WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9.-More letters from the secret files of Count partment of justice. Among them were instructions to all German consuls in the United States to get German subjects out of plants producing materials for the Allies.

The consuls were ordered to stop Germans above the rank of common laborers from working in such plants, under a section of the imperial code and to report to the German consulate at New York.

Spent Vast Sums.

Bielaski testified that Germany spent more than $7,500,000 for the dissemination of propaganda in this country from the beginning of the war. Some of this, he said, was used in purchasing controlling interests in newspapers, some for the printing and distribution of pamphlets and some was sent to the German consulates in principal cities. The money used for propaganda was obtained largely through the sale of cordial in its attitude toward the British as Field Marshal Haig's troops move eastward, according to an undated discorposary of the cordinate necessary.

Blelaski was asked by Senator Overman to put in the hearing an account of the activities of Bolo Pasha, executed in France as a spy, while he was in this country. "Since Bolo is dead now." Senator Overman said, "it won't hurt anything to talk about him."

In a note book of Dr. Albert, which we have in our possession this entry appears: 'Prepare telegram to Pasha.' That shows conclusively that the embassy knew intimately of Bolo and probably knew of his activities."

An attempt to purchase an American newspaper which would be in sympathy with Germany was made, without success, Blelaski said. Shortly before the United States entered the war the Printers' and Publishers' Association was organized by Dr. Hugo Sweitzer, Wisemann, he said, and an effort was made to obtain $2,000,000 for the purchase. The scheme fell through however, when the German embassy refused to sanction it on the ground that the organizers had "too German names" and that it would be under suspicion from the start.

THE BEST KIND OF POLICY =

Men often ask the question, "Which is the best policy for me? Upon first class risks it makes no difference to the company. Some writers have argued from a one-sided view, that the less money paid for protection the better; but it all depends upon circumstances. Protection is not like house rent, or like an article that can be worn out and consumed, and leave no future value behind it. Life insurance must inevitably souple the future with the present. A man of limited means and large insurance needs will find the cheapest insurance in a full life participating policy, while the man of larger means or of independent fortune may profitably take the ten, fifteen or twenty payment policies. In the event of early death, the latter will have paid more, but in case of living he will not only pay less in the aggregate, but will experience the satisfaction of having his insurance fully paid up before he is old. It is simply an outworking of the law of average, as the interest equalizes the different propositions,

Notwithstanding the higher cost, the advantages of endowment fusurance are distinct and worthy of the most careful consideration.
