The new addition which the Sisters of St. Joseph are making to their hospital will, it is expected, be ready on August 6th, at which an appropriate celebration will take place. The structure is of white brick, and will be fitted and fursished up in all latest appliances and improvements. The cost of the building itself is $20,000. The ladies of Guelph, under the charge of Mrs. James Smith, Mrs. J. E. McEllerry and Mrs. James C. Kelcher, have undertaken the farmishing of the ladies free ward at a cost of $300, and the ArchConfraternity of the League of the Cross, also of this parish, are furnishing the men's free ward at a similar cost. The committee in charge, are President, J. M. Purcell; J. P. Downey, P. O'Conney, Vice-Presidents; G. L. Inggins, Secretary; J. E. McEllerry, Treasurer; assisted by Messrs. E. Doyle, J. McMahon, Wm. Carroll, F. Numan, J. A. Sullivan and others.

Monday was an ideal picnic day and St. Mary's church picnic held in Ardagh's grove Barrie, was very largely patronized and was an immons success. Altogether there were about 700 people on the grounds. A long list of sports was run off in the afternoon, including running, jumping, pole vaulting, etc., and a baseball match was played between Barrie Juniors and picked nino, which resulted in the defeat of the latter. A large platform was creeted and a merry crowd danced all afternoon and ovening. During the ovening the drawing for prize-tool, place Wr Haughton Lennes, acting as master of ceremonies. Mes Annie of Neill was the lack, winner of the arm thair and George Se, atman of an oil portant of Doan Lgan. Master D' vey U Neill won the case of oranges.

The Most Difficult Music.

A number of the most celebrated of French pianists were recently asked to state the piece which they found it most difficult to execute. The answers are naturally most varied. There is a general agreement that difficulties of style are much less easy to overcome than those of technique. From the standpoint of mechanical difficulty M. Marmontel thinks Beethover's Sonata Op. 3 the most redoubtable piece, M. Diemer and M. Plante acord the palm to Balackireff's "Lislamey," and M. Pfeiffer finds himself embarrassed between the claims of Lutt's "Rhapsodies and Studies," Transcriptions," and Alkan's "Variations," M. Delaborde discreetly and enigm. sically replies that the most difficult piece for him is invariably the piece which he happens to be playing at any moment. M. de Beriot the modest scale—demanding as it does the most perfect equality throughout—is the supreme difficultly, and one must work at it, he declares, until one's last breath.—[Westminister Gazette.

Pat's Fatth in the Doctor.

"One of the mast remarkable cases of fatth I have ever seen," said a well known physician recently, "occurred when I was a student in Philadelphia I had a patient, an I rishman, with a broken leg. When the plaster band ago was removed and a lighter one put in its place, I noticed that one of the plus went in with great difficulty, and I could not understand it, A wock afterward, in removing the pin, I found that it stuck fast, and I was forced to removed it with forceps. What was my astonishment on making an excamination to find that the pin had been run through the skin twice in stead of through the oloth.

"Why, Pat," said I, "didn't you know that pin was sticking in you?"

""To be shure I did, 'replied Pat; but I thought you knowed your business, and so I hit me tongue—[Buff-alo Commercial.

It Got the Jury.

It Got the Jury.

Justice Vaughan Williams tells many a good story, but the following is one of the best from the bencu. A counsel for the defence only put one question to all the witnesses called by the other side, and it was: "Have you an umbrella!" Invariably the answer was "Yes." Even the policeman had an umbrella. The counsel then said: "This is very suspicious; every witness has an umbrella"; and the jury acquitted the p..soner without looking round.—[Household Words.

The Thirteen Superstition.

The conservation turned upon the fatal number, Friday, salt-spilling, and other superstitions.

"It is not well to make too much fun of such matters;" gravely remarked Erichanteau. "For instance, I had an old uncle who, at the age of seventy-seven, committed the imprudence of making one of a dinner party of thirteen."

Advice to Swimmers.

In a little telk on swimming, a writer in Harper's Round Table gives some oxcellent and transly advec to swimmers. Young swimmers will do well to read it carefully, and then cut it out and refer to it often:

'Diving is certainly the best way for you to enter the water—always provided that you know all about its depta. Nothing can be more un heatthy than the dawdling habit of wading out ankle deep or knee deep. The hot sun beats down on your head. Your feet and legs are in the cold water, the temperature of which is anywhere from 10 degrees to 25 degrees lower than that of the air.

'You can't remain long under these conditions without injuring yourself. Nature's plan is to have the head col and the extremities warm. Go contrary to this, and you are in trouble. Probably most of you can remember having a head.cole some time or other from this very cause. Indeed, physicians will tell you that many attacks of cramps in the water are due to the swimmer's foolish habit of wading nory slowly. Deranged circulation causes cramps. In places where it is not safe to dive you can easily drop on your head. Then hurry forward and throw yourself in—all in. Will other follows laugh at your precaution? Well, let them laugh, and pay for it with the twinges of cramps. I have been swimming twenty years, and I have never had a cramp, simply because I've followed the rules laid down here.
