ROWING NIGHT.

Savoy Night to Raise Funds For Working Boat.

Hamilton Rowing Club is in splendid condition for this time of the year. During the winter a number of its members have been working steadily on the rowing machines and will be fit for any company when the spring regattas come on. It is the present intention to send two crews to the Canadian Henley this year.

When the outdoor season opens the club will require a new working boat and it is proposed to raise the money to buy it by having a rowing club night at the Savoy on the evening of Tuesday next, March 10. Tickets may be had at the Duncan book store and at Mack's drug store. It has taken a long and hard pull to put the club in its present excellent form and the credit is very largely due to the efforts of such citizens as R. T. Steele, Robert Hobson, D. M. Cameron and a few others who have always been ready to further the interests of clean, honest sport. These men deserve the support of every citizen, and now, in connection with the Savoy night, is a good time to give it.

RINK COMPETITION.

Ripley's Bunch Defeated Burrow Quartette.

A curling game in the Victoria Club rink competition that has caused a good deal of interest was the one in the semi-final round between the rinks of E. W. Burrow and R. C. Ripley. The rivalry between these rinks of curlers was very keen, and the game was watched with interest. It resulted as follows:

Charles Brigger Hal Price
T. Cook Geo. Price
Frank James Fred Hubert
E. W. Burrow R. C. Ripley

The winners met W. F. Miller's rink in the last game of that will play A. R. Whyte's rink the final.

LADIES WILL PLAY.

Basket Ball Game at Y. M. C. A. Next Week.

One of the special features that will be put on at the Ladies' night at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday, the 13th, will be a basketball match, Ladies vs. Ladies. The ladies have been training daily at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. Basketball as a game for ladies is splendid. It develops different muscles of the body, teaches self control, precision and judgment. The ladies are taught to play in position and not to get out of running as the men, and in that way more passing is done, and the spectators see a more open game. Miss Trussler, who is in charge of the teams, and is having some assistance from the Y. M. C. A. Senior champions, states that the girls will give a good demonstration of the game from their standpoint. The reserve seat plan is now open at the Y. M. C. A. office.

SPRING IS HERE.

Juvenile Ball Tossers Have Began to Organize.

The prospect of professional ball here this season has filled the hearts of the juvenile ball tossers with joy, and has put new life in them, as will be seen by the following report handed in by a young press agent:

"An organization meeting of all those interested in the Keystone Baseball Club was held last evening at the McLaren Mission, and judging by the enthusiasm shown there is no doubt that the south-end contingent will represent their success of former seasons. A good lecture to the boys from some former baseball fan will be necessary. The club this year will mourn the loss of one of its most clever players, the pitcher, Patty Jones, whose business duties will require all his available time. The management will be thankful to any young pitcher who would give his services to the team, and he will have the assurance of being well treated. With the exception of the above mentioned, the team will be the same as last year.

"C. A. Lahey was elected manager, and J. A. Hinman captain, for the ensuing year. Any person wishing to join this team can do so, and if good enough will replace some of those already mentioned. The club will hold another meeting in the near future to arrange for providing suits for the players. The following were present: Nixon, Young, Myles, Gordon, Awrey, Moore, Hinman, Lahey, Stokes and Smith."

Hoppe playing the 181 game and Demarest the 142 style. Hoppe's average was 22 4-18 while Demarest averaged 16 flat. Kansas City, Mo., March 5.—Thomas Houston, of St. Louis, the pool champion, outclassed Johnny King, of this city, in the first block of the 600 point pool match last night, the score being 158 to 59. They will play 150 balls each night for the pool championship of the world and a purse of $1,000. King is a catcher of the Chicago National League team.

New York, March 5.—Chas. M. Desileis, New York A. C. holder of many world's records, with Bud Gordin as team mate, defeated H. J. Handy, of the Illinois A. C. Chicago, and C. D. Trudenhall, N. Y. A. C. in a 200 yard swimming relay race at the Sportsman show in Madison Square Garden last night, by about 15 yards. Time 1 minute 57 1-5 seconds.

THE PISTOL EXPLODED.

Loop-the-Loop Artist Accidentally Killed by Friend.

New York, March 4.—It was the fate of nineteen-year-old Mitzel Morok, whose reckless loop-the-loop act had been the feature of many a circus performance, to meet death while engaged in the common-place duty of pouring tea for a friend to-night. As the circus star filled a cup for her friend, the latter, Miss Antoinette Defframe, toyed with an old-fashioned pistol, which exploded in her hands. A cartridge ball from the weapon lodged in Miss Morok's neck and she survived but a few moments.

DEATH OF SENATOR PROCTOR.

He Was a Prominent Figure in U. S. Politics.

