t time, prinwho practised and is now Kings Co., is good practise eives calls for listrict, He re, last week. Feb. 7.—The of Belleisle 1 ival services in ouse at Thorne-evangelist from ing him in the connection with ciation, was to ion at Cody's h the books, no cted, and the d till Tuesday, t Act inspector was at Cody's tation of coun eement endort the late sesuncil at Gageceives a fixed viction in eases and, a pie social re held in the Cove. A num-Among the rs. N. C. Scott. aslett and Mr. Millidgeville programme was nomy; reading. The Census e, Keith; readinstrumental an: recitation. The Fashion-

COVE.

The receipte Martin entereir friends on ng whom were Count De Bury Annie Dchaney

Miss Ada Kirk:

SEG.

Co., Jan. 6.-A the ladies of hurch at the 31st ult. was the following rumental, by ic, vocal duet. le Purdy; read-Miss Jennie The Broken a Dykeman; In the Shadow nventor's Wife. music. Break by Miss Laura ing, The Bunch Springer. The $35, go tohis new house heated by a enlarged his

EATED.

and disqualitoday personal brib.

Queen square ay evening was one. The all, preached a from the word church daily ed." A mummembership ellowship.

ebruary, 18th

prrison, ice daily from p. m.

BROWNE'S DYNE

DON NEWS, of

Chlorodyna FIO FOR

RY, CHOLERA Chlorodyne. ll-known rem S. ASTHMA RHOEA, etc., nt Stamp the

BROWNE. s. 134d., Ba. 9d PORT

don. W. C. M. READ.

CIALIST. mont Street Boston, Mass.

THE LAST SCENE By day and night we watched the steps Of neture's stern destroyer, Thi days and nights had turned to year We gathered kindly by her.

Then He who sends us what is best Took pity on our blindness, And sent His blessed messenger, Who always comes in kindness.

And then there came the peaceful end Of all our hopes and fears, When the last earthly scene was closed Amid our blanding tears. That fragile form that suffered long.

She travelled o'er the narrow path. The way the Saviour trod; ad now she sings the victory some in presence of her God.

This world with all us present.
The sea from shore to shore,
Shall render up their sacred trust
When time shall be no more.

—J. Steele. This world with all its pleasant things

CRIM WAGER.

"Speshul! speshul! 'Orrible murder in the Dalton road!" And then again another voice, pitched in a higher kert took up the cry on the farther side of the street-"Speshul! speshul!"-and the rest was lost in incoherency as the sound of the voices, mingled and intertwined, gradually faded away in

'What a loathsome noise that is!" said Peel, with a shudder. "There is something positively ghoulish about "It always gives me the creeps, especially at night. It suggests all sorts of horrible, morbid ideas," joined in Lelange, who was perched on the model throne, smeking innumer-

Kovno, the owner of the studio, said nothing, but smiled in rather a superior way. He was a person of some-what unusual tasthe—his pictures betrayed him in that

We were rather a cosmopolitan lot gathered in the big studio that night Lelange was a merry, light-hearted little Frenchman, clever to the tips of his restless fingers, but quite incapable of serious work. Peel and myself were English—painstaking, not wholly suc-cessful, but without half Lelange's versatility. Ferguson was Scotch—serious and argumentative, and Kovno the owner of the studio-was a Pole by birth, though much of his life had been fived in Paris and London.

He was two or three years older than the rest of us. As far as his art was concerned he was brilliant, original and startlingly umpleasant. For himself, he had a fine head—the head of a dreamer. Usually a reticent man, he would at rare intervals flash out into a flery, animated flood of talk, accompanied by wild gesticu-Only one other person was in the studio-Dora Smith, our model-a pretty, nervous, little person, at the present moment toasting her toes at the big stove and enjoying a cigarette her well-earned rest. "Well, there's only one good thing about a murder," said Ferguson—"it

! And that, as a rule, ends in Ferguson shook his head doubtfully. "It takes more than brains to make a successful murderer," said he. "It would require an absolute lack of nerves or imagination, call it what you please. Ugh!"—he went on with a shudder—"if ever I got led into any-thing of the sort I should never know amother peaceful moment as long as I

"danse Macabre" on the model throne with his heels, and struck a tragic attitude which made Dora laugh. "I wish you wouldn't all be so hor ribly gloomy," she said. "I believe this great big barn of a studio is haunted. Do, for goodness' sake, talk about something cheerful!" "It's not gloomy at all, It's most ineresting," persisted Kovno. "I don't mind owning that the possibilities of undiscovered crime have a great fascination for me."

