SIGNIFICANT SIGNS.

A very large number of people turned out Monday to the first great meeting of the Liberal campaign. We think the significance of so large an attendance was that the every-day people are becoming thoroughly aroused on the economic question of reciprocity apart altogether from their views on party politics. There were more than three times as many people at the meeting last night as could be got together with beating up to attend the gathering which commissioned Hon. Mr. McBride to tell King George V. McBride is taking an unusual risk in throwing himself into the campaign of insult which is being daily heaped upon the people of Canada from ocean to ocean by the spielers of the opposition who have no better argument against reciprocity than an attack upon the loyalty of British subjects who are loyal to the core. When the citizens of Victoria vindicate the reciprocity ada going to prepact, as they will do without any serve this blessed doubt upon September 21, the people heritage of libwho vote for it will not forgive the erty, or are we to hypocritical politicians who have slandered them without measure, tunate conditions rhyme or reason.

There can be no better evidence or this than the attention which was paid which we find so much to criticize Tast night to the excellent addresses of across the bound-Mr. Patullo and Mr. J. T. Cowper.
