lavishly in making this intense romance and love story a classic in scenic and realistic merit. Jane Cowl, who made "Within the Law" and "Common Clay" such wonderful plays, is the star in "The Spreading Dawn" and she is supported by notable players. For those who like fervid heart-affairs, big strong stories, this play today will have a tremendous appeal. The remainder of the bill consists of Signor Guarino, Italian tenor; Eva & Adele in their accordeon and violin duets, a Drew comedy and the second issue of the British Government Cinematograph Weekly.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE Every day is a holiday this week at the Opera House for the vaudeville programme offered is especially suited to the season—five good acts, every one amusing, entertaining and just the kind you like. Louis London, English singing comedian, has the house in uproars of laughter at every performance,—he is everybody's favorite and is a whole show in himself. The ventriloquist act presented by Captain Powers and Company is a great treat for the children and sented by Captain Powers and Company is a great treat for the children and grown-ups as well. Nestor and Vincent offer some juggling feats that are surprising and novel; Ivanhoff and Varvara are both good musicians and Verce and Verce present a delightful comedy skit with a number of good acrobatic feats that round out a well assorted vaudeville offening.

Dr. Shacknove, a well known Jewish physician, was found dead in his office at Whitney Pier the other morning, having committed suicide by hanging. at Whitney Pier the other morning, having committed suicide by hanging. Doctor Shacknove had been in a despondent mood since the Halifax disaster. He was one of the physicians who went to the stricken city to aid in the relief work and since his return to Whitney Pier had talked incessantly of the dredful scene witnessed by him while there. His body was found hanging in the doorway leading to the private office adjoining his drug store. The unfortunate man used a piece of cheesecloth as a rope and had thrown it over the transom with the top of the door to commit the deed. He had been dead for apparently twenty-four hours when found Dr. Shacknove is survived by a wife and one child. His parents reside at Hamilton, Ont., while a brother and sister are now living at Stellarton, N. S. The deceased was upwards of forty years of age.
