CITY AND ELSEWHERE.

ST. BONIFACE COLLEGE re-opens for boarders this evening. Classes will be resumed to-morrow morning.

The number of patients treated at the St. Boniface Hospital last week was 62, of whom 32 were males and 30 females.

The Northern Pacific railroad is putting in a large number of grain-loading platforms in the Red River Valley. There is a heavy demand for them and three crews are kept busy constructing the platforms.

We trust our readers are not forgetting the grand open air concert by St. Mary's choir, under the distinguished patronage of His Grace Archbishop Lavigeau, O.M.I., at the palace grounds St. Boniface this evening. Tickets 25 cents. Refreshments free.

The total number of patients treated in the Winnipeg General hospital for the week ending Saturday, Aug. 24th, was 106, of whom 57 were males and 49 females. The daily average was 78. Thirty-four out-patients were also treated during the week.

The shipments of stock to the east from the province and territories seems to be growing larger all the time, and yet there is no scarcity of cattle. For this week 300 cars were consigned to the east, which will make the largest shipment of any one week on record.

PICNIC AT ELM PARK.

St Vincent de Paul Society Has a Pleasant Outing.

From the Nor'Wester.

The annual charity picnic of the St. Vincent de Paul Society took place last Thursday at Elm Park. The day being perfect for an outing, a large number were present. Lunch and tea were served, which were well patronized. During the afternoon a long list of sports was gone through, and dancing was indulged in to the strains of Wigston's orchestra. The best thanks of the society are due to the following for generous donations, which contributed largely to the success of the picnic: Sir John Schultz, His Grace the Archbp. of St. Boniface, H. J. Macdonald, Messrs Paulin & Co., McPherson Fruit Co., W. J. Boyd, Tasse, Wood & Co., of Montreal; J. B. Payne, W. A. Dixon, W. T. Rutherford, H. A. Nullman, P. Shea, Ryan & Lee, Hebb and Wilkes, J. Y. Griffin, Maurice Nokes, D. H. Coakes, C. H. Cranston, R. P. O'Donoghue, O'Kelly, Bros., P. O'Connor, B. Frank, W. Dimarco, D. T. Lennon, Prof. Barre, George Andrew & Co., Barre Bros., Parkin, T. C. Thurman, Leland House, Geo. Clements, E. McEwan, Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Alex. Taylor, A. J. Smale, A. G. Morgan, W. Pulford, C. Welband, Beliveau & Co., Finkelstein & Co., C. J. O'Connell, J. C. Gordon, A. Chevrier, H. Wilson & Co., C. McKinnon, E. Hughes, S. J. Barrowclough, Consolidated Stationery Co., V. Mager and J. Erzinger.

During the afternoon a programme of sports was held.

ST. EUSTACHE.

ST. EUSTACHE, Aug. 23.—Hay making and harvesting, which in these parts go hand in hand, are progressing rapidly. The crops are splendid, indeed some one told me recently that they have oats six feet and four inches high, and so thick that they could only cut half the usual amount at a time. I think this may be open to doubt as I did not see it myself, but certainly farmers and all are delighted over their prospects this year.

For a short time the nights have been very cold; last night we had a great appearance of rain and a little thunder, but, fortunately, the storm has left the air warmer. On the 20th there was a frost which touched the cucumbers slightly, but, happily, it does not appear to have done any real damage, and I hope the harvesting will get safely over before Jack Frost starts paying us regular visits.

HOLY CROSS COLLEGE.

From N. Y. Sun, Aug. 2.

Deserving of particular attention among the Catholic institutions for the higher education is the College of the Holy Cross at Worcester, which was incorporated in 1865 by the Massachusetts Legislature, and has from the start been under the charge of the Society of Jesus. A review of the catalogue of the academic year 1894-95 will make it evident that this establishment is in a flourishing condition, and that its Bachelor of Arts degree is less easily acquired than is the diploma of the same name at some older and richer universities. An extensive capacity for usefulness is attested by the fact that the staff of professors and instructors comprises over thirty members, while the number of undergraduates and resident graduates is two hundred and fifty.

This institution consists of a college proper and of a preparatory school, which, as regards the lines of work pursued, may be compared with a German gymnasium. Altogether, the course of study prescribed for the attainment of an A. B. degree covers seven years, three of which are passed in the preparatory school and the remaining four in the college. The last year is devoted exclusively to the natural sciences and rational philosophy. In no year is any of the studies elective. The study of French is obligatory for three years; that of Greek, Latin and mathematics for six years. It is well to note the scope and character of the work performed in these three departments. No young man can graduate from Holy Cross without a thorough mathematical education; that is to say, without having mastered arithmetic, algebra, plane and solid geometry, plane and spherical trigonometry, surveying, navigation, analytical geometry, and the differential and integral calculus. In Latin he must be conversant with the grammar, including prosody, and be able to write Latin prose. He must have read NEPOS's "Lives," the "Epitome Historiae Sacrae," PHÆDRUS, CÆSAR's "Gallic War," OVID's "Metamorphoses," selections from CICERO's letters and narratives, the "De Senectute" and "De Amicitia," and a large number of Cicero's orations; the Eclogues, Georgics, and "Aeneid" of VIRGIL, the "Odes," "Epodes," "Satires," "Epistles," and "De Arte Poetica" of HORACE; SALLUST, the "Germania" and "Agricola" of TACITUS, and finally JUVENAL and PERSEUS. Scarcely less noteworthy are the requirements in Greek. A candidate for the A. B. degree must not only display a minute acquaintance with Greek grammar and the ability to write Attic prose, but he must have read the selections known as "Greca Minora," certain dialogues of LUCRAN, the "Anabasis" and "Cyropaedia" of XENOPHON, HOMER'S "Iliad," the "Olynthiacs" "Philippics," and "Pro Corona" of DEMOSTHENES, the "Alcestis" and "Hecuba" of EURIPIDES, the "Prometheus" of ESCHYLUS, the "Antigone" of SOPHOCLES, and the orations of ST. JOHN CHRYSOSTOM. We should mention that the progress and competence of every student in these and other subjects is tested by examinations, two of which are held in every year.

No qualified person can inspect the catalogue of the College of the Holy Cross without being deeply impressed with the value of the educational services rendered by the Jesuit Fathers to our Catholic fellow-citizens. We add that the opportunities here offered are not limited to those possessed of considerable pecuniary resources. The sum of $235 a year covers the necessary expenses of a student at this institution.
