THAT WHICH COWS HER,
She does not heed electric cars
Which go with such intense
She does not for the trolley wire
Whose voltage is immense.
The old excruciating brings
No terror to her brow.
But when she's in the country she will
Run across on grassy ground and climb
Her barb wire fences to escape the air-
fibre though inquisitive gaze
Of an aged, docile cow.

NOT A VERY BLUE MONDAY.
Two Prisoners' Names on the Request Programme.

THE POLICE COURT DOCKET.
Drunkenness, vagrancy, wife-beating, attempted suicide, trespass and assault were the cases which furnished the Monday bill of fare for Aldermen Reid and Witton at the Police Court this morning.

Mary Gillies, a woman of doubtful character who has made herself a nuisance to the police and to the residents of every neighborhood in which she has lived, was charged by P. C. Nixon with being drunk and disorderly last night. She was arrested on Young street at a late hour while she was very much intoxicated and using very bad language. She was narrowly escaped being sent down some weeks ago on a charge of keeping a disorderly house. After hearing the testimony of several of the prisoners' neighbors the court found that Gillies guilty but decided to give her until Saturday to get out of town. She said her husband was working in Stratford and she would go there as soon as she could sell her furniture.

Jack Burnett was charged with vagrancy. Chief McKinnon made a few remarks about the fact that Jack was a well-known vag, and that the city would very quickly get over the pain caused by putting with him.
The prisoner has a horror of jail, and said, "Let me gang out the noo, and I'll ne'er cam' back again."
Ald. Reid—Will you get out of town?
Burnett—Yes, I will.
Ald. Reid—When?
Burnett (as he picked up his hat and started for the door)—Now, just this very moment. (Ald. Reid called out.)
Ald. Witton—Here, come back! You are not out yet.
Burnett looked surprised, and the alderman continued, "It's just 10 o'clock now. If you are found in the city at 11 o'clock you will go down for a long term."

"All right," said Burnett, as he smiled to some cronies among the back-benchers and then hustled out of the court. James Williamson was charged by Rev. W. Massie with allowing a horse to run at large. The clergyman found the horse wandering over his house and took it on Friday night and brought it up to No. 3 Police Station, where it was taken to Temple's livery stable. The poor animal was so weary and worn that it could hardly walk to the court, and it gradually grew more miserable and worn out, until finally it concluded that death was preferable to life, and died. The death occurred yesterday, and this morning Williamson swore that he did not own the horse. He said he sold it to a stranger two months ago for $1.50, and the stranger never came for it. (Laughter.)
The case against Williamson was dismissed.

Frank Taaf was arrested on Saturday on a charge of assaulting his wife, Charles Turner and James Fahey furnished bail for him and he was released. When the case was called this morning only Mrs. Taaf appeared. Her husband had been seen earlier in the day trying to get his wife to withdraw the charge. The case was enlarged until to-morrow.

Robert King, the eccentric chimney sweep, was brought up on remand this morning on charges of trespass and disorderly conduct. He appeared much quieter than on his previous appearance and he was allowed to go. Before leaving the dock Robert raised his right hand dramatically saying, "You whippersnappers, I'm like the man told in the story who started up the Queen's chimney—"
Ald. Reid interrupted the prisoner and told him to go home and keep a civil tongue in his head, and on that note he was discharged.

Thomas Cornish, the man who tried to commit suicide on Aug. 5, by walking into the bay, was again remanded to jail for a week. He reported gradually improving.

ZION TABERNACLE.
Rev. Mr. Shearer Eulogizes Rev. Dr. Brethour.

Large congregations listened to the excellent sermons delivered yesterday at Zion Tabernacle. Rev. Mr. Shearer, B.A., preached in the morning from Num. xi. 6. The rev. gentleman spoke of the two prevailing tendencies to parody the feelings of the mixed multitude in the church of the living God. Rev. Dr. Brethour, pastor of Zion Tabernacle, was most heartily commended to the congregation by his charge by Rev. Mr. Shearer, the rev. gentleman testifying to the high esteem in which he is held as a Christian man and eloquent preacher of God's word, and congratulating the congregation upon securing such able pastor to reveal God's truth in the next three years. A very large congregation greeted Rev. Dr. Brethour in the evening. He is winning his way into the hearts of the people by his noble largeness and deep interest in their eternal welfare. The musical part of the services by the able choir of the church was particularly fine.