The possibilities of an undiscover ed shilling in my trousers pocket would be more attractive to me personally, said Peel, ruefully surveying his world-ly possessions. "Archie"—turning to me-"we shall have to pad the hoof to-night. Can't afford an omnibus." Frank Peel and I, it would be well to explain share a large attic, which we dignify by the name of studio, in the region of Wandsworth.

"I am willing to bet," Kovno continued, without noticing the interruption, "I am willing to bet that I could commit a murder without a possibility of detection." He was getting into one of his excitable moods and gesticu-fating freely.

"Rubbish," said I, laughing. "Any. one can talk like that. But, in the first place, it's absurd; and in the econd, I don't suppose for a minute that you'd be such an abject fool as Kovpo himself laughed at that, for by nature he is one of the mildest reatures imaginable. "No, no. I don't mean to say that want to harm anyone in particular for the mere satisfaction of proving to a parcel of lunatics that I am talking common sense; but still I maintain I could do so." "Well, you prove it to me, and I'll take your bet," said I, jeering.

'Win you?" he asked. "Of course I will," I replied. "Frank we'll have a dinner on the strength of

"Done with you, then," said Kovno "I'll bet you five pounds to a shilling. I sold a couple of sketches to-day." "That's all very well." put in Ferguson slowly, "but short of actually murdering the man, and then confessing to us-in which case we should inevitably trot you off to the nearest police station—how are you going to give us proof of your ability?"

Kovne thought for a moment.
"Look here," he said, speaking quickly, "suppose I manage to spirit a man away and carre him to vanish for a week-ten days, if you like-without any inquiries that may be made enabling anyone to connect me with the matter; and supposing that I obtained a written confession from that man, acknowledging that it was in my power to kill him, if it so pleased me, will that satisfy you?"

"It's hardly a fair test," grumbled Ferguson. "Still, I suppose you can't manage better—short of actually committing a crime." "You'll have the deuce to pay when you let him go," suggested Letange.
"I shall make his release conditional on no further steps being taken," answered Kovno. "Come, are you After a little more discussion the terms were agreed to, and Ferguson was appointed to hold the stakes. The meeting broke up and Peel and I started out on our weary way to were both hard at work at the art sent. school. On Saturday, however, my Sheriff Tibbits, who has been ill with made up my mind to go down to the be out again. country for a few days and make some studies. Peel couldn't come, as Dora was sitting to him on Monday. So, while he started off to the art school as usual in the morning, I sauntered out to invest in a sketch-book. On my way back I met Kovno. I had clean forgotten all about the wager, and having an hour or so to spare, I walked back with him to his studio. He was in a conversational mood, and kept chattering on about some wonderful masterplece he was starting on

When we got to the studio-a great hig barrack of a place, which had once been used by a sculptor, and stood in a little isolated plot of ground back from the road—he produced some whisky and glasses, bade me help myself, rolled a rigarette, and started work. It was a very hot day, and I had been working late at black-andwhite work the night before. I leaned back browsly in a rickety old chair, and watched him rapidly sketching in his picture on a large canvas. I lit my pipe, and took a long pull at my whisky-and-water. After that I suprose I went to sleep (I found out afterward that the whisky had been doctored). Anyhow, the next thing I remember is waking up with a hor-rible shooting pain running through all my limbs. It was pitch dark. I tried to move and stretch myself. I couldn't budge an inch in any direction. I was securely bound hand and foot. In an instant the truth flashed upon me. Kovno had beard of my intended jaunt to the country, had lain in wait for me, and deliberately lured me to the studio. What he had done then beyond drugging me, or where I was, I had not the faintest ida. I was at the same time immensely relieved and distinctly annoyed—relieved to renumber that it was only a joke, annoyed to think of the simple way in which I had been taken in.

Hours passed, and the rain of ropes t cutting into me was intolerable. I began to get furiously angry—Kovno was carrying the thing too far. I shouted and yelled till I was hoarse, and stamped my bound feet against the wall, to which I had rolled in my nging." struggles. The air was close and "Nonsense, my dear chap!" said stifting and there was a foetid, earthy Kovno, "It's only the clumsy idiots smell about it. I began to lose my who are found out. Anyone who isn't a fool could kill as many people as he time—anything to distract my attena fool could kill as many people as he time—anything to distract my attenpleased and never be even suspected tion; but to no purpose. At last, utif you grant him an average amount berly worn out and exhausted, I lost Consciousness again.

