THE CONFERENCE.

Matters affecting the Dominions are receiving much attention in England. It is announced that the Imperial Government at the coming session will ask Parliament to make effective its offer of credit for the development of the Dominions and Crown Colonies. It is explained that the credit is to be in the form of a loan toward interest charges on money raised for capital expenditure on such undertakings as power, light, water, drainage and so forth, whether publicly or privately controlled. We are further told—

"Assistance would be in respect of expenditure on orders placed in Great Britain and in anticipation of work which otherwise would not be undertaken for some years. The maximum loan will be three-quarters of the interest charges for a period of five years and during this period the loan itself bears no interest. In order to qualify, a scheme must be accepted by the Imperial Government within the next three years. Priority will be given schemes involving the earliest placing of orders. The objection has been raised to it that the provision requiring orders to be placed in Great Britain may act as a detriment."

The Economic Conference has been considering the question of a foreign policy, to enable the needs of the Empire to be filled within the Empire. The question of a Canada-West Indies cable has been considered, as well as that of steamship subsidies on that side. The questions of Empire defence may come up, and phases of foreign policy, tariff preference and Empire settlement are we told, to be further discussed. The Conference will conclude its sessions next Friday, and a Canadian Press cable says that its chief value has lain rather in the exchange of views, enabling the different Dominions to understand each other's difficulties and limitations.

BRITISH TARIFF AND CANADA.

The following is a summary by the London correspondent of the Montreal Gazette and New York Times of the fiscal plans of Premier Tupper as set forth in his Manchester speech—

"To put a tax on manufactured goods, with special regard for those imports that caused the greatest amount of unemployment among the British people; to give substantial preference to the Dominions; to put a tax on wheat or most; to have investigated most carefully the best way to help agriculture and maintain the tillage of the nation; to examine and co-ordinate and improve existing schemes of insurance against those evils that affect the life and health of the people, such as old age, ill-health and unemployment, and to develop the Empire."

Referring to the cotton industry, in which Manchester and near-by cities are deeply interested, the Prime Minister pointed out that while the export of cotton spinning machinery was profitable it had to be for competition in India and elsewhere, and India was going to be content with the Empire, independent of the United States for its cotton, sugar and tobacco supplies. The Empire, in his view, must safeguard its home market as the United States had done.

While Mr. Baldwin says there will be no tax on wheat, it is assumed that British wheat growing will be subsidized or otherwise encouraged, and it is further believed that Canadian flour may not get the full advantage of the market. One correspondent believes a British tariff on manufactured goods would bring many branch factories from the United States into Canada; if it were made clear that their products would get the benefit of the British preference on Canadian goods. There is, indeed, much speculation as to how a British tariff would affect Canada, and further developments of the British Government's policy is awaited with much interest by more than the wheat growers and millers.

Meanwhile Mr. Asquith is to stage a free trade demonstration in London next week, and Mr. Lloyd George is nearing the shores of England.

The re-seeding experiment on burned over forest lands at Tabusiat was watched with very keen interest, but of even greater importance is the encouragement of proper growth on lands where the natural process of regeneration is in progress. All over the province are areas where trees grow so close together in the young growth that the production of lumber large enough for the saw is practically impossible.

Alberta has voted for the sale of liquor under Government control, and for the sale of beer in licensed premises. These four provinces, Quebec, British Columbia, Manitoba and Alberta are against out-and-out prohibition. The people of Saskatchewan will not doubt be influenced by the Alberta verdict. The advocates of a change in Ontario and New Brunswick will be stimulated to renewed activity. The reaction that has set in the west is due to two causes. One is ineffective enforcement of the law, and the other is the hope of the people that, since liquor is being consumed in large quantities, the Government's share in the profits may ease the pressure of taxation. The prohibitionists of Alberta had relied on the former note and the votes of the women, but these have obviously failed them. So far as New Brunswick is concerned, the Government is not expected to make any change until it has been submitted to the vote of the people, and there, so far as the province is concerned, the matter rests.

There is a rumor to the effect that Hon. A. T. Cresser will return to Parliament at the next session to take an active part in the discussions in the House. He was present but a few days last session, and it was explained that his duties as head of the Grain Growers' Association made it necessary for him to withdraw from active politics. Now, we are told by an Ottawa correspondent, with the business machinery of the Association running more smoothly, he will be free to join his fellow Progressives in the House. If he does so his presence will add interest to the debates, for Mr. Cresser has proved himself an able and courageous politician. Remarking that the Progressives will rejoice, the Ottawa correspondent adds—"His resumption of Parliamentary duties will also be cordially welcomed by both the Liberals and the Conservatives, because of his rare qualities as a Parliamentarian and as a man."

