THE KEY OF LIFE

And, day by day, unchanging through the ages, Though ears are deaf and eyes are blind [with mist, He, Who was worshipped by the Eastern Sages, Is throned amongst us in the Eucharist.

Yea, that dear Christ, born of the spotless [maiden, In yearning love still cries to souls [distressed— " All ye that labour and are heavy laden, Come unto me and I will give you rest."

FINIS,