His Lordship proceeded to read an interesting correspondence between the Head of the Executive and the Hon. the Chief Justice, announcing the welcome fact of a donation amounting to nearly a thousand pounds, from His Grace the Duke of Weinext. She is to be commended by Captain Van Allen, now of the "Emerald," whose knowledge of the navigation of Lake ington, to found a Scholarship in King's College. His Grace had many years ago subscribed for Welland Canal Stock, and now that the Provincial Government has rendered the Stock available to holders by issuing debentures for the amount held, his Grace was desirous of bestowing it on some public object in Upper Canada. It had been suggested, we believe, by Mr. Merritt, that the St. Catharines Grammar School would be a proper pinger of such parts. The commended by Captain Van Allen, now of the "Emerald," whose knowledge of the navigation of Lake Eric, and gentlemanly conduct, have won for him the confidence and esteem of the public. The London is intended to make two trips up the lake and two trips down each week, abstaining from work on the Sunday. We rejoice at this, and trust that the "Wellington Scholarship" will, for years to come, be a standing reward to merit, and an assistant to genius struggling, perchance, with adverse circumstances or narrow means. present who (apart from all political clap-trap or popularity-hunting) were not morally convinced that the University of King's College is admirably adapted to answer the educational wants of this young country, and, if not destroyed by the attacks of legislation as ignorant as it is remorseless, must prove a deep and lasting blessing to the youth of Canada for years to come; and that no person of any Christian denomination, sincerely desirous of a University education, can conscientiously turn away from its walls, from any peculiarity or alleged exclusiveness in its constitution or discipline. Thousands, who want not and cannot appreciate collegiate institutions, may rail at King's College; but we doubt if, for the next hundred years, a single student of any sect will be induced, by any alleged defects in the constitution, to abstain from entering its academic halls these resolutions form part of the Statute law of the Pilot, Examiner, Globe, Colonist, Banner, and of their underlings; but they be considered a mongst the British Canadians, in a Governor General's speech, or supported by his friends: truly did the Attorney General say, "we are too vague in our politics.' Vague, vague, vague.—Ibid.

THE LATE LORD SYDENHAM'S GOVERNMENT OF CANADA. His object evidently was not to lay the foundation of a permanent system of government there. That would have take a longer period of time than be intended to devote to it. It was to re-organize the Legi-lative body under the Imperial act, put it into immediate operation, carry through his measures at any cost and by any means, produce a temporary pacification, make a dashing and striking effect, and return triumphant to Parlia. Parliament, and say, "I have effaced all the evils that have grown out of years of Tory misrule, and given to the Canadians that which has so long and so unjustly been withheld from them by the bigotry, intolerance, and exclusiveness of that party, 'Responsible Government.'" That short and disas-terous Administration has been productive of incalculable mis-chief. It has disheartened and weakened the loyal British party. It has any hydrogological and strengthened the opposite one. party. It has emboldened and strengthened the opposite one and from the extraordinary means used to compel acquiescence. and obtain majorities, lowered the tone of moral feeling through

He is now dead, and I will not speak of him in the terms should have used had he been living. The object of a truly good and patriotic man should have been not to create a triumphant party to carry his measures, (because he must have known that to purchase their aid he must have adopted too many of their views, or modified or relinquished too many of uis own,) but to extinguish all party, to summon to his cou cil men possesssing the confidence of every large interest in the country, and by their assistance to administer the government with fairness, firmness, and impartiality. No government based upon any other principle will ever give general satisfaction, or insure tranquility in the Colonies, for in politics as in other things, noting can be permanent that is not built upon the immutable foundations of truth and justice. The The fallacy of this 'Responsible System' is that it consists, as the liberals interpret it, of two antagonist principles, Republican and Monarchical, the former being the active, and the latter the passive principle. When this is the case, and there is no third or aristocratic body, with which both can unite, or which can are sent their contact, it is evident the which can prevent their mutual contact, it is evident the active principle will be ruling one.

This is not a remote but an immediate consequence and as soon as this event occurs, there is but one word that can express the result—independence. One great error of Poulett Thomson was, in strengthening, on all occasions, the democratic, and weakening the aristocratic, feeling of the country, than which nothing could be more subversive of the regal authority and influence. Pitt wisely designed to have created an order in Canada, covered dive as far as the different situations of in Canada, corresponding as far as the different situations of the two countries would admit, to the hereditary order in England.

his fewers is now apparent in the great want that is felt of such a counterpoise, but I will talk to you upon this subject some of the rime. — From the new work by Sam Slick.

LATERAL CANAL BETWEEN THE WELLAND CANAL AND KLAGARA.— (From a Communication in the Niagara Chronicle.)

The survey for a Lateral Canal recently effected by the Board of Works seems to establish one of two things—either that the change adverted to is contemplated by the Board, or that as on Lake Erie, they meditate two approaches to the Canal from Lake Ontario. The harbour at Kiagara is probably the best in Canada; it is approachable under every circumstance of wind and weather, and when it is reached, danger ceases. But we are much surprised to hear him say afterwards that Responsible Government had been e-tablished, and he was prepared to assist in endeavouring to carry it out. Now we ask, if the Resolutions of 1841 do not bind the Legislative Council, how do they establish Responsible Government? and if they do not establish it, what is its foundation? Had the entrance the Welland Canal been at Nigara, these disasters could not have happened. The superiority of a good and safe natural larbour case, over an artificial harbour is that it is always open and averaged for the superiority of a good and safe natural that was a supplementation. Another advantage of this harbour is that it is always open and averaged for the interior of the Welland Canal been at Nigara, these disasters could not have happened. advantage to the great depth of water, and a gentle current flowing at the rate of about three miles an hour.

The benefits to be derived from the construction of a Lateral Canal, by the public at large as well as by the inhabitants of the locality who may appear to be more particularly interested, are great and obvious. In the first place, as has struck all capable engineers who have surveyed the country with a view to select the best line, the Niagara harbour is the natural entrance to a canal connecting the two lakes. It is the natural entrance because it is the only safe one; and were it so in fact there dvantage to the great depth of water, and a gentle current of every day to magnetical observations, having for their object

Needles, were displayed, and these observations, we are informed, throw light upon that beautiful and little understood phenomenon, and its close connection with the agency which produces the effects of terrestrial magnetism.

I shall tresspass no further on your readers than to add in Mr. Lefroy's own words, the sense he entertains of the kind-ness and attention he uniformly experienced, from the gentlemen in the Interior. "I feel in the highest degree gratified, by the hospitable attentions of the gentlessen of the Honorable Hudson's Bay Company, and the disposition evinced by them, to carry into effect, the instructions of Sir George Simpson,