Their friends, and they are many and more than one country, will wish Rev. Dr. Morrison and Mrs. Morrison peaceful days and pleasant in their secluded cottage among the evergreen by the shore of the St. John River, below Catter's Point. One can hardly imagine a location more suited to study, reflection, and literary work. Those who go up and down the river in summer are disposed to be envious of the owners of so delightful a summer home, which to lovers of New Brunswick's climate is not less attractive in the winter. Their friends will anticipate something worth while from the pen of both husband and wife, as a result of their winter in "St. John's Wood."

Conditions in the Western Provinces are improving as a result of the excellent crops. Some localities are of course more fortunate than others. Southern Manitoba reports a poor crop and Alberta a remarkably good one. Reviewing the situation a Toronto Globe writer says—"On the whole, the farmer will be able to make a considerable reduction in the debts standing against him, but it is doubtful if he will be able to wipe the slate clean."

This condition of improvement will of course mean a better demand for goods from the Eastern Provinces.

Here is some more testimony regarding the value of tourist traffic. It is a fact that for many years a writer for the press of the city, and later interested in providing entertainment for the people. Of late he has performed the duties of a magistrate. Mr. Anderson was a general kindly man. In his active years in the city he had a very wide circle of friends, whose sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

When the Quebec Legislature meets in December there will be thirty-two new faces in the House. Whereas in the last House there were but five in Opposition there will now be twenty-two, and whereas there was not in the former Opposition a single lawyer there are now six. A much more lively session than that is anticipated.

The new agricultural school at Fredericton should have a very beneficial effect upon agriculture throughout the province, but especially along the St. John valley.

TO LLOYD GEORGE.

(Geo. S. Chappell in N. Y. Life)
Welcome, O comely Cambrian!
We like your peppy style;
We like the clever way you ran
Your right and tidy line.
We like your witty words which strike
The bone that makes us laugh.
And now your job is done, we like
The way you stand the gaff.

For years we watched you scale the heights,
Or bridge the yawning voids,
While Britons calmly slept o' nights,
Insured in full by Lloyd's.
And now once more our favorite name
Of us of fate disgorge,
And link two countries in the claim
Of an immortal George.

IN LIGHTER VEIN.

Daddy Annoyed.
Tommy—Pa, what is an equinox?
Pa—Why, er—It is—ahem! Tommy, don't you know anything about mythology at all? An equinox was a fabulous animal, half horse, half cow. Its name is derived from the words "equine" and "ox." It does seem as if our public schools don't teach children anything nowadays!

Too Many Turns Out.
An Indian bought a car, and a few days later was in the hospital. A friend who was visiting him asked how it happened, and he replied: "Start for home. Drink um hooch. Meet um car. Turn out for car. Drink um hooch. Meet um man. Turn out for man. Drink um hooch. Meet um bridge. Turn out for bridge. Bang."

Ask the French.
"This town," said the driver of the hired machine touring from Erie to Buffalo, as they passed through Hamburg, N. Y., "was settled by the Germans."
"You don't say so?" exclaimed the stranger. "Let's stick around here a good while and look at it. I've just been studying the war debt problem, and it is interesting to me to look at anything the Germans actually settled."

How He Knew.
Clergyman—There was a stranger in church today.
Wife—What did he look like?
Clergyman—I did not see him, but I found a dollar in the contribution box.

Wise Child.
"And what," asked the Sunday school teacher, "is the lesson taught in the parable of the seven wise men?"
Nine-year-old Ruth held up her hand.
"That we should always be on the lookout for a bridegroom," she answered.

PAGES OF HISTORY.