FOR OLD ACQUAINTANCE SAKE.

Among the many at Niagara Falls, Ont., on Saturday afternoon was Mr. John McKean, of No. 44 Young street. This rising young barrister was hurrying along Bridge street to catch the electric car for Queenston, when he was hailed by a stranger with "Hallo, Mr. Deputy Clerk of the Crown, will you lead me 25 cents?" John was taken aback. Drawing himself up to his full height he asked, "Who are you, and by what right do you request me to lead you money? I know you not; I never saw you before." "Oh, yes, you have," was the rejoinder, "and conversed with me, too. My name is Stephens. Don't you remember when we met in the Court House in the city of Hamilton?" "You asked me 'Are you guilty or not guilty?' and I replied, 'Not guilty.' Now I think you might lend me a quarter for old acquaintance sake. Mr. McKean, admiring the fellow's gall, gave him 15 cents, and Stephens made a break for the bar of the Kosh House.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

On Saturday evening a man rushed into Peace's cigar store and announced that there was a fire at Bredden's planing mills. While the telephone station was being called a gentleman ran out to see what was the matter, and returning, reported that a lot of straw was on fire. This was communicated to the Central, but the reply came back that Bredden's was closed and could not be got by telephone. While "Central" was being made to understand that it was not Bredden's but the Fire Department that was wanted a messenger ran over to King William Street Station and got the chemical company and engine to the scene. If the fire had been in the mill instead of outside it might have done untold damage in the time that was lost.

CITY AND COUNTY AFFAIRS.
The Property Committee Meets—Special County Committee on Jolt Expenses.

At the meeting of the City and County Property Committee on Saturday afternoon, it was decided to charge $50 a year rental for the office occupied by the County Public School Inspector in the Court House. In this case the county finds itself its own tenant, the city claiming a share.
The committee decided to charge the Hamilton Homestead & Loan Society $6 for use of gas in its offices.
The matter of repairing the jail walls was considered, and a sub-committee consisting of the warden, Mr. Dickenson and Ald. Martin was appointed to have the work done. The sub-committee will make an inspection next Saturday afternoon.

After the Property Committee had adjourned, a meeting of the Special Committee to whom had been referred the proposal of the city respecting joint Jail and Court House expenses was held, and after some conversation the members instructed the County Clerk to reply to the city that the County Committee intended to recommend to the County Council that the city's proposition be not accepted.

A YOUNG WIFE'S SAD DEATH.
Mrs. Arthur Buscombe Dies While Visiting Friends in London.

In the best of health and anticipating a delightful two weeks' visit to relatives and friends in London, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Buscombe, of Inebury street, left for that city on Saturday evening, August 11th. They spent last Wednesday at Port Stanley, returning to London on the evening of the same day, when Mrs. Buscombe was taken ill with inflammation of the bowels. Her mother, Mrs. Alex. I. Wingfield, of Queen street, was sent for on Friday. Her father received a telegram on Saturday night about her death, and left by the midnight train. Mrs. Buscombe died at 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Buscombe was a member of Eskine Church. The sudden and sad death has cast a gloom over the west end, where deceased was held in the highest esteem by friends and neighbors. She was the only daughter of Mr. A. H. Wingfield, of M. Customs street, and had been married three years. In her bereavement the grief-stricken husband and parents have the sympathy of all. The remains arrived this afternoon and will be interred to-morrow.

TO TAKE JAYNES BACK.
A London Detective Has Arrived From the Old Country.

Among the arrivals at Montreal from England on Saturday was Mr. R. Outram, detective inspector, of 26 Old Jewry, London. Mr. Outram came to Hamilton yesterday, the object of his visit being to take back to London Jaynes, the solicitor's clerk who was arrested here some weeks ago on the charge of having embezzled £500 of his employers' funds. Jaynes was employed as clerk by Stanley, Woodhouse & Hedderwick, Bank Chambers, Piccadilly, for over 14 years. Detective Outram expected him with that honest view of the steamer Vancouver on Saturday. Jaynes' unfortunate wife and children, who were the unwitting instruments that led to Jaynes' capture, are in any thing but affluent circumstances, and will be left to their own resources when Jaynes is taken back.