Washington, March 4.—United States Senator Redfield Proctor, of Vermont, died at his apartments at the Champlain here this afternoon after a short illness following an attack of grippe. Senator Proctor had been a conspicuous factor in the political and business interests of Vermont for many years, and was reputed to be one of the wealthiest members of the United States Senate. He was Secretary of War in President Harrison's administration.

TIGERS WERE TRIMMED.

London, March 5.—(Special).—Superior all around playing last night enabled the local O. H. A. team to take the Tigers into camp by the score of 16 to 4, in the first game of the round for the championship of Western Ontario. The Hamilton team was a disappointment, for there were many here who thought they would give the locals a closer run for their money. Both teams were shy of their regular players. London's two wing men had a little trouble with the management and refused to play, and two of the Tigers were off on account of illness. In London's case the change was all for the better, as the two substitutes played a far better game than the regulars have done all season.

Hamilton, on the other hand, must surely have been handicapped, for little Carr, although fast, is not big enough for the local city league, while Marshall, who was ill, was slow. Occasionally, however, the big fellow got through by clever stick work, but he never got a chance to show, owing to the close checking of the London forwards. Hamilton got away to a combination, but three or four times, while London's three men combination was always in evidence.

The Tigers made a big mistake in trying Collingwood's game of playing six men on the forward line, and it was only the brilliant work of Morden in goal that prevented the score from being much larger.

Motherwell was the pick of the Tiger forwards, while Morden got off to a number of dangerous starts. London's old "stone-wall" defense, however, was practically impregnable, and although the Tigers kept pressing they eventually became discouraged before the end.

The Tigers drew first blood on a lift from the centre of the rink off Morden's stick, after two minutes of play. Nine minutes later Wagner tied the score from around the corner of the net, as Morden was looking around the other end for the puck.

Hamilton did not score again in this half, and Wagner, Boie, Abram, Wagner and Casselman landed London's next five minutes the score at half time 6-1.

Hamilton's remaining goals were scored by Harrison, Motherwell and McKewen, while Casselman, Abram and Wagner did the scoring for the locals.

Pete Layden, of Paris, referred satisfactorily. Approximately 1,400 people witnessed the game.

The line up was as follows:
London Goal. Hamilton.
Pearson Point. Morden
Casselman Cover. Marshall
Thompson Rover. Morden
Abram Centre. Carr
Wagner Right wing. McKewen

On London will play the return game at Hamilton on Friday evening.

PRAISE FOR LEEMING CARR.

Regarding last night's game at London, the Free Press to-day says: "As for Hamilton, there is one man on the Tiger line-up that is in a class with Morden, the goal man, who is really the whole defense. It is true that sixteen shots got by him, but sixty-six didn't, and they were bottled in with some speed and accuracy. Morden is a real hockey player, even if he does come from Hamilton. Motherwell was the hardest worker on the team, and Mother was always dangerous. He would qualify for faster company."

Take them all round, the forwards were fair, although one of them, Carr, is only a boy, and is hardly large enough to look natural outside of a nursery or a kindergarten. He is game and plucky, and looks like good material after a while. A gent called McKewen would play a better game if he were more of a stickler. He drew two long penalties for spitefully throwing his stick at rushing players when he had been outchecked. Harrison held up his end fairly well. The weak part of the team was the defense, and the forwards really did not stand much of a chance to hold their end up.

TORONTO CHAMPIONSHIP.

Toronto, March 5.—It was all "Varsity" last night in the first and probably what will be the last senior city championship game of the season. Eight to two was the score at half-time and twenty to six the tally at the finish. The Collingwood team were without "Beulah" Davidson, who, though at the rink, was unable to play, not having recovered sufficiently from his recent attack of grip. Campbell, who took his place, put up a good game, but at that the champions were weakened by Davidson's absence.

The team:

St. George's—Goal, Ewer; point, Timony; cover, McArthur; rover, Smith; which played with such brilliancy last Wednesday, with the indefatigable Joe McLaughlin in the box, and Dinky Campbell handling all the foul tips in his usual dexterous manner. The price of admission to the balcony this week will be 15 cents, and to the floor, including one and a half hours of skating, will be 25c. There will be seats for all comers.

BIG TOURNNEY.

Crack Western Basketball Teams Will be Here.

The biggest thing ever attempted in the basketball line in Canada will be the tournament on Monday next, when the best teams in Ontario will be here to fight out for the honor of representing this section with the winners of eastern Canada.

The entries close to-night. So far Hamilton has entered two teams, West End Toronto one, and all London one. At first it was expected London Y. M. C. A. and Wolsey Barracks would enter teams, but they have amalgamated and are coming hot after first place. Harvey, whom many think is the best man Hamilton has ever turned out, will captain their team.

West End Toronto are also coming strong, and whoever defeats them will know they have been playing, and Mr. Ashley claims that Montgomery will make Gray look like a second rate this time.

