

I'm so frightened. I've never been afraid before in my life. I've seen crowds before, huge crowds, but never a crowd like this. They always used to shout and wave their hats. But these people are silent as,—why, silent as Death.

I recognise lots of people who are waiting outside the Church. There's the King who went shooting with Master lately,