The next thing I remember was a faint glimmer of light and Koyno bending over me. He was laughing silently, and his eyes glittered weirdly in the uncertain light. I cursed him furiously in no measured terms, but as he only continued to chuckle to himself in that hateful, silent manner, I got more and more alarmed. I implored him to undo the ropes, I promised to sign any paper he liked, and to confess that he had won his bet, but not a word would he answer. He merely bent down, and holding the light nearer to me, gloated over my helpless condition.

His face was all distorted by the dancing shadows, and his eyes gleamed in a perfectly detestable man-Suddenly the awful, horrible truth dawned upon me. He had gone mad! His mind, always of a morbid turn, had been unable to withstand the fascinations of putting his theories into practice. The lust of secret crime had got hold of him, and the man was to all intents and purposes a raving lunatic. As soon as I recognized this my last vestige of self-control left me, I babbled at him incoherently, I begged, I him, but all in vain. After standing looking at me in silence for a short time, and evincing a keen delight in my mental agony, he turned and left me without a word. Hunger and thirst soon added to my tortures. Then the earthy smell of the place, and the absolute blackness and silence, must have made ne delirious. I remember nothing more distinctly—save one thing, to horrible simosi to mention. In one of my more lucid int rvals I became aware of Kovno sitting at a little sketching easel, a light leside Mm, calmly and rapidly making sketches of my distorted feat ir s, muttering and laughing to himself the

It was only after weeks of delirium that I came to myself, and found Dora sitting beside me in my own attic in Wandsworth, and it was from her that I learnt the manner of my escape. My absence, it appears, was not noticed for the first three days, and I was supposed to be in the country.

Then Peel got alarmed, and he and the others held a consultation. Two more days passed, and at last Dora's suspicions were aroused by a strangenees in Kovno's manner -something furtive but at the same time triumphant. A chance oversetting of a portfolio confirmed their suspicions, es among the sketches were those of me as I lay bound in the darkness.

A search was organized, and at last I was found behind a whole pile of lymber and studio refuse in an old cellar under the building in which the sculrtor, the original tenant, used to an impressive sermon. The deceased keep his store of modeling clay.

Poor Kovno became dangerously violent on his return, for he had been absent when the search was made. He was taken to an infirmary, and thence to an asylum. The doctors say that it is only temporary insanity; but then they have never seen his eyes gleaming through the darkness as I saw them in that loadhsome hole, and as I them in that loathsome hole, and as I sometimes fancy I see them still.— Cecil Havten in Answers.

Children Cry for CASTORIA.

ANDOVER.

Sheriff Tibbits Is Out Again-Horse Trotting on the River.

For the next three days we saw party given by Frank Sadler on Tuesnothing of Kovno or the others, as we day evening was enjoyed by all preweekly allowance having arrived, I la grippe for the past week, is able to Miss Louise Perley went to Fredericton last week to attend the ball given at the Queen Hotel. She is the guest of Miss Grace Winslow

Miss Lilly Burpee, telegraph operator at Edmundston, is spending a few days with Miss Maggie Curry.

Horse trotting on the ice on the river causes lots of amusement for those who keep trotting horses in this village. Quite an excitement was cansed today over the race between Claude Claude Napp and Guy Wilard's horses. The latter won the $10 stakes. Mrs. Havelock Kelley was called away last week to Woodstock on account of the illness of her Mrs. Lewis

ATONG THE MILLSPREAM

MILLSTREAM, Kings Co., Feb. 7.-Mrs. Solomon Parlee of Head of Millstream, died on Tuesday, aged 82 years. Her remains were interred in the old Fenwick burying ground, near Berwick.

Edward Barrot, James Law, Edward Finiss, and William Fitzgerald, who have been confined to the house with la grippe, are out again. Mr. McCauley's saw mill at McGregor Brook, which was shut down on account of the cylinder head of the engine being blown out, is in opera-Mrs. A. Finiss is very ill of la grippe and inflammation of the lungs.

