

ple in the neighborhood that make for righteousness and brotherhood. The primary educational purpose which it is designed to serve, is that of a social observatory, a statistical laboratory, and a field for the researches of post-graduate students. It is also intended to afford opportunity for bringing the students into personal contact with the more distinctively social and economic, industrial and civic relationships of church life and Christian work."

JAMES ROSS.

Presbyterian College.

