FROM THE ASHES TO LARGER LIFE.

PRICELESS RECORDS IN DANGER BUT ALL SAVED.

Hundreds of Gross of Dodd's Kidney Pills Burned—The Dodd's Medicine Company in New Quarters—Orders From Ocean to Ocean—Energy and Enterprise Conquers.

The extensive establishment of the proprietors of Dodd's Kidney Pills, at Nos. 1 and 3 Jarvis street, with its contents, excepting the offices, was entirely destroyed by fire on the afternoon of the 15th.

The fire broke out in an adjoining warehouse, but spread so rapidly that in less than ten minutes the employees of the Dodd's Medicine Company, from the laboratory, the advertising and shipping departments, were all in a panic flight for their lives.

The perfect safety of all these persons once assured, and while more than two hundred and fifty gross of Dodd's Kidney Pills, together with labels, wrappers and tons of advertising were being consumed, interest and effort all centered in the rescue from the advertising rooms of a mass of seemingly old and worthless letters. These, as afterwards learned, proved to be the accumulations of years, consisting of thousands of testimonials from persons cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and dating from the inception of the business up to the day of the fire. These records of triumph, these proofs of the supreme merits of this great kidney treatment were of the most precious of all the possessions of the firm, and were to be saved if possible, as they fortunately were, at the last possible moment.

On the invitation of the president of the company a reporter of The News visited the quarters, located at Nos. 6 and 8 Bay street, where new premises have been promptly opened. Here a rapid glance revealed many busy hands rushing the several detailf of completion of new goods to fill orders continuously arriving from all points in Canada, the United States and other parts of the world. Judging from the accumulated orders on file, of which your reporter got a glimpse, the output of Dodd's Kidney Pills is already almost beyond the conception, and one can easily understand that their merit alone can create such an incredible demand.

Characteristic of the energy and enterprise of the Dodd's Medicine Company, it may be mentioned that, though absent in Buffalo during the fire, the manager was made aware of the probable extent and outcome of the disaster, and while the premises were still burning orders had been wired and goods from New York and other points were speeding towards Toronto for the reproduction of Dodd's Kidney Pills, so that no order should remain unfilled.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

The Frequent Cause of Much Misery and Suffering.

The Victim Helpless and Unreliable—It Saps the Constitution and Makes One Involuntarily Ask is Life Worth Living.

From the Lindsay Post.

It is at least commendable to bow before the inevitable. But what appears to be inevitable may be delayed or altogether averted. What were considered necessarily fatal diseases twenty-five or even ten years ago in many instances are not now placed in that category—thanks to medical and scientific skill. Life is sweet. We must either control the nerves or they will master us. Hysteria may prove fatal. It renders the person afflicted helpless and unreliable, and casts a continual shadow upon a hitherto bright and cheerful life. It saps the constitution and makes one involuntarily ask, "Is life worth living?" Miss Fanny Watson, daughter of Mr Henry Watson, living on Lot 22, in the township of Somerville, Victoria county, is one of those whose life for years was made miserable from nervous disease. At the age of twelve Miss Watson met with an accident which so seriously affected her nervous system that during the subsequent five years she was subjected to very severe nervous prostration resulting in convulsions with unconsciousness for three or four hours at a time. This condition continued until March last when she had an increased and prolonged attack by which she was completely prostrated for the space of a fortnight. The disease so affected the optic nerve that Miss Watson and her friends feared that a cure could not be obtained. Ultimately Dr Williams' Pink Pills were strongly recommended by various friends and the young lady decided to give them a trial. A half dozen boxes were bought, and by the time one box was used there was an improvement in her condition, and before the half dozen boxes were used, Miss Watson was, to use her own words, a different person altogether. Her entire nervous system was reinforced to such an extent that she is now able to dispense with the use of the glasses which previous failing eyesight had made necessary. Miss Watson is now a staunch friend of Dr Williams' Pink Pills and says: "I have pleasure in recommending them to all similarly afflicted." Rev. D. Millar, a friend of the family, vouches for the facts above set forth.

Dr Williams' Pink Pills create new blood, build up the nerves, and thus drive disease from the system. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines have failed, thus establishing the claim that they are a marvel among the triumphs of modern medical science. The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing any pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box.

Notes from the Union Signal.

Her Majesty, the Queen, has graciously signified her willingness to receive the unique Petition which has been signed in forty-four languages by the women in all parts of the world, praying for increased protection against the evils of the liquor traffic and the opium trade. The Petition contains over seven million signatures and indorsements and has been gathered during the last few years by the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union. As it is impossible to present the immense roll which contains the names of the British subjects to the Queen, the pages have been photographed and magnificently bound in two immense volumes by Messrs Zaendorf, Shaftesbury avenue, where it is now on view. The title pages are beautifully illuminated, and as a document of historic interest and a work of artistic merit, it is well worth a visit. The Queen will never at one time have received any document signed by so many of her subjects. The names of Miss Frances Willard, president of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union, and Lady Henry Somerset, vice-president, head the list.

Women suffrage, instead of being repealed after six months' trial, as claimed by Max O'Rell, has become firmly rooted in New Zealand. The governor-general of the colony recently voiced the almost unanimous opinion of the colony that equal suffrage had worked most satisfactorily. Since women have had a voice in choosing legislators, the laws for the protection of women and children have been greatly improved. An infants' Life Protection Act has been passed, the age of consent raised to fifteen, female inspectors have been appointed to lunatic asylums, the laws dealing with the adoption of children and industrial schools have been revised, and a severe measure has been passed against the keepers of houses of ill-fame. The women have flocked to the electoral rolls, they have taken the keenest interest in political contests, they have carried on their agitation peaceably and orderly. What more could the most carping critic desire? A measure giving women the power to sit in the New Zealand Parliament, has just been introduced in the Colonial House of Representatives.