Dr. Murray is in attendance. J. J. Johnson presided at the farmer's meeting held in Carsonville. There were present: J. A. Leiper, Octavius McLeod, Jos. Hornbrook, Major H. M. Campbell, George Cook, Allen Parks, Philip Leiper, Charles W. A. Parlee, Frank Ross, Michael Hynes, Allen Schofield, Norman Mc-Cleod, Mamilton McCleod: The speakers were: W. W. Hubbard, J. J. Ferguson and J. E. Hopkins

WHITE'S COVE, QUEENS CO.

WHITE'S COVE, Queens Co., Feb. 6.—All that was mortal of the late Robert Orchard was tald to rest on Saturday afternoon in the Church of England burying ground a large con-England burying ground, a large con-course of friends being present to pay the last tribute of respect to the departed. In the absence of the rector, Rev. A. J. A. Gollmer, Rev. N. C. Hansen, rector of Gagetown, conducted the obsequies. Mrs. A. Purdy of Jemseg presided at the organ. Rev. H. M. Spike of St. John held service in St. John's Episcopal church Miss M. Sparks is prostrated with da grippe. John Mullin is also suffer-ing from grippe and Fred Durost is in ill health.

Charles McDermott of Portland, Me, and Miss Agnes McDermott of Boston, Mass., arrived home on Sat-unday to visit their father, Francis eDermott, who is dangerously ill of dropsy.

Joseph McFee, who has been prostrated with grippe, is able to attend to his duties again. The family of James McLaughlin are suffering from la grippe.

George Palmer, Charles Molasky and Robert Kelly are hauling logs to C. & J. Robinson's saw mill at the Narrows.

SUNBURY CO.

A Jolly Drive to Gagetown-Getting Out Birch Timber.

SHEFFIELD, Sunbury Co., Feb. 8. -A party of young people, twenty in all, left Upper Sheffield on Thursday pracing horses, with a view of joining a party at Gagetown proper at the home of John F. Bridges to celebrate the anniversary of their ten years marriage. After spending a and groom of ten years ago and making them the happier and better off by leaving them useful and ornamental articles for lomestic use, the party returned by the light of the evening moon; to their homes in Sheffield at two o'clock in the morning.

Chas. Ward Barker, whose health was reported in the St. John Sun a few days ago to be in a precarious condition, is convalescent. Firsh timber of large dimensions is being hauled through Sheffleld these days from the forests of Little river for the building of scows at Upper Gagetown. John F. Pridges passed through Lower Sheffield last week with a small house from Lakeville Corner, moving it to the woods back of Gagetown for the better accommodation of the lumbermen to camp, in while getting scow timber. Joseph Craswell of Lakeville Corner a few days ago was warming a reparation of o'l for a lame horse. It caught fire and in taking it off the tove inflicted some severe burns on Mrs. Abran Cowperthwalle, an o'd and respected neighbor of other years on these intervales, died at Fox Reach. Queens Co., last Friday, and was interred yesterday in the public ourial ground at Toner Sagetown, the was 85 years of age.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Queen's Speech Deals With a Variety of Subjects.

The New Liberal Leader-Usual Officia Banquets and Receptions.

LONDON, Feb. 7.-There was the usual competition among the members of parliament today to be the first to take a seat in the house of commons on the reopening of parliament. Robert Ashcroft, conservative member for Oldram, beat the record by arriving at the house at 12.45 a. m. John Cumming McDonna, conservative member of parliament for the Rotherhite division of Southwark, arrived at one a. m. Others arrived during the night.

A majority of both houses assembled just before two p. m., when the black rod, General Sir Michael Biddulph, came from the house of lords and with the usual ceremony summoned the commons to the house of lords for the purpose of hearing the Queen's speech, which was delivered by the lord chan-cellor, the Earl of Halsbury.

The speech made the usual refer-ence to the pacific relations existing between Great Britain and foreign countries, and dealt with the recent operations in the Soudan and with the affairs in Crete, expressing the bope that the Cretan question is in a fair way of solution by the appointment of Prince George of Greece as high commissioner of the powers in

The speech also referred to the invitation to attend the czar's peace conference, which has been accepted, and contains a very sympathetic re-ference to the assassination of the Empress of Austria. It mentions the anarchist conference at Rome, and the probable necessity for the alteration of the law of Great Britain with respect to anarchists is foreshadowed. The speech then expressed great concern at the fast that the plague continues in certain localities of India, paid tributes to the efficacy of the measures taken to extirpate it and the devotion of the officials. Cape Colony was complimented upon its patriotism, as demonstrated in the recent vote for naval defence, and there were very sympathetic allusions to the disaster in the West In-

