Bulletin News Service.
Yesterday a Galician who lives thirty-five miles north of the town came in to town with ten sacks of cucumbers and some sacks of corn. The cucumbers were extra large and some of them dead ripe. He sold them at a dollar a pair. This is the second load brought in this season by the same Galician. He made over $60 in his load. His wheat and oats have been stacked over ten days.

MANLY.

Bulletin News Service.
O'Connor's large grading outfit passed through here last Sunday on the way to the McLeod river. They have been at Lethbridge all summer and have now finished their work and gone west.

John A. McPherson, M.P.P., paid a visit here last week on his way to Wabamun. He visited the school and expressed great satisfaction at the bright intelligence of the scholars. He was pleased with their singing, which considering some of the scholars were not able to speak a word of English on entering the school, did great credit to the teacher as well as the scholars.

Work is to start on the Government road next week with James Reid as foreman.

Chas. Walker made a trip home last week but was only able to stay a few days.

Mrs. S. Reid the teacher of Manly S. D. has bought a horse and buggy from J. Fuchs.

Quite a number of Manly people turned out for the picnic on Labor day. The party started at 9 a.m. sharp taking their own refreshments for the day. The destination was Wabamun Lake. After a pleasant but rather rocky ride for those who travelled in wagons they arrived and camped on a sandy beach on the south east corner of the lake. The day was perfect. The children soon had their shoes and stockings off and were paddling in the water. A small rowing boat was borrowed and all took it by turns to go on the water. After supper and a most enjoyable day they all started for home and arrived at their various destinations tired out but happy. This is the first general picnic the Manly people have had but all are agreed that it will be no means be the last.

John Kotschenofski is busy banking up the school house and if he can get it fenced the teacher is talking of having a garden of flowers there next summer.

Manly September 9th.

A robbery that will long be remembered in the history of this north country was committed here last week when the warehouse of Hislop & Nagle was broken into, and two bales and one box of raw furs, valued at $15,000 were taken. The fur arrived from the north on the Hudson's Bay Company's transport on Saturday and placed immediately in the warehouse. The robbery was not discovered until Wednesday, although it was committed shortly after Saturday. As the three most valuable bales were taken and several other bales left untouched it is evident that the work was done by some one familiar with the packing and storing of the fur. This in itself is a robbery of any bales of fur in this district, and on that account will long be remembered. As far valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars has been shipped here for sale annually for the past twenty years, it is remarkable that there have been no previous robberies. Both the R.N.W.M.P. and private detectives are working on the case.

Bulletin News Service.
On Tuesday evening, September 7th, the Knights of Pythias entertained their members and friends in the Burn Hall, which was most tastefully decorated for the occasion and great credit is due the committee who carried out the work. The music furnished by the Burn Orchestra was of a very high order, and the ladies' dresses, with the charm of the ladies' dresses, the knights' uniforms and the artistic decorations of the hall made a guests feel that they had in reality been transported to an entertainment of the Grand Night.

A most excellent programme was provided which was led off under the leadership of Captain T. W. Edwards and Mrs. J. L. Clark, followed by the Knights and their wives.

Luncheon was provided in the low hall by Messrs. Conklin and McCusker, after which the Knights gave an exhibition of their military skill in sword exercise.

The delightful program although lengthy ended all too soon and the dancers were regretfully awing to the tune of "Home Sweet Home" a little after three o'clock.

It would be invidious to attempt to mention any member of the committee outside Captain T. W. Edwards, under whose charge the various committees carried out their duty in a most highly creditable manner.

Bulletin News Service.
Mrs. Mary J. Lundy, of Lacombe, the party holding receipt No. 50 is the winner of the house and two acres of ground which was offered as a prize to the people buying lots in the West Settler addition to the town of Settler. The drawing was conducted by Messrs. W. F. Puffer, of Lacombe, R. L. Shaw and J. P. Greig, assisted by two Miss Longs as the blindfolded ticket pickers and Mr. McBrine as clerk, all of Settler. They took 1154 tickets, one for each lot sold and on the ticket numbered 1154 was marked the word "house," these were all put in a large tin can and shook up well by the parties before mentioned. They then placed the tickets in a ball and the two Miss Longs, who were blindfolded, proceeded to draw out the tickets, one at a time. Previous to all this the receipt numbers had all been placed in a book numbering respectively from 1 to 1154 inclusive, so when the first ticket was drawn the number on it was placed opposite the receipt No. 1, and the second number drawn was placed opposite the receipt No. 2, and so on through the list. The fifth ticket to be drawn was the lucky one marked "1154 house," and corresponded with the receipt held by Mrs. Mary J. Lundy, of Lacombe. Settler, Sept. 13.

Bulletin News Service.

Pine Creek settlement is situated on the north side of the River Saskatchewan, about 40 miles from Fort Saskatchewan. Three years ago this part of the country was a wilderness. The fertility of the soil and bright future prospects, however, attracted a large number of pioneers, who are rapidly transforming prairie plains, willow jungles and poplar bluffs into one of the most magnificent farming sections to be found in Sunny Alberta.

The settlers are hopeful that in the near future railway facilities will remove many of their present grievances.

Labor Day celebration attracted a large gathering of over 300 from far and near. One of the chief attractions of the day was a willow dance. The settlers are so enthusiastic about their progressive farmers that they are taking immediate steps to organize an agricultural society and hold a fair.

The judges discharged their duties throughout to the entire satisfaction of all concerned.

Dinner and supper were furnished by the ladies. The tables were set with attractive and laden with all that could be desired by the most fastidious.

Dancing ended the day's enjoyment. The music was supplied by the Pine Creek Orchestra. Many enjoyed the light luncheon to the strains of sweet popular airs.

One exciting event was a horse race—a half-mile running dash. P. Sweet's pony, Eclipse, took first money; A. Howse's pony, Eureka, second; and J. Robertson's pony, Geo. third. All enjoyed themselves immensely.
