Of the twelve foot-fitting shapes in which "The Slater Shoe" is built, "The Commonsense" is especially designed for business men by reason of its sensible, high-grade, made-to-order appearance. One of the most comfortable of the "Slater" models, tapering very little in width from ball of foot to toe.

The toe is round and full but not high, with box pliant and roomy but not clumsy or wide looking, as a square toed shoe of the same size would be.

"The Commonsense" is a shoe which will be best appreciated by gentlemen who buy shoes for wear and comfort first, making fashion a secondary consideration. At the same time it is handsome, fashionable and strictly a sensible-looking shoe.

Leathers of the highest grades that money can buy.

Colors: Black and the fashionable shades of tans.

Prices $5.00 and $3.50, and these are stamped on the sole with the makers' name and price in a slate frame. This stamp endorses the shoe to the full value of the money you pay for it.