Finally, the speech announced that bills will be introduced for the muni-cipal government of London and for the promotion of secondary educa-

Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman, the new liberal leader, became financial secretary to the war office in 1871, held that position until 1874, was reappointed in 1880 and held the office until 1882, when the became secretary for the admiralty. In 1884 Mr. Campbell-Bannerman became secretary for Ireland and in 1886, and in 1892-95 he erved. The Irishmen at one time called him the "Scotch Sand Bag." As secretary for war he proved himself a capable administrator and as far back as 1895 his name was mentioned as a likely successor of Sir William Vernon Harcourt. The usual official banquets on the eve of the opening of parliament were given last evening, with one excep-tion. As the liberal members of the house of commons had no official leader until yesterday afternoon, they did not have a banqueting host.

Lord Salisbury entertained the conservative peers, and the Earl of Kimberiey, liberal leader in the house of of commons dined with Arthur lords, entertained the liberal peers. The conservative members of the J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, while the liberal-unionists were the guests of the Duke of Devonshire, lord president of the council of ministers. After the banquets the Duchess of Devonshire gave a reception to the members of both parties.

MISSING STEAMERS

Thought to Have Gene Down in a Terrific Hurricane in Mid-Atlantic.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—The reports of the terrible hurricane encountered prayed, I implored, I flattered his at three of the clock at the sound of in mid-ocean on the last westward cunning, I cursel him, I laughed at the bugle, drawn by four magnificent, voyage by the big liners St. Louis, Lucania and LaChampagne have made the owners and agents of delayed vessels somewhat uneasy regarding their ships. Seafaring men years marriage. After spending a have given up all hope of ever seeing very pleasant evening with the bride the British freighter Almida, which and groom of ten years ago and mak-sailed from Shields, England, for this port on Dec. 19 last, in command of Captain A. McGregor, with a crew of 25 men. No incoming sivip has reported speaking the Almida since she left the other sile.

The missing steamer was a steel vessel of 1,542 tons and carried a general cargo. The Almida passed Runnet Head, Scotland, on Dec. 21.

The Catania started from Azores for this port on Jan. 26, and up to the present time has not been heard from. The owners of part of the cargo on the Catania today had it reinsured. The Tweedle liner is in charge of Captain Furlong, and has a crew of 35.

There is much mystery as to the identity of a British steamer bound west, which was spoken on Jan. 19, in lat. 43.06, long. 59.87, by the Pennsylvania of the Hamburg line. The British vessel, which is said to have displayed the signal letters N D G F, asked to be reported to her agents in New York and also report that all on board were well. No vessel with the Atlantic port since.

The will of the late Thomas H. Mc-Alnine has been admitted to probate and letters testamentary granted to his widow. The estate consists of $1,-500 personal property and is all left to Mrs. McAlpine. Bustin & Porter,

NOVA SCOTIA NEWS.

AMHERST, N. S., Feb. 6.-W. Benson Smith, a wealthy and very highly esteemed farmer at Truemanville, died on Saturday night after several weeks of a painful illness from appendicities. The deceased was forty-two years of age and was the second son of Edward Smith, now of East Amherst. Other brothers and sisters are: Abel and Hibbert of Truemanville; Mrs. Isaac Forrest of Amherst Point, Mrs. (Rev.) Swallow of Amherst Head, and Mrs. J. A. Traeman of Traemanville. The deceased leaves a young widow, need fiss Julia Smith, daughter of Chas.

M. Smith of Truemanville, to whom he was married on Oct. 12th last by Rev. C. W. Swallow. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon, the interment to be in the Highland cemetery here. AMHERST, N. S., Feb. 7.—After the civic contest today the electors one and all, together with a very large proportion of the gentle sex, witnessed the Amherst club defeat the St. John Bicycle and Athletic club at hockey by a score of 3 to 0. There was no score done in the second helf. The visitors were much strengthened by Tufts, the crack goal keeper of the Mchawks, and his stops were brilliant. Two of the goals were shot from centre ice, and there was no combination play on the part of either team.