Although Hamilton's second team are not saying very much they have many supporters, and it will be interesting to watch how they make out against senior teams, as it is mostly from their ranks the team of the future will be picked, and there are quite a number who pick them to go into the final.

INDOOR BALL.

Brantford Will Play Military League Champions To-night.

The Brantford Indoor Baseball Club will send a strong nine here to-night, under Capt. Smith, to play the Fourth Field Battery team, champions of the Military League, at the Alexandra rink. It is expected that there will be a good turn out of fans, particularly Brantford old boys who now reside here, and there will be a section of the north side ball-club boys as they will give as good an account of themselves in this game as they did last week, and that's going strong, when they beat the New York champions by a score of 7 to 1. The line-up of the Brantford team had not arrived before going to press, and the Hamilton team to represent this district will be practically the same as that

SOME SNAPSHOTS AT SPORTS AND SPORTSMEN

His many friends in Hamilton will sympathize sincerely with Walter Kelly, who lost two children in the Cleveland holocaust yesterday. Mr. Kelly was well known here as referee of boxing and wrestling bouts during the regime of the late Frank Pasmore. Before going to Cleveland he was many years sporting editor of the Buffalo Courier.

Last night the Tigers played one "Candy Kid"—young Carr. The Grand will play the other one to-morrow night.

Londoners are not as hospitable as was generally supposed. They did not do a thing to their visitors last night.

The success of the London hockey team will have a beneficial effect on sport in the city of the woods.

London Free Press: "To-night the Tigers feast on the Cockneys, quoth yesterday's Times. Strange to say, the Cockneys seemed to fasten in the jungle roomers' fangs with a very effective strange hold."

The description of the system of Pari Mutuel betting, which appears in this page, and is an appendage of the French Government, is worthy of consideration by those who may desire to reform the race track by eliminating a class of magnates who get the credit of carrying away barrels of money from the race tracks every season. It will be seen that the only profit outside of the winners' is the percentage deducted for the club conducting the races unless the Province should enact that a portion should go for the encouragement of the breeding industry or something like that.

The Tigers were expected to eat up everything that they met. But they couldn't go the Cockneys.

OTTAWA MAN SCORES C. A. A. U.

Grierson Tells Why He Resigned—Where the Trouble Began.

Ottawa, March 5.—In response to numerous enquiries in reference to his withdrawal from the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, Mr. Grierson, president of the Civil Service Athletic Association, has drawn up a statement of his position.

Beginning with reference to the composition of the Olympic Committee, Mr. Grierson says: "It was decided that each association should nominate four men to a Central Committee, which was to include Col. Hanbury-Williams as chairman, Mr. P. D. Ross representing the Federation, and Rev. Bruce Macdonald, representing the C. A. A. U. Of the four names submitted by the Federation three were officers of professional clubs and managers of professional hockey and lacrosse teams, namely, the Capitals, Nationals and Shamrocks. Thereupon the C. A. A. U. objected, at a meeting of the Board of Governors, to serving with these three exponents of professionalism, and the chairman, Col. Hanbury-Williams, was requested by the C. A. A. U. to suggest a committee which included the same three men. This committee was accepted by representatives of the C. A. A. U. themselves named as members of the committee, without calling a meeting of the Board of Governors or submitting the question, as is provided for, and might easily have been done by mail vote. Now from the C. A. A. U. acting with men who had no amateur interests, and I continued in that protest throughout."

After citing English precedents to prove that the management of the Canadian Olympic Committee should not be influenced by professionalism, Mr. Grierson points out that in Ottawa, with about 25 professional players in their ranks, two clubs have representation on the committee, while half a score amateur clubs here, with a couple of thousand members, have no representation. He says: "Three of the Ottawa representatives are not in sympathy with the Olympic principle (Foran, Ross and Clancy presumably). Two of them represent professional interests, and are trustees of the Stanley Cup, which, although given for competition between amateur clubs, is now the trophy of professional clubs. One of them, who manages a lacrosse team of some 15 professionals—(Mr. Foran)—speaking at the meeting of the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Association on Feb. 13, said that the club had failed because it had yielded to amateur principles, and on the following afternoon he sat at a meeting of the Olympic Committee, a committee pledged to amateurism. The other trustees, as managing editor of the Ottawa Journal (Mr. Ross)—subscribed on Sept. 14, 1907, to the editorial statement that 'certain athletes in hockey, football and lacrosse, professing to be amateurs, were with the aid, of course, of the club executives, secretly accepting compensation.' On Jan. 15, 1908, however, he subscribed to the further statement that the said Executive, which in the meantime had become managers of professional teams, were now accepted of their professional players in lying and swindling. Yet on Feb. 14 we find the same trustee recommending the appointment of those whom he characterized as above, to the highest positions in amateur management, and those who may desire to learn how this trustee regards the present hockey saturnalia should read the editorial article which appeared in the Journal of Jan. 16, 1908. The characterization there set forth, in which the epithets 'rottenness,' 'disgraceful,' 'miserably mean and dirty business,' 'brutal players,' 'rascality,' 'contemptible chicanery,' 'follow each other in benumbing succession, seems fairly complete.

