POLITICAL WAR BREWING IN BRITAIN

CENSURE NOTE ON GOVERNMENT EXPECTED SOON

Unemployment Problem to Be Considered On July 24

SEARCH FOR HELP

Nine Owners Give Notice of Termination of Wage Agreement

By HERBERT BAILEY, British United Press. LONDON, June 24—A political storm—the outcome of the economic crisis which Britain is now facing—is rapidly brewing. While Ramsay MacDonald is moving a vote of censure on the Baldwin Government, which will likely be taken next Monday, a special trades union congress has been called for July 24 to consider the whole problem of unemployment and the effect of the calling of this conference will undoubtedly be to stimulate opposition to the government unless the Prime Minister has something up his sleeve which gives promise of immediate amelioration of the situation. Friends of the Premier say that he has declared that the problem cannot be solved except by slow and gradual steps. Others suggest that enormous relief works like the harnessing of the Severn for the supply of electrical power to the west of England and to London itself might absorb numbers of unemployed. Labor insists, however, that Baldwin is incapable of handling the present situation.

INDUSTRIAL RELIEF

The Chambers of Commerce are now trying to discover how the industrial situation can be relieved while at the same time a direct battle between capital and labor is avoided for they believe that such a conflict at this time would be fatal to industry. Even a crisis, however, might have a beneficial effect in that it would call attention to the basic facts of Britain's economic future, showing the enormous superfluous costs with which industry is burdened and that those must be lightened. Yet such a crisis would have a damaging effect on the government and it would mean a change in the attitude of Britain in regard to the debts owed to her by other nations. Meanwhile the mine owners are determined definitely to end the wage agreement at the end of next month. At present the miners are showing a conciliatory spirit, realizing that a strike would be of no benefit to them. They are resisting with all their might, however, the suggestion that seven hour days as established by parliament be abandoned and a return to the old eight hours a day. If the miners persist in their demand an ugly situation will be created. A. J. Cook, the leader of the miners, continues to promise that he has an overwhelming surprise for the government which will make Baldwin shake in his shoes but he has promised this so long that the miners are growing a little tired and sceptical.

CRISIS FORESEEN

LONDON, June 24.—The prolonged trade depression and consequent steadily mounting unemployment in Great Britain which have long been subjects of grave comment now have reached a point where a crisis is foreseen. The Laborites mostly put the blame on the government, which they accuse of doing nothing; the employers cite high wages and short hours, as among the chief causes of the trouble, while the government ministers seem to adhere to the view that they can only undertake active intervention at the request of both the employers and workers. The situation came to a head yesterday with the closing of a joint inquiry by the operators and miners representatives into the position of the industry, which has been one of the worst sufferers from the depression. The owners announced they would give formal notice on June 30, of their intention to terminate the present wage agreement at the end of July, and also demanded resumption of the eight hour working day now legal for miners. The miners' executive meeting today to discuss the situation, preparatory to a national conference of miners' delegates, fixed for July 5, when the whole situation is to be debated.

RAILWAY MEN UNEASY

Concurrently with the mining trouble, there is serious unrest among the railway men, who are at odds with the companies regarding wages and working conditions. A conference between the employers and workers in this industry has been called for tomorrow. Meanwhile, the labor party is determined to press the government to do something to relieve the acute industrial situation, and it has given notice of a vote of censure against the administration for having failed to take such steps.

SOVIET AMBASSADOR CALLED TO MOSCOW

Russia Believed to be Much Concerned Over Proposed Security Pact

BERLIN, June 24.—The departure of the Soviet Ambassador, M. Krostinsky, for Moscow, lends color to the opinion generally voiced in diplomatic circles is much concerned over the proposed security pact for western Europe. M. Rakovsky and M. Krasin, the Soviet envoys in London and Paris, also have been summoned to Moscow. Repeated editorial feelers in the Moscow press, warn Germany that she risks estrangement with Russia if she binds herself to the western European powers in such a manner by the Rapallo treaty, which was negotiated during the conference of the allies in Italy, in 1922. On the German side, it is argued, that the Rapallo treaty does not forbid an arrangement such as is contemplated by the security pact. On the contrary, it is pointed out if Germany joins the League of Nations, with which the Rapallo treaty already is registered, she can destroy it in a bag and make any arrangement she decides in the League of Nations executive council, where Germany will have a seat, must be unanimous.
