

WHISKARD'S Three Busy Stores

228, 230, 232 Dundas Street

QUALITY IN DRYGOODS

If everyone were a judge of what is good and what is not good in merchandise, a great many drygoods stores would be out of business. Don't always trust the price; it is very often misleading. If you are a judge of merchandise, look at the goods first, then the price. We are willing that you should try the "Three Busy Stores" that way.

Silk Velvet Department.

We are offering 5 pieces of Black Silk Velvet. We won't say what it's worth. What will interest you will be the price. Note, 25 cents yard.

Gents' and Boys' Underwear

Swings into line this week. These chilly nights and mornings remind you that it is time to change from the lighter weights to the warm, comfortable sorts. We are ready to help you make the change at prices we are sure will please you. 65 dozen of GENTS' and BOYS' SHIRTS and DRAWERS, wool fleeced lined, regular 50c garment, or $1 the suit; our price will be 30c for each garment, or 60c the suit. YOUNG WOMAN'S LOVE LETTERS

Found in a Married Man's Trunk by His Wife.

WAS THE DARLINGEST DARLING

Now He Has a Divorce Suit on His Hands—'Tootsie' Sued by the Wife.

New York, Sept. 12.—A bundle of tropical love letters, which Mrs. Douglas Wilder Caulkins, of Yonkers, found in her husband's trunk last week, has caused a split in the Caulkins household, a suit for abandonment, and a suit for $25,000 damages for alienation of affections against the fair author of the letters, says the Sun.

Caulkins is a young man well known in Yonkers. He is employed by the Brewsters' and Distillers' Mercantile Agency of 309 Broadway, this city. His wife was a Miss Frances Galligan, daughter of Patrick Galligan, a prosperous Yonkers contractor and quarryman. She is very pretty, and since the wedding, four years ago, not even the most intimate friends of the couple had the slightest suspicion of any trouble till now.

Mrs. Caulkins says that there was no trouble until about three months ago, when her husband began to stay out late at night, and sometimes remained away for two or three days at a time. When she asked him about his frequent absences he always said that business demanded his attention, and she was satisfied with this explanation until one day last week. Then she found a bundle of letters in a woman's trunk which she had found in her husband's trunk. The following is a mild sample:

SAMPLE LETTER.

"My Darlingest Darling,—When will I be able once more to place my arms about your neck, and whisper the words of love which you know so well? Ah, hasten the day when we shall be together! It fills my heart with joy and fondness every time that I hear of you. I miss you so much, and I miss your footfalls of my beloved one. I never knew what love was until you came into my life.

"It is a fine thing to have such a good, true man as you to love me. We will get married, of course. Sometimes I have wondered if you have told me all your life. Surely you could not be married and whisper the words of love that you do into my eager ears! You are my life!

"Dougie, dearest, come to your own tootsie wootsie soon."

The young woman who wrote this letter was Miss Mabel Secor, daughter of a well-to-do dairyman of Dobbs Ferry, Miss Secor is 22 and is very pretty.

This and other letters which Mrs. Caulkins found indicated clearly that Miss Secor did not know that Caulkins was married.

Mrs. Caulkins thought that the letters explained her husband's absences pretty well, and when he came home that night she sprang the letters on him and demanded an explanation.

THE MAN'S STORY.

She says that he said at first it was a harmless joke, but she finally admitted that he had been making love to Miss Secor. Mrs. Caulkins says she then tried to get her to sue him for divorce, and when she refused to do so, she began an alienation suit against Miss Secor. A warrant was issued for Caulkins last week, but the officer to whom it was given has not been able to arrest Caulkins.

As her husband had made no provision for the support of herself and her 2-year-old son, Mrs. Caulkins retained Lawyer W. H. Torpey, of this city, to bring an action for abandonment against Caulkins. She also began an alienation suit against Miss Secor. A warrant was issued for Caulkins last week, but the officer to whom it was given has not been able to arrest Caulkins.

THE GIRL'S DEFENSE.

The girl's father, speaking for his daughter, said yesterday that she had been completely deceived by Caulkins. He had represented himself at the Secor home as a Buffalo man and unmarried, and the girl had developed a sincere affection for him and had expected to marry him. Mr. Secor denounced Caulkins as a scoundrel who had deceived his daughter just as much as he had deceived his own wife and said that Mrs. Caulkins' alienation suit was outrageous.

FULL OF LOVE.

Lawyer Torpey has a number of Miss

Secor's letters to Caulkins in his possession. They are full of love, but there is no hint of wrongdoing in any of them. The girl evidently had a sincere affection for the man, and Mrs. Caulkins would not be seen at his place of business yesterday, but a friend, speaking for him, said that Mrs. Caulkins' charges were baseless, and that he would defend himself at the proper time.

Lawyer Torpey tried to serve a warrant on Caulkins on Thursday. He brought an officer down from Yonkers for the purpose and sent him to 309 Broadway to get Caulkins. The officer went there, found that Caulkins was in, and then went to the Criminal Court Building to get the warrant countersigned by a local police magistrate. When he went back to arrest Caulkins the young man had disappeared, and all efforts to serve the warrant since have failed.