The mayor and councillors elect delivered addresses during half time. The Bieycle and Athletic club have much improved in their play since the commencement of the sesson, and it was a matter of surprise that the score stood as it did. The Amherst team has but one defeat to its credit this season in seven games, and that by the questionable goal awarded to the Mohawks in the St. John league game. The home team go to St. John again on Friday to meet the Neptunes of that city, and again on the 14th to play the Mohawks. The town election here today resulted in the election of J. A. Dickey, C. E., for mayor; Amos. B. Etter, Charles A. Lusby and D. W. Robb for councillors. The figures were: For councillors, C. A. Lusby, 449; A. B. Etter, 440; D. W. Robb, 441; A. A. Moffat, 270; Wm. Holmes, 256; J. E. Lushy, 227.

For mayor-J. A. Dickey, 441; C. J. Silliker, 246 HALIFAX, Feb. 6.-A Louisburg despatch says: The steamer Acadian. owned by S. Cunard & Co. of Halifax, is ashore on Rock Island, at the entrance of Louisburg harbor. When making port yesterday, she struck, and will probably be a total loss. She has fourteen feet of water in the hold. She had no pilot on board. There was no cause whatever for the accident, the evening being fine and

NEW GLASGOW, Feb. 6.—The Ross grist mill and Ritchie's woollen mill at West Branch, River John, were destroyed by fire on Friday.

A young man named McIntosh, son of the manager at Thornburn, met with an accident in the pit on Saturday, which caused his death a few hours afterwards. He was terribly torn and crushed. The Nova Scotia government are contemplating changes in the mar-riage law of this province, and Premier Murray has introduced a bill to give them effect. The law now requires bondsmen as security of the good faith of the applicant for a marriage license. This has been found almost worthless, and it is proposed to substitute an affidavit by the person applying for license. If he swears falsely he can be proceeded against for perjury. A certificate will be issued when banns are used. The pres ent license form names some particular clergyman as the man to perform the ceremony. The new negotiation addresses the form to any clergyman Other minor changes are proposed, giving to the same custom the same tion of the law.

WEYMOUTH, N. S., Feb. 7.-The leath of Sterns Jones occurred here today. Although hourly expected, the sad news was received with a shock, and has cast a gloom over the entire community. He was 85 years old. Mr. Jones was born in Weymouth April 15th, 1814, and was a son of the late Cereno U. Jones, who was one of the loyalists who first settled in Weymouth. He was married Dec. 22nd, 1839, to Margaret Ann, daughter of Isaac Wiley Doane of St. John, N. B. One daughts and two sons were the family. The deceased bore an unblemished character through life. He was one of the charter members of the old Colombia division. the old Colombia division, No. 21, the first temperance organization formed in Weymouth, and always held sacred and lived up to the obligation taken in his youth. He was a member of the Episcopal church. The wife of Mr. Jones died April 24th, 1985. In the year 1887 he married again to Mrs. Freeman (Miss Annie Fowley Mildon), daughter of Thomas Mildon of Wey-mouth. In 1851 he was gazetted justice of the peace for Dighy county. Twelve years later he was appointed collector of customs for Weymouth. After filling this position satisfactorily for nineteen years he was superannuated in 1832, since then living a quit life until his death. His successor was Norman Bond Jones, who is still in office. The deceased was a liberal in politics, but was a great admirer of Joseph Howe in his time. The renizins will be interred in the Episcopal cemetery on Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.

COLLINA.

The Fifteenth Anniversery of Their Mar-riage Happily Celebrated. The Fitteenth Anniversary of Their Marriage Happity Celebrated.

COLLINA. Kings Co. N. B. Feb. 3.—On Friday evening, Jan. 27th over fifty people of this place and the surrounding weinty assembled at the heats-me new residence of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kelestend, it being the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. A very enjoyable evering was spent by all. Refreshments were served, after which Harry Marr of Sussey was called to the chair, and in a few well chosen repreces presented Mr. and Mrs. Kritstend with a magnificent perfect hom Mr. Kritstend replied, thanking the friends esseembled for their token of respect to himself and family.
Species were made by F. Kritstend,
David H. Rare Jacob Y. Kritstend William Sharp Wester Kelmend and Mr. Demorit of Sussey and others. The methods of Americal

Mack Arein

Mack Arein

We derow sold the leaseho

As It will be form a vote on Echanica 16th at Milford, belonging to the gravized at Collina, the temperance people Geo. H. V. Belyes at $250.

NOTICE OF SALE.