(London Times.)
Sir Leicester Harcourt has given a noble gift to Canada in memory of his brother, Lord Northcliffe. His collection of letters, diaries, and manuscripts, including the celebrated Monckton papers, is a veritable treasure-house of information on a dramatic period of the Dominion's history. Moreover, Wolfe's original letters and orders are documents of national importance, the appropriate place for which is in a national shrine such as the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa. The "disappointment" throughout the Dominion at the failure of the government to acquire the Monckton papers when they were offered for sale in London nearly three years ago. This generous gift will come, therefore, not only as a boon to the Canadian historian, but as a delightful surprise to the general public. It is a fitting memorial to a man whose life was devoted to the preservation of all things relating to the history of the Dominion, and whose humble beginning, the Department of Public Archives in Ottawa has grown into an impressive museum. The collection is the third valuable addition made to the Department during the present year. The first is a comprehensive collection of documents relating to the Canadian administration of Lord Durham; the second is the collection of six volumes, known as the Monckton-Leslie-Vaudreuil collection, which contains the correspondence of the civil and military leaders during the closing years of French rule. Still further stimulus was given to the Department of Archives as a result of a suggestion, contained in the correspondence between Lady Minto and Lord Minto, which was published last June. Lady Minto's proposal that an association should be formed of members of those families, both in France and in England, which have been identified with the history of Canada, for the purpose of adding their memoirs and records to the known history of the Dominion, promises already to bear fruit. The present Dominion Government has been quick to appreciate the national value of this awakening interest in the past, and has promised to provide the Department of Archives with a fine new building more in keeping with its possessions. To observers in the old world there may seem to be little room for tradition in the daily round of the new world overseas. In the enthusiasm of commercial and industrial activity, the consciousness of increasing wealth, population, and national status, it is certainly easy to forget the past and to concentrate only upon the needs of the present. But the people of Canada are rightly proud of their remarkable history, in which are blended the courage and the enterprise of two great nations. They will assuredly be grateful for a gift which is not only a priceless record of the brave days that are gone, but a living inspiration to the generations yet to come.

THREE DEAD IN BATH, PERHAPS FROM LIQUOR.
New York, Nov. 6.—Three men were found dead in a Brooklyn Russian bath establishment in which they were employed. The police began an investigation, declaring there was evidence of wood alcohol poisoning. Several empty bottles, which appeared to have contained whiskey were found near.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

(Moncton Transcript.)
Coming as it does at a time when the people of New Brunswick seem to need cheering up, the official opening of the dry dock at Courtenay Bay, St. John, today should prove a sedative to those whose nervous condition is such that they can see nothing ahead but blue ruin, and it should be a further stimulant to those who have confidence in the province. The celebration in connection with the official opening is sufficiently marked to indicate the importance of the event not only to St. John but to the province as a whole, for what will aid St. John will aid the rest of the Province. The dry dock is the largest in the world. The fact should be noted as indicative of a great New Brunswick accomplishment at a period when circumstances were against it. Its opening should give to St. John one of that city's greatest opportunities. Freight traffic from that port was developed from small beginnings to a huge aggregate, because no dock of this kind was available.

It is a matter of keenest regret that the dry dock is prevented by illness from being present at the opening. The former Lieutenant-Governor, who is the man whose name is inseparably associated with Courtenay Bay development, and the dry dock is part of that scheme. If Hon. Mr. Pugsley could be present today he would see the inauguration of an undertaking which he saw with a prophet's vision many years ago.

(Fredericton Mail.)
The dry dock at East St. John, which was formally opened this afternoon, is the largest dry dock on this side of the Atlantic, and is not exceeded in size by any structure of its kind in the world. And it is well built. It should be a tremendous asset to North Atlantic shipping interests, and profitable for all concerned. Already the dock is the subject of a number of proposals for the building of a second, and another to be repaired, and there is reason to believe it will be the subject of a third. The great number of steamers in season past have been taken elsewhere for repairs because no dock of this kind was available at St. John.

There have been great changes at Courtenay Bay since Hon. William Pugsley, as Minister of Public Works, succeeded in convincing the Government of the necessity of the necessity of proceeding with the development of that side of the border in order to take care of the rapidly increasing traffic over the Transcontinental. At that time the Government was pledged to a policy of Canadian traffic through the Canadian Pacific. Had that policy been adhered to, as Sir William Laurier and Sir Robert Borden urged, St. John would without doubt have had in Courtenay Bay several very large piers, and the Transcontinental system, and there would have been a low grade connection between the Transcontinental and the Valley Line, with a tremendous volume of export and import traffic through Maritime Province ports. As great a share of that traffic as these ports can handle should be insisted upon now, and there should be no delay in equipping St. John and Halifax to handle a great deal more of it in the near future.

BIG LIAR WELL MATCHED.

(Moore Jaw Times.)
A Lloyd George story which that gentleman must enjoy himself has been received from a Toronto reader who enjoyed the speeches and personalities of the Welsh wizard during his recent visit.