LIQUOR CASES COMING ON.
The Sheriff Was Busy on Saturday Night and Sunday.

Licence Inspector Walter was on the watch, as usual, on Saturday night and Sunday, and as a result of his Sunday night visits two charges will be investigated by Magistrate Jells. The defendants will be James Blows, who keeps an hotel on Stuart street, and the proprietor of the St. Nicholas Hotel. The inspector visited many other places on both Saturday and Sunday. He has returned with two more charges, one against a man named Jones who keeps an hotel on St. George street, and another against a man named Smith who keeps an hotel on St. George street. He reported gradually improving.

HALF RATES TO WASHINGTON, D.C., AND RETURN VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

For the biennial encampment of the Supreme Lodge and Grand Encampment of the Knights of Pythias will be held at Washington, D. C., August 27th to September 5th, inclusive, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell, from August 23rd to 28th, inclusive, round trip tickets to Washington and return at rate of a single fare for the round trip. These tickets will be valid for return passage until September 6th, with a further extension of the validity for the purpose of securing tickets with joint agent at Washington on or before September 6th. Excursionists also have the privilege of returning from Philadelphia stopping over at Baltimore and Philadelphia within limit of their return tickets. This arrangement will afford a rare opportunity for the public to visit the electric car for Queenston, when he was hailed by a stranger with "Hallo, Mr. Deputy Clerk of the Crown, will you lead me 25 cents?" John was taken aback. Drawing himself up to his full height he asked, "Who are you, and by what right do you request me to lead you money? I know you not; I never saw you before." "Oh, yes, you have," was the rejoinder, "and conversed with me, too. My name is Stephens. Don't you remember when we met in the Court House in the city of Hamilton?" "You asked me 'Are you guilty or not guilty?' and I replied, 'Not guilty.' Now I think you might lend me a quarter for old acquaintance sake. Mr. McKean, admiring the fellow's gall, gave him 15 cents, and Stephens made a break for the bar of the Kosh House.

GAELIC SOCIETY'S EXCURSION POSTPONED.

A special meeting of the Gaelic Society was held in the Celtic Hall on Saturday, President D. J. Campbell of the Gaelic Society and other visitors were present. The principal object of the meeting was the discussion of the annual picnic, and on motion it was unanimously agreed to postpone it until August 25th until Monday, Sept. 3rd, Labor Day, which will be a Dominion Holiday. The steamer Acacia has been hired for the occasion, and a splendid programme of Highland games will be held at the Braut House. Gaelic songs were sung and Pipe-Major Smith and his pipe band gave selections.

FOUND DEAD NEAR THE BAY.
The End of James Lochhead is Somewhat Shrouded.

AN INQUEST WILL BE HELD.
About 5 o'clock on Sunday morning Geo. Lee, while walking along Rush street, a thoroughfare about 100 yards in length that runs westerly to the bay from near the foot of Bay street, came across the body of a man lying in the road. He immediately notified the police, and Constable Knox had the body removed to the morgue, after notifying Dr. White, coroner, of the circumstances. The body was found near enough to the water to indicate drowning, and there were no marks of violence upon it. The face was much congested. Dr. White consulted with Mr. Grevat, the Crown Attorney, who advised the holding of an inquest.

During the morning the body was identified positively by Mr. James Hannah as that of James Lochhead, who had been working for him for some time putting in drains, making sewer connections and the like. Deceased was a man of about 40 or 45 years, and had been of such poor health that he was unmarried and had long been a resident of this city. On Saturday he was around the city as usual, and was seen at about 8 o'clock by Willie Orton, near the City Hall. He was watching the Salvation Army, and was seen to contribute to the collection. When the army moved away he went in the same direction. He had room at No. 191 Napier street, but was not at home on Saturday night.