"The above facts and considerations constitute the grounds upon which my withdrawal from the C. A. A. U. was based. Under the circumstances, I conceived it to be my duty to disassociate myself entirely from a movement which was being conducted in a manner so repugnant to my principles, and, as I believe, to those of the Canadian people."

RINGERS AT TORONTO.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—It is pretty generally understood in Buffalo sporting circles that some old-time boxers went to Toronto under assumed names a week ago to compete for the C. A. A. U. championships, but nothing definite can be learned concerning the affair. Edward Reinecke, the western New York representative of the A. A. U., could not be found last night, and other A. A. U. men are not talking. An official admitted that he had heard reports of professionals passing off as amateurs, but was very careful not to commit himself. James Y. Cameron, physical director of the Central Y. M. C. A., was seen, but he would not say much. When the question, "Do you know anything about the boxers who fought at Toronto for the C. A. A. U. championships?" was asked, he answered that he understood some Buffalo professionals had gone to Toronto. Further than that he would say nothing, saying that he did not want to be mixed up in the affair at all. One, at least, of the names rumored in the tournament has been used by three or four Buffalo athletes now in disfavor of Sullivan.

ABOUT PARI MUTUEL SYSTEM OF BETTING.

Bookmakers will not be in evidence at the spring meetings of the New Louisville Jockey Club at Churchill Downs this year. President Charles Grainger and Manager Matt. J. Winn decided some time ago to install the famous Pari Mutuel machines instead, and both of them have arrived there to consult with the agent of the French concern which manufactures this noted device for race track speculation. It is believed that 15 machines will prove sufficient to attend to the business in the ring at the Louisville track. In France and Germany, where this is the only method of placing wagers that is tolerated, the working of the machines is seen to the best advantage. Forty-five machines are used at some of the French tracks for straight betting only, while there are many others for the place and third wagers. The Pari Mutuel is the old name for this form of betting is now called "the Totalizer."

The method is not hard to understand. At Louisville, for instance, there will be machines for $2, $5 and $10 tickets. The bettor hands up his money and states the name of the horse he wants to back, whereupon a ticket is pulled out of the machine. As soon as it is withdrawn it is registered on the face of the machine, while on the big central machine the way the horses are being played in all of the machines is displayed.

The machines are locked either when the horses are on the way to the post, or just as the barrier goes up. No more money can be put into a machine after that. When the race is over the total amount of money bet on all of the horses is added together, the percentage deducted and the balance divided among the holders of the winning tickets. If there is $10,000 bet on a race, and only ten winning tickets, each is worth $1,000.

It does not require a lightning calculator to figure out what a winning ticket is worth, and all the workings of the machines are in full view of the race track patrons. In France the question of betting by women has been solved by the placing of a machine in the grand stand. The installation of these machines will probably revolutionize racing conditions in the West if the Louisville plan becomes popular. It will also to a certain extent hamper the plunger and make it impossible to wager big sums of money, for if a man wanted to bet $1,000 on a horse there would have to be 100 tickets registered on a $10 machine, with everybody aware of what was in the wind. Incidentally, it is argued that the machines will make racing cleaner than ever before, as there will be no reason why unscrupulous owners, who sometimes run their horses in the interest of bookmakers, will not be out to win at all times.

LADY BOWLERS.

Mrs. Hull, World's Champion, Was Here Yesterday.

At the Brunswick alleys yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Hull, of Chicago, the champion lady bowler of the world, bowled a series of games. In the first three strings Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Crowder, champion of Indiana, bowled against R. V. Thompson, of the Thompson's Colts, champions of the world, and Mr. Booth, of the Brunswick Bait Colander Co. Booth and Thompson winning by 142 pins. The scores were:

Mrs. Hull 126 126 154-420
Mrs. Crowder 126 140 130-416-921
Mr. Thompson 130 136 202-568
126 140 167-433-1043
In the second game Mrs. Hull and Mr. R. Simpson, of the Royal, bowled against Mrs. Crowder and Mr. Booth, the former winning by 142 pins. The scores:

Mrs. Hull 121 146 128-395
Mrs. Crowder 126 141 144-411-949
Mr. Simpson 127 131 128-386
Mr. Booth 127 142 160-429

Mrs. Hull is a very pretty bowler, having a fine cross alley delivery and missing but few of the spares. In speaking of the game Mrs. Hull is very enthusiastic and thinks there will be many lady bowlers in Canada as it is good exercise and great sport.
