For Baby's Skin Troubles.
There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby excoriates himself from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used to soothe and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

To be well bred, in its best sense, means that good manners are a part of daily living. Teach the boy and girl the best ways of doing all things.

Constipation and Head-ache.
Mrs. R. Morrow, Niagara Falls, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled almost constantly with constipation and never got anything to do me lasting good. That has been obtained from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Not only have I cured constipation but have also entirely cured the headaches from which I used to suffer and have improved my health in every way."

As a country physician was driving through the village he saw a man amusing a crowd with the antics of his black dog. The doctor pulled up and said:
"My dear man, how do you manage to train your dog that way? I can't teach mine a single trick?"
The man looked up, with a simple rustic look, and replied: "Well, you see, it's this way; you have to know more'n the dog, or you can't learn him nothin'."

Prosperous Maritime Provinces.
A Canadian correspondent of a London paper calls the attention of Old Country people to a point which we in Canada, perhaps, do not fully appreciate. When we think of encouraging settlers to come into this country, we think only of getting rid as quickly as possible of our great Western heritage, as we are fond of calling it. In the meantime, the fact that there are other parts of Canada, other prosperous provinces, other places good to live in besides the West, is not being kept so prominently before the world.

The correspondent of the London paper reminds his readers that, with the eyes of the world upon the West and its amazing progress, there is some danger that the steady progress and achievement of the Maritime Provinces may be overlooked. Within a quarter of a century they saw their greatest industry absolutely disappear. Wooden shipping, in which they led all parts of the world, became a thing of the past, owing to circumstances over which they had no control. Banks, marine insurance companies, ship chandler stores, and all allied business crumbled away. Once valuable assets became embarrassing liabilities; many of the wealthy were reduced to penury. Yet, during all this time, the rest of Canada, to use an overworked and tautological phrase, was going forward by leaps and bounds.

Look at the Maritime Provinces to day. Those who were ruined started life again, and they are decidedly out of the hole now. The correspondent writes: "If people could see the immense crops of grain, hay, roots and fruit that the farmers of the Maritime Provinces are gathering in this fall they would certainly have a new appreciation altogether of the great importance and still greater possibilities of that portion of Canada which lies east of the province of Quebec. The uninitiated are apt to think that the wheat crop of the Western provinces is the important factor in the wealth production of the Dominion, but this is fully equalled by the products of the Maritime Provinces."

It is pointed out that a crop of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat even at the price of $1 per bushel would only bring in $100,000,000, whereas last year the agricultural and industrial products of the Maritime Provinces brought in no less than $105,000,000. This season, despite the Nova Scotia colliery troubles, these figures accord with present calculations will be considerably exceeded, principally owing to the great prosperity which this year's crops are bringing to the farmers in the Eastern, in common with the Western provinces. It will, therefore, readily be seen what this huge amount of money will mean to the Maritime provinces. On the strength of its circulation, trade revival is to be noted in almost every portion of the provinces by the sea.—Montreal Star.

Insurance Long in Force.
The practice of insuring originated from marine insurance, for merchants sending goods by sea in early times usually accompanied the ship themselves, and were liable to capture by Moorish or Turkish pirates. With a view to providing the necessary ransom to secure their release it became customary before embarking to pay an agreed premium to certain individuals called underwriters who were willing to guarantee payment of the ransom in the event of the merchant being captured. From this beginning the practice was gradually extended to insuring the lives, first of mariners and then of other persons.

In 1574, Queen Elizabeth granted a patent to Richard Chandler under which he established a Chamber of Insurance in London with the object of regulating all contracts of insurance, but this Chamber, with probably all its records, was destroyed by the great fire of 1666. The earliest recorded life policy was issued in June 18, 1581, and provided that if a certain William Cushman should die within twelve months, the underwriter would pay £183 6s. 8d., the premium being at the rate of 8 per cent.

"It will be for you to go slowly in building a navy. You will not be able to build it as quickly as some of your newspapers seem to think. It is not as easy to order a navy as it is to order a dinner. A navy is the most complicated and many-sided organization to establish and properly manage that I know of. And when you have your navy you will have with it all the worry you want." In these words Lord Northcliffe, the proprietor of the London Times and a number of other leading British newspapers, warned the people of Canada of some of the difficulties ahead of us in solving the naval problem during the course of his address to the Ottawa Canadian Club.

One Thousand Successful Men.
I have on my desk a list of 1,000 successful men of this nation. By 'successful' I do not mean money makers, but men who have given us new conceptions of steam, electricity, construction work, education, art, etc.
These are the men who influence our moral as well as physical lives. They construct for better things.
How these men started in work is interesting. Their first foothold in work is a fine study.
Three hundred started as farmers' sons.
Two hundred started as messenger boys.
One hundred were printers' apprentices.
One hundred were apprenticed in manufactures.
Fifty began at the bottom of railway work.
Fifty—only 50—had wealthy parents to give them a start.—Juvenile Court Record.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak stomach if one goes at it correctly. An this is true of the Heart and Kidneys. The old-fashioned way of dosing the stomach or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong! Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. "Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs," said he. Each inside organ has its controlling "nerves nerve". When these nerves fail then those organs must surely falter. This vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days test will surely tell! Sold by A. V. Rand.

Many a man has won out by his inability to realize that he was whipped.
Even people who are usually healthy occasionally require some kind of a food tonic. DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION
Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid cyst in the world for five years. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best remedy for my trouble. I have had no operation, and I feel as well as ever. I have had my period regular, and I have gained weight. I have had no bearing-down pains, and I have had no trouble in bed. I have had no trouble in my stomach, and I have had no trouble in my bowels. I have had no trouble in my head, and I have had no trouble in my eyes. I have had no trouble in my ears, and I have had no trouble in my nose.
