

FOREWORD

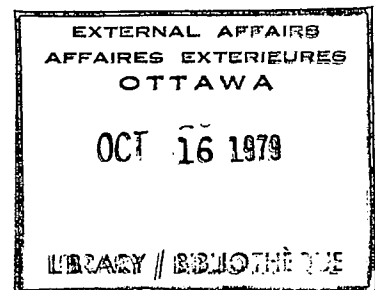

This composite index has been prepared to increase the usefulness of the departmental manuals. Where there is uncertainty as to which manual to refer to for guidance on a specific subject, the index should prove a valuable management tool.

As in the 1971 edition, the aim has been to strike a balance between under- and over-indexing. Users are invited to submit comments or suggestions for improvement based on their experience with the index.

Posts and Divisions may obtain additional copies of the index from Administrative Publications Section (ACSA).
