WORTHY CAUSES

The organization yesterday of a provincial branch of the St. John Ambulance Association places that movement on a proper basis for successful organization in New Brunswick. Doubtless this afternoon's meeting will place the Boy Scout movement on a similar basis. Both bodies seek to serve the social welfare of the people, and both are more than national in their scope. The citizens of St. John should welcome both, and encourage their growth in the city and province. There are so many influences which tend to divert attention from those agencies which build character and make social service a rule of conduct that every large movement uniting the people for social betterment should be given hearty support. There are in this city many who have ample means and leisure to enable them to devote a portion of their time to the promotion of such organizations as the two named, and it may be hoped that the appeal to them will meet with a ready response.

THE REAL EAST NEGLECTED

Some British business men are returning home after giving the assurance in Montreal that they will sound the praises of Canada. They have seen Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, and the west—and that to them is Canada. They did not discover the maritime provinces. Several other British delegations of one sort or another have had a like experience.

There is an agent of New Brunswick in England. Does he get in touch with these parties before they leave home and point out to them that there is a considerable section of Canada south and east of the St. Lawrence? Is any attempt made by the New Brunswick government or by boards of trade or other organizations to have such parties, on arrival at Quebec or Montreal, invited to extend their explorations to this region? This matter is of sufficient importance to command consideration. The people of the mother country want to know about Canada. We want them especially to know about this part of Canada. First hand knowledge is best, and the way to secure it is to visit the east as well as the west.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

Applauding the statement of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the west that Canadian loyalty is not dependent on any tariff agreement, the Maritime Merchant takes the ground that such an agreement is really not practicable. We quote:—

"It would be a very serious people that couldn't be loyal unless it were to the advantage of their pocket. It would be contradictory to British traditions were we of Britons to develop now whose loyalty would depend upon an advantage in the markets of the motherland. But it may be said that the majority of good thinking Canadians, whatever they say, think of the preference per se, are now agreed that as an intra-imperial measure the preference principle is not practicable. The best judgment of statesmen to day seems to indicate that every unit of the empire will have to work out its own fiscal policy independently of each other part."

The Merchant is right in his interpretation of the views of statesmen. Theoretically, an imperial preferential system has its merits as an attractive programme, but the moment we get down to cases, and ask how such a system is to be worked out to the mutual satisfaction, let us say, of Canada and Australia in the English market, the difficult nature of the task becomes evident.

TRADE WITH JAMAICA

A prominent merchant of Kingston, Jamaica, in an interview published in this week's Maritime Merchant, expresses the opinion that it is only a matter of a few years until Canada has captured the entire trade of that island. He says that not many years ago the bakers of Jamaica declared they could not do anything with Canadian flour, but that their prejudice has been overcome and Canadian flour is now imported both from Halifax and through Boston and New York. This merchant says the tariff preference has been of benefit to the Jamaica sugar industry. He is confident the time is not far distant when Canada will ship large quantities not only of flour, but farm products generally to the island. The fruit trade with Canada is improving, and capable of large expansion. He does not, however, believe that a faster steamship service is required, taking the view that slower boats consuming less coal would make cheaper rates. Good freight boats, in his opinion, are the chief requirement.

THE BRITISH NAVY

The Times-Star has already called attention to the fact that in June last the Imperial Maritime League petitioned the British prime minister to obtain sanction from parliament for a loan of one hundred million pounds for national defence. This petition was signed by 188 officers of the navy and army, of flag and general rank. In July a second petition, with a further list of signatures of distinguished officers was presented, and at the end of August a third petition with still more signatures was submitted. The total number of signatures of high officers of the navy and army is 337. The signers declared in their appeal "That national danger does threaten and that the need of special effort to meet it is urgent." They quote a statement by Mr. Balfour that "no well informed person doubts that any scheme adopted by the government for strengthening the navy would have the hearty support of the Unionist Party." The petitioners suggest the appointment of a committee of naval and military officers to co-operate with those of the admiralty and the army council, in formulating a scheme to spend the loan to the best national advantage, and in a manner that would command the confidence of the public. One of the improvements which they consider to be necessary is the provision of an aerial fleet.

UNCLE SAM'S INTERESTS

Mr. Sydney Brooks in Harper's Weekly asks the American people to consider the relative claims of Britain and Germany upon their confidence. He puts the case clearly in this way:—

"Have Americans ever conceived themselves menaced by the British command of the sea? Would they be equally satisfied if Germany were to occupy the position so long and with such general acceptance held by Great Britain? They are well aware, no doubt, that the possession of Canada binds Great Britain automatically to good behaviour throughout the Americas. Do they feel confident that they have any equal hold over Germany? They have long since, I believe, acquitted Great Britain of all designs upon the Monroe doctrine. Have they returned an equally favorable verdict in the case of Germany? American commerce and power are inextricably intermingled with those of Great Britain; the downfall of the British Empire, which would be the inevitable consequence of the destruction of British sea-power, would paralyze every financial and commercial interest in the United States for at least a couple of decades."

OBITUARY

Dr. Norman McNab

Montreal, Sept. 16.—Dr. Norman McNab, son of Brenton A. McNab, of the Montreal Star, died today of typhoid in a Grand Trunk Pacific camp, 170 miles west of Saskatoon.

He was a native of Moncton, and was the physician on the steamer Montreal running to St. John last winter.