In the days when disestablishment was very much to the fore in Wales, Lloyd George achieved great local repute by his campaign against the Bishop of St. Asaph, whose church defense speeches afforded his young and agile opponent ample material for criticism and reply. At one of Mr. Lloyd George's meetings in Flintshire, the chairman—a Welsh deacon with strong convictions, but no sense of humor—introduced Mr. Lloyd George thus:

"Gentlemen, I have to introduce to you tonight the member for the Carnarvon Boroughs. He has come here to reply to what the Bishop of St. Asaph said the other night about Welsh disestablishment. In my opinion, gentlemen, the Bishop of St. Asaph is one of the biggest liars in creation; but, thank God—yes, thank God—we have a match for him tonight."

The story is told with great gusto by Mr. Lloyd George himself, whose sense of humor is too strong to enable him to suppress a good story, even at his own expense.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

(Ottawa Journal.)
Oswald Barry, a young Ottawa bicyclist who took part in a recent Toronto competition, was placed in a position where by taking an advantage of a technicality, he would have been declared winner. Instead he waived the technicality, acknowledged his adversary as the better man, and asked that he be not awarded the prize. In commenting upon this conduct, the judges of the race wrote:

"It is a splendid thing for the sporting world and particularly for cycling that you would not avail yourself of any opportunity to try to disqualify a man when you had no reason to do so but when, by doing so, you would have won the coveted honor."

As we told you at the time and have told others since, your whole conduct has impressed us to a degree that we have decided to give you a special medal for Good Sportsmanship. Mr. Barry should be tickled to lead such a fine crowd of boys as Ottawa can boast."

AN HISTORIC SWORD.

(Canon G. C. d'Easum, 46 Merrivale street, New Westminster, B. C., is the proud possessor of a sword carried by his uncle, Major d'Easum, who, as an officer of the Eighth Hussars, was one of the famous "Six Hundred" that made the immortal charge at Balaclava—the "Charge of the Light Brigade." Major d'Easum was wounded in the shoulder by a "grape shot," which was about the size of the present day marble.

The sword is of exquisite workmanship and was fashioned by T. T. T. George the clipper represents is not clear, although the sword, when carried by Major d'Easum in the memory of the charge at Balaclava, was being new. The sword is lavishly etched and inscribed with gold. As one of the swordsmen of the day, it is remarkable, and in spite of the fact that it is at least one hundred years old, it is extremely flexible.

ADULTS SHOULD HAVE AT LEAST ONE MOVEMENT OF THE BOWELS EVERY 24 HOURS, AND CHILDREN TWO OR THREE. FAILURE TO HAVE IT MEANS CONSTIPATION, THEN HEADACHE, BILIOUSNESS, DROWSINESS, LACK OF APPETITE. GIVE A DOSE OF DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPIN AT BEDTIME, AND THERE WILL BE HEALTH AND GOOD FEELING IN THE MORNING. A DOSE COSTS LESS THAN A CIGARETTE, AND CAN BE HAD AT ANY DRUG STORE. COLDS AND CONSTIPATION COME TOGETHER, SO IF YOU NOTICE COUGHING OR SNEEZING STOP IT AT ONCE WITH LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPIN.

PUT IT UP TO COUNCIL.

A special committee was recently appointed to arrange for a general meeting at which the formation of a St. John branch of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association might be undertaken. The committee met yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms with Rev. J. V. Young, the convenor, presiding. After some discussion it was decided that the formation of a branch of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association was too large a matter for the committee to push up.

N. B. HENS SCORE.

A pen of barred Plymouth Rock hens at the Experimental Farm, Fredericton, have set a mark for the continent in the recent egg laying contest. This pen produced 2,483 eggs and No. 1 hen in the pen 808 eggs, in the twelve months. These constitute records for the continent.

MOTHERS KNOW A DOSE OF DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPIN WILL KEEP THEM FIT.

THE experienced mother is not alarmed when a child becomes sick. She knows that most of the ailments of childhood are trifling. If it seems serious she calls a doctor, but whether or not she calls him, she gives, first of all, a good laxative medicine. The doctor would advise that anyway. It is his "first aid." Such experienced mothers as Mrs. G. R. Paquette, Pierreville, Que., and Mrs. J. F. Beale, 325 Johnson Ave., Winnipeg, always give Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepin at the first indication of sickness. Such timely doses have saved them much worry.

Give Laxative for Colds. Adults should have at least one movement of the bowels every 24 hours, and children two or three. Failure to have it means constipation, then headache, biliousness, drowsiness, lack of appetite. Give a dose of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepin at bedtime, and there will be health and good feeling in the morning. A dose costs less than a cigarette, and can be had at any drug store. Colds and constipation come together, so if you notice coughing or sneezing stop it at once with Laxative Syrup Pepin.