The members of the First M. E. Church of Harriman, Tenn., have passed resolutions endorsing the temperance declarations as set forth in the M. E. Church discipline, and not to receive new members on probation or into full membership after October first who do not subscribe to this doctrine. It is also "expected of all who join this church that they shall continue to evidence their desire of salvation by not supporting political parties or men for office who do not openly declare in favor of the prohibition of the legalized liquor traffic." They also resolve that they will not receive any pastor or contribute to the support of any presiding elder or bishop who is not using his influence and vote for the legal prohibition of the liquor traffic.

The Champion (liquor organ) finds an argument for the use of tobacco in the fact that "smoking kills germs." A celebrated professor of chemistry asserts, it says, "that smoking tends to check the development of bacteria and kill them." For this reason, we are told, it is forbidden to physicians and employes in laboratories devoted to the cultivation of germs for experiments. "Smoke kills these minute organizations, and what applies to a chemist's workshop applies equally to the human body." It does, and hence the argument proves too much. There are germs and germs, and tobacco is no respecter of germs. It kills alike the disease-dealing and the health-giving germ. If on the one hand "smoking prevents disease," on the other hand it produces disease by destroying the vitalizing germs which build up the human body.

One of the police commissioners in New York city says he has received hundreds of letters from wives and mothers in the city thanking him for enforcing the law closing the saloons on the Sabbath. These women have received the wages which before went to the saloonkeeper. The savings banks report an increase in deposits. The Montreal Witness pertinently asks: "If such things as these do not appeal to the humane voter to support the laws against liquor selling, would anything unselfish influence him?

The Dominion W. C. T. U. has sent forth its call to annual conclave in the form of a circular. Toronto is the chosen city, and November 6 to 10 are the dates for this, their ninth yearly gathering. Mrs Annie O. Rutherford, Dominion president, announces Miss Agnes Slack, secretary World's W. C. T. U., as speaker, and business of great importance. Mrs Bascom, 56 Elm St., Toronto, is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Canadian white-ribboners at their coming convention will arrange for their part in the Dominion plebiscite on the liquor traffic, to which the present government has pledged itself.

All else failing Mr Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PORT HOPE (Special) Sept. 28—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed fellow townsman Mr George C. Ward, Registrar of this County, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

Neurasthenia.

WEAKENED NERVES AND NERVOUS DISEASES ARE CUTTING OFF THOUSANDS.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Nervous People Well and Strong.

Health is the first and most important thing in this life of ours. Health is a blessing far beyond our computation; it is vastly more important than wealth or great social distinction.

One of the most dreaded troubles of the present day is nervousness. It is generally acknowledged that nervous diseases are growing alarmingly prevalent in our midst.

The causes that lead to Neurasthenia, or weakness of the nerves, are many. Business cares, feverish haste after riches, social and household worries, sexual and alcoholic excesses all contribute to the breaking down and physical ruin of thousands of men and women.

In words of truth and soberness we set before the sick and afflicted the claims of Paine's Celery Compound as a quick relief and certain cure for all forms of nervous diseases. It is a perfect restorer of nerve force and power to the weakened and debilitated system. Prominent men and women, all over the country, have renewed their lives, and kept their places in business and in society by using Paine's Celery Compound. In all large cities, where nervous diseases are most frequently seen, the best physicians prescribe Paine's Celery Compound with immense success.

The following letter, from Mrs Alfred Perry, Port Maitland, N. S., proves that Paine's Celery Compound has no equal for the cure of nervous diseases in whatever form they may present themselves:

"For two years my system was all run down, and I suffered more than I can describe from nervous prostration and insomnia; at times I almost lost my reason from severe pain at base of the brain. My husband advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound, which I did, and the effect was wonderful. I soon began to sleep well, the pain left my head, my whole system was strengthened, and I am now enjoying very good health.

"I would cheerfully recommend Paine's Celery Compound to any one suffering from like troubles. You have my best wishes for the future success of your excellent remedy."

Hints for the Hostess.

The secret of being a good hostess is in hiding the fact that you are making an effort to please. The houses to which you like best to go are those where you feel at liberty to look over books and portfolios, where the piano stands open, and there are easy chairs with elaborate cushions. In preparing for an evening party, if you expect to have games which involve real play, put away delicate bric-a-brac, so that no guest shall have the misfortune to spoil his evening and yours by an accident. Scatter picture books and photographs at the sides of the room for the benefit of those unfortunates, the wall-flowers. There should always be a corner set apart for those who do not dance, and this should be large enough for a table at which a game may be played comfortably. Look after the shy girls and boys; that is one of the chief duties of the hostess. It is better to try to bring them into the general sport than to devote yourself to their amusement.

Railway Bob is the name of a famous dog in Australia. He passes his whole existence on the train, his favorite seat being on top of the coal box. In this way he has travelled many thousands of miles, going all over the lines in South Australia. He is well known in Victoria, frequently seen in Sydney, and has been up as far as Brisbane. The most curious part of his conduct is that he has no master, but every engine driver is his friend. At night he follows home the engine driver of the day, never leaving him or letting him out of his sight until they are back in the railway station in the morning, when he starts off on another of his ceaseless journeyings.

In every service of the Church of England the royal family is prayed for, the Queen and Prince of Wales being especially mentioned. It is related that a little English girl, after long cogitation, asked her mother why the prince was excluded from the prayers. He isn't, said the mother. Yes, he is, persisted the child. The minister always says: All but Edward Prince of Wales. The mother laughed heartily, and had some trouble in explaining that the clergyman's pronunciation was to blame. He said: Awlbert Edward Prince of Wales.
