

WEEKLY MONITOR

The Weekly Monitor. WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 26th, 1887.

It appears that we have deeply injured the feelings of our correspondents...

It is not surprising that we have not shown "fair play" and contented that we have no right to revise his letters...

The policy or acts of either of the political parties may be criticised in our columns by any person; but only upon the basis of logical argument, free from offensive terms and personalities.

That Commercial Union is only an electing cry which agitators and politicians have taken up...

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain one of the British Commissioners who will set at Washington on the fisheries commission...

Trimmings of all kinds for Squeaks and Utters... Mr. Brian Macgregor of the town...

Mr. Chas. Hoyt, of the North Sydney, C. M. Telephone Service is in town visiting relatives.

Mr. J. W. Beckwith has been obliged to send reports on Dress Pattern for trial before Shipyard Phinney...

Mr. J. W. Beckwith has beyond doubt, the most superior line of Fall and Winter Millinery...

Mr. S. J. Marshall killed a hog last week, which weighed 250 pounds...
