economic analysis carried out by a royal commission has demonstrated the need and the economic feasibility of such a plan. Studies by church groups and many others approaching the problem from the point of view of what is right, ethical and sociably desirable rather than from an economic standpoint, have also found reason to ask for a medical care plan which is universal in its availability and applicability to all the people of this country.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Is the house ready for the question?

Some hon. Members: Question.

The house divided on the amendment (Mr. Rynard) which was negatived on the following division:

Mr. Speaker: I declare the amendment lost.

Mr. Diefenbaker: Mr. Speaker, if the house would permit me, the reason that the mover of the amendment upon which we have voted, the hon. member for Simcoe East (Mr. Rynard), is not present is that he was taken to hospital after an attack this afternoon.

Mr. Pearson: Mr. Speaker, I am sure that all members of the house will be very sorry to hear that. I hope my right hon. friend will