John Carney

John Carney, of the North End, was stricken with a hemorrhage in Charlotte street yesterday and died soon after. Dr. Berryman, who was summoned, rendered temporary aid and was assisted by Dr. Fleming of the Hospital staff. The ambulance was summoned, but the unfortunate man died before he reached the hospital.

Mr. Carney was for many years actively engaged in the hack business, but retired on account of ill health. Surviving are three sisters and one brother. The sisters are Mrs. J. T. Tibbette, of England; Mrs. Setling, New York; and Mrs. Joseph Martin of this city.

Frederick News

Frederick, Sept. 16.—The case of Thomas Hayes, of St. Mary's, who is charged with keeping liquor for sale, came up at the police court this morning. Scott Act Inspector McFarlane appeared for the prosecution, and Hayes was not represented. A. D. Gunter, who seized the 240 bottles of liquor at Hayes' place a couple of days ago, was the only witness.

Mr. Gunter told of finding the liquor hid under a rear shed at Hayes' property and of it being reached by a secret trap door covered by a carpet. The case was adjourned until tomorrow morning, when it is understood the conviction will be made and the liquor ordered to be destroyed.

The cases of White, of St. Mary's, and Campbell, of this city, were adjourned for another week, and in another case the papers had not been served, owing to the absence of the party from the city.

Hal Hatheway, of the Bank of British North America, brought the first big game of the season to town this morning. Mr. Hatheway shot the animal at Fort-Belle yesterday.

Charles Fitzpatrick has resigned his position as clerk at the Queen Hotel. Mr. Fitzpatrick has been behind the desk at the Queen for the past six years.

Miss Lulu Fletcher, of St. Mary's, is to be married on Wednesday next to Harold A. Allen, of Gibson.

CURIOSITY

Leads to Investigation and Truth

What shall we do to be saved? was the title of one of Robert Rogers' lectures. People of faith and people of no faith flocked to hear the thousands were asking, "What shall we do to be saved?" The answer is, "It is the man that causes dandruff, dandruff hair and finally baldness; and the only thing that will do it is Newbro's Hairdressing. This is the very latest discovery of the laboratory, and it is the only product on the market that will kill the pestiferous dandruff germ. It also is a delightful hair-dressing, free from oil or grease or sticky substances. Try it and be convinced of its actual merit. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

One dollar bottles guaranteed.

BE STRONG

We are not here to play, to dream, to drift. We have hard work to do and loads to lift. Shun not the struggle—face it, 'tis God's gift.

Be strong!

Say not the days are evil—who's to blame? And fold the hands and acquiesce—O shame! Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name!

Be strong!

It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong. How hard the battle goes—the day how long. Fight not! Fight on! Tomorrow comes the song!

—M. D. Babcock.

TRUE TO LIFE

George Ade at a dinner at his Indiana residence, said of his two years' silence: "You see, I am thinking up original and realistic ideas. And for my new heroine I have hit on a remarkably good thing. It is so simple and so true. It is a wonder it never occurred to Pinero or Harlow or somebody before."

"What is it?" a guest asked eagerly.

"My heroine," said Mr. Ade, "is a brute in the first act and a blonde in the last."

A BOOK LOVER

The old man was endeavoring to do a little missionary work behind the big stone walls.

"What brought you here, my son?" he queried of an inmate.

"I am here, sir, because of my fondness for books," he answered.

"Indeed!" exclaimed the good man in surprise. "What kind of books, may I ask?"

"Pocket books," briefly replied the other.

PROPHETS DIFFER.

"It's going to be a long cold winter."

"How do you know?"

"Look at the husks on the ears of corn; how thick they are."

"Shucks! They grew that way to protect the ears from the hot, dry weather."

SCOTCH HUMOR

A golfing party going the rounds concerning a British peer. He had been playing very badly and his reserve finally broke down, when, left with a putt of less than two feet, he sent the ball six yards beyond the hole. "Can you tell me how I can improve my game?" he asked his caddy—a well-known local character.

"Weel!" replied the caddy, reflectively. "If ye could only drive as far as ye can putt, and putt as far as ye can drive ye'd be no sae bad."

MORNING LOCALS

Col. Carleton Jones delivered an interesting address before the nurses in the General Public Hospital last evening taking for his subject, Army Nursing.

Dr. J. W. Daniel, M. P., also spoke.

At the home of Major MacLaren last night, Col. G. C. Jones, and Capt. Birwhistle, of Ottawa, were entertained with several others, to a delightful luncheon.

On the steamer Simcoe yesterday afternoon, there was a moose and deer, the former a victim of the rifle of George Lewis, Queen's county, and the deer, a prey to S. B. Dunham, Public Landings.

A petition is in circulation requesting the city council to take measures to have the illumination of the shopping district continued. Ald. McDougall said last night that he was informed that the merchants were willing to pay 75 per cent of the cost if the city would pay the rest.

The Presbyterian church at Chipman has called Rev. J. P. Polley of Ferris, N. S. Rev. J. H. A. Anderson presided at the meeting.

Say, Boss, did you read it?

Read what my boy?

About those five dollar patent leather boots at Steel's Shoe Store, on Main street, there near the police station; well he is selling them for three dollars and forty-five cents a pair.

I do not believe it.

Well, it says so in the paper, anyway. My mother got a pair for Jack and five dollars was stamped right plain on the sole and all she paid for them was three dollars and forty-five cents.