RAILWAYMEN'S UNION

Formed West of Chicago to Demand Increased Wages.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—The Call says that the union in the history of railroads has been recently formed by the railroad conductors and brakemen on roads operating west of Chicago. The men are dissatisfied with the present rates of wages, and will in the immediate future make a demand for an increase of salaries of 24 per cent. Chairman Stafford, of the executive council of the union, confirmed all of the above statements and added:

"Our organization is perfect. The conductors have been sending out have been signed not only by myself, but by E. E. Clark, grand chief conductor of the Order of Railway Conductors, and J. H. Murray, grand master of the Brotherhood of Trainmen. We have every trainman in the country back of us and we will win our demands."

HANNA'S RIVAL SHOW

Mark Will Offset Tom Johnson's Circus With Palace Car.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 12.—Mark Hanna, alarmed at the success of Mayor Tom Johnson's political circus, will tour the state in a palace car. He will raise the temperature several thousand degrees when he gets to talking.

He is determined to defeat Rev. Herbert Bigelow, Mayor Tom's candidate for secretary of state, and he is expected to invade Cincinnati, Bigelow's home, and preach another kind of gospel from that which Bigelow has of late been preaching while traveling with Johnson's show.

Hanna's stumping career is peculiar in that he has never viciously attacked any of his opponents. He has been expected to invade Cincinnati, Bigelow's home, and preach another kind of gospel from that which Bigelow has of late been preaching while traveling with Johnson's show.

It is a fine thing to have such a good, true man as you to love me. We will get married, of course. Sometimes I have wondered if you have told me all your life. Surely you could not be married and whisper the words of love that you do into my eager ears! You are my life!

CHICAGO GHETTO DATA IS WANTED

Foster Frazer Is Studying Up the Subject.

WILL REPORT TO PARLIAMENT

Illinois State Factory Inspector Starts a War Against Child Labor.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Chicago's Ghetto district and its sweatshops are to be investigated by Foster Frazer, an Englishman, who is collecting data to be placed before the members of Parliament. Mr. Frazer will be accompanied by State Factory Inspector Edgar T. Davies and Acting British Consul Erskine.

The party will examine, first, into the conditions of home life in the Ghetto, will then visit the sweatshops, and from there will go to the factories of the better class. On the tour Mr. Frazer will question proprietors and landlords, employees and tenants.

"I am taking much interest in the investigation," said Inspector Davies. "Mr. Frazer is an authority. He has been a correspondent for Glasgow and Manchester papers for some years, and now is working under the direction of members of Parliament. I am interested, because I have discovered that the minimum wage here is lower than that in England, and I want to prove the fact to Mr. Frazer."

INSPECTOR DAVIES ON CRUSADE.

Inspector Davies during the day began his crusade against factories and sweatshops employing children under the age limit set by law. Accompanied by four of his assistants he investigated several buildings in the Ghetto. These were found to be in a deplorable condition, and the proprietors and owners were warned to make improvements. Unless this is done the city health department will be asked to prosecute.

At 223 Maxwell street the hat factory of Max Finkelstein was investigated. The place was found to need cleaning, and Finkelstein was told so. He promised to clean it up.

At 228 Maxwell street the garment shop of H. Witt was visited. It was up to the standard, the walls being whitewashed and the floors clean. On the next floor Max Goldberg was given a warning to make the place sanitary.

At 22 Maxwell street, Inspector Davies found that a door leading to a sweatshop was without a knob and could not be opened readily. This door out of the twenty men, women and children, and the inspector ordered it repaired. Several other places were investigated, and all children who seemed under age were questioned, but all could produce affidavits giving their age as 14 or over.

Garment shops along Franklin and Market streets were entered next, and seven children under age were discovered. In most cases the firm employing little ones were ignorant of any violation of the law. The parents will be warned and some prosecuted.

In every respect the firms were told to discharge the children, and Superintendent of Compulsory Education Borne was given notice of the fact. His assistants will force the parents to send the little ones to school.

AT UNION STOCKYARDS.

The Union stockyards came in for a close examination, and as a result suits were filed against the Anglo-German Company on the ground of hiring two children under the age limit. The suits are the first of a series that are to be brought in such cases.

The children alleged to be under age are:

John Smith, mother, Aggie Smith. Had affidavit saying he is over 14 years of age, but school records show him to be 12.

Andres Anderer, mother, Maria Anderer. Affidavit says he was born on Sept. 18, 1888, but church records show him to be but 12 years of age.

All the houses at the yards were entered, and affidavits were taken up. These are to be investigated, and if found false will be filed against either the firms or the parents of the children. During the tour through the yards Inspector Davies was informed that all the firms will put in chairs in those departments where women are employed.

LICENSES FOR SWEATSHOPS.

Inspector Davies will try to have the city ordinance enforced which requires all the proprietors of sweatshops to take out licenses. He will ask the license department of the city to make regular tours of inspection and force the proprietors to obey the sanitary laws or lose the right to run their shops. He believes that by doing this he can work wonders before the close of this fall.