This morning Coroner White opened an inquest at the City Hospital at 11 o'clock. The jury was composed of Messrs. Hugh Torrance (foreman), Daniel McDonald, James Hyde, John Smyth, Hugh Bowman, John O'Neil, Wm. Keender, John Bradley, Patrick McCarthy, Geo. Gray, Oliver Beatty, James Wall, and Fred Johnson.
In the dead house the jurors saw the remains of a short, thickly set and very poorly dressed man, with a swollen face but no cuts or bruises.
The body was then adjourned until Wednesday evening at No. 2 Police Station, James street.

Dr. Stark and the house physicians subsequently made a post mortem examination.

REFUGE SURETIES ACCEPTED.
The Old Fever Hospital Again Full of Diphtheria Patients.

This morning Ald. McGillivray, Reid, Colquhoun, Hall, Witton, Milne and Martin, of the Hospital Committee, met at the City Hall and examined the sureties offered by the contractors for the new House of Refuge. All those offered were considered good and were accepted, but Mr. J. G. Hahnau, the brick-work contractor, was asked to provide one additional surety. He agreed to do this on condition that the time for completing the job be extended one week. The committee thought as there has been delay due to the contractor in starting the work, the request was reasonable and will extend the time.

Chairman McGillivray reported that the plan of the new house is not yet ready for occupation. When the old building was overcrowded before and it became necessary to send out patients to be nursed in the city $10 a week had to be paid. As the place accommodates only 10 patients it was thought advisable to get the new hospital ready for use at once and the Chairman was authorized to let it closed out as soon as possible. He set men to work on the job inside of an hour.

A MUSCULAR COCKROACH.
Moves a Bell Weighing Seventeen Ounces With Apparent Ease.

Much has been said about the muscular power of that little kitchen pest, the beetle or cockroach. It has been said that a beetle, if confined beneath an ordinary glass plate, will in a very few minutes, in its efforts to escape, steadily push the tumbler forward. A lady on Herkimer street, two weeks ago, saw a beetle upon her bedroom carpet, she instantly stepped on it with a bronze bell, the weight of which was subsequently found to be 17 ounces. Going to an adjoining room the lady heard a gentle rattle, "tink, tink" and returning to the bedroom ten minutes later she found that the bell had been moved along the carpet over four feet. The beetle had shoved the bell along this rough surface, and she asked to be permitted to examine the insect. It was found to be a cockroach, the power of Samson over the gates of Gaza, or even his special effort with the pillars of Dagon, were "not in it." Weigh it for weight, the cockroach exhibits a muscular power which Hercules would have envied. The above incident is a fact. Some clever youth home for the holidays might work out the problem: if one beetle can push a solid substance weighing 17 ounces, how much in weight can be moved by one man weighing 180 pounds?

Among the subjects which the city representatives have to bring up are the establishment of a park at the beach, the payment of the township's share of the cost of laying the sidewalks at the beach, under the agreement entered into last spring, and the joint care of the canal reserve, in case the Dominion Government agrees to the proposition made to and favorably received by Mr. Hall, Deputy Minister of the Interior, when he was here a few weeks ago.

THE GARDEN OF DREAMS.

There's a beautiful Garden of Dreams,
That one finds as the daylight dies,
Where the golden sunlight gleams
O'er sapphire-tinted skies.
Where the moonbeams sedately spreads
Its vaguely-sweet perfume,
And stately lilies rear their heads
And chaste white roses bloom.
O, the air it is soft and the birds up aloft
Seem to carol a singing refrain,
That tells their delight that the earth, for to-night,
With its woods is forgotten again.
And the angels are smiling a good-by
To grief.
In the mystical silence, it seems,
And soul that was weary has found its relief
In this beautiful Garden of Dreams.
—Town Topics.

There's a beautiful Garden of Dreams,
That one finds as the eyelids close,
Where amid the glad sunbeams,
A shadow comes and goes—
Ah, a shadowy face as purely fair
As moonbeams of the south,
With burnished coils of ebony hair
And a clear rose for a mouth,
It's a love of the past that may only
Die at last.
In this Garden of Dreamland exist,
And must vanish from sight with the Death of the night
In the morning's contemptible mist,
But fair is the dawn in the sun's purple
Fleeting rays.
And yet, to my thinking, it seems
I would not exchange a whole lifetime
of days
For my beautiful Garden of Dreams.
