbon, ending in a broad-spreading bow on the left side, which is itself an innovation, as custom places the bow on the right. The brim facing is of black satin, and provides a very becoming frame for Mrs. Taft's sweet face.

MR. FROHMAN SECURES A NEW ROSTAND PLAY

Success in Paris

PARIS, June 8.—Charles Frohman today left Paris for London after a short sojourn in the French capital, speaking to the Herald correspondent he said:

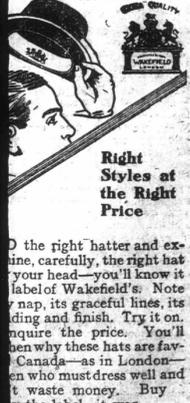

"I have secured for America, Chantier, the new play by Edmond Rostand, which all Paris is waiting to see. I had arrangements for this play under way last summer, but as the production here was postponed all matters regarding my contract were postponed also. Now all is different. Chantier will be produced at the Theatre de la Porte Saint Martin next autumn."

"My American arrangements were fully completed today. In the event of the play meeting success here in America, I will see its next production."

"During my stay in Paris I have had an opportunity of seeing some dresses and scenery for the great production of Chantier. They are most remarkable in every way. If this play wins it will be a sensation. I propose reproducing the Paris production in America. The publishers who hold the rights to print the play in French have orders for more than two hundred thousand copies."

Mr. Sylvester Smith, Hampton, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with palpitation of the heart and tried doctor's medicines, but they only gave me temporary relief.
