

seeds. As regards values, a strong feeling has recently developed itself, and some speculative buying for holding over until next season has taken place. Red clover in particular, both English and foreign, has advanced 2s. per cwt., whilst white trefoil and alsike also tend upwards. Italian and perennial rye grasses continue very cheap. Sanfoin is exceedingly scarce. There is no change in tares. Mustard and rape seed realize former rates. For birdseeds the demand is meagre.

WOOL.—The market is dull. Wools from the North-West are being sold in Toronto at an exceptionally low price; in fact the manufacturers will get their wool scoured at about 25 to 26 cents average. Quotations are now made by one dealer as under: Medium, 10½c.; fine medium, 11 to 11½c.; coarse, 12 to 12½c. There is nothing doing in fleece wool and none in market. It appears likely from the best information we can obtain that the price to farmers will be something around 17 or 18c. Wool of a like class in London, England, is just now quoted at 9½d. to 10d.
