

Figure 1: Strategic Objectives, Business Lines and Other Government Departments

Strategic Objectives	Business Lines	Other Departments ¹
Prosperity and Employment	International Business Development Trade and Economic Policy	CIDA Industry Finance Environment Immigration Agriculture	Heritage Public Works Revenue Transport Fisheries & Oceans Natural Resources Provinces
Protection of Our Security	International Security and Co-operation	RCMP Justice Immigration Security and Intelligence Service Indian Affairs & Northern Development	Solicitor General Health National Defence
Projection of Canadian Values and Culture	Public Diplomacy International Security and Co-operation	Provinces CIDA Immigration	Heritage Environment Human Resource Development
Quality Services	International Business Development Assistance to Canadians Abroad (Consular) Passport Services Corporate Services Services to OGDs	Immigration Industry Human Resource Development Elections

¹ (Portfolio departments and major partners are in bold type.)

Many of the department's activities are already managed horizontally. One prominent example is the integration of activities in a single business line (e.g. the Team Canada visits under the International Business Development business line). The integrated mission abroad is probably the most significant example of the department's horizontal management and co-ordination activity, uniting as it does a number of Government of Canada functions (e.g. trade promotion, political and economic relations, immigration, international assistance, tourism) in a single management structure and with a single face for the host country and travelling Canadians.

3.3.3.1 Other Government Departments

The department has a leadership role, confirmed by Program Review, to ensure that Canada speaks with one voice in the community of nations on issues of concern to all Canadians. This is given practical shape in a number of departmental co-ordination