To the Heirs, Executors, Administrators and Assigns of Henry J. Du Vernet, late of the Partsh of Gegetown, in the County of Queeas, farmer: Prisoflie A. his wife, and all others whom it may in any vise

Parish of Gagetown, in the County of Queens, farmer; Principle A., his wife, and all others whom it may in any wise concern:

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in two several Indentures of Mortgage, made between the said Henry J. Du Vernet and Priscilla A., his wife, of the one part, and the under-signed, James A. Caswell of the Parish of Gagetown, aforesaid, doctor of medicine, of the other part, the first of which said mortgages bears date the fifth day of November, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four and the second the fifth day of September, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four and the second the fifth day of September, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six, there will for the purpose of satisfying the moneys secured by the said mortgages, be said as public Auction, in front of the office of the Registrar of Deeds and Wille, at the Parish of Gagetown, in the County of Queens, on SATURDAY, the Elleventh day of February, A. D. 1896, at the hour of tweive o'clock, noon, the lands mentioned in the said several Indentures of Mortgage, and described therein as follows:

"All that certain tract, plesse or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the Parish of Gagetown, in Queens Causty and Proviace of New Brunswick, willed by the late Chief Justice, the Hon. Robert Parker, to the said Henry J. Du Vornet, and bounded as follows: "On the south hy lands owned and occupied by one John McKinney; on the west by the base line of the river lots, on the south hy land owned and occupied by the said Henry J. Du Vernet, and the road leading from the reform a piece of land thirty less appared to the said Henry J. Du Vernet and Priscille, his wife, to Her Majesty the Queen, by deed dated the thirty-first day of March, A. D. 1884, and recording two hundred and fifty acres, mere or less, together with all and singular the buildings and improvements the record the record will more fully appear, c

JAMES A. CASSWELL,
JOHN R. DUNN,
Solicitor for Mortgages.

Mortgagee's Sale.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
There will be sold at Public Auction at Chubb's Corner (so called) in the City of St.
John, in the Province of New Brunswick, on SATURDAY, the Bighteenth day of Forusty next, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forencon:

on SATURDAY, the Bighteenth day of Peruary next, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forencen:

"All that certain (leasehold) lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Duke's Ward, in the Cify of St. John, and known and distinguished on a plan of the caid city on file in the office of the Common Clerk by the number (353) eight humber and fifty-eight, the said lot being forty tent front on the south side of Duke street and extending back, continging the same appurtenances to the said to belonging or in anywise appear of sale contained in a certain indenture of mortgage dated the ninth day of James Know, of the said City of St. John, cabinet maker, and James Know of the first part and Lampa A. Smith of Shediac, in the County of Westmortand, and Province aforesaid, spunsier, of the second part, which said indenture of mortgage is duly recorded in Libro 4. of Records, follo 492, 493, 494, 495 and 496 for the City and County of St. John, reference being thereto had will more fully and at lampa appear, default having been made in the payment, principal money and interest. Terms cash.

Dated this fourteenth day of Nowember, A. D. 1898.

LAURA A. SMITEL, Mortgages.

1648

FARMERS INSTITUTE

MEETINGS

UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF The New Brunswick Department of Agriculture

The Farmers' and Dairymen's Association of N. B.

Meetings will be held at dates and places indicated below: STAFF NO. II. Feb 11.-Douglas, York Co.,

Evening see 13.-Upper Gagetown, Queens Co., 14.—Sheffield (Temperance Hall) Sunbury Co., Evening se " 15.—Lin coln, Sunbury Co.,

Evening session Com. of Agriculture.

Cor.-Searctary F & D. Assn. intend holding an anniversary meeting on that day. A good time is expected.

W. W. HUBBARD.

GRAND TRUNK ENGINEER SWEARS BY DR. CHASE'S

KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS. Mr. Geo. Cummings, for over 20 years engineer on Grand frunk, running between Toronto and Allandale, says: "The constant duty with my work gave me excessive pains in my back racking my kidneys. I tried several remedies until I was recommended by my fireman, Mr. Dave Conley, to try boxes have completely cured me and I feel to-day a better man than ever. I recommend them to all my friends

WINNING FRESH LAURELS.

'The friends in these provinces of the Rev. Dr. H. A. S. Hartley, formerly pastor of St. Philip's A. M. E. church in this city, will learn with pleasure that he is adding fresh honors to those won in the scholestic field by years past. The Printlad Mirror of Jan. 13th says: "On Monday last the Rev. Dr. Hartley successfully passed an examination as French interpreter of the courts of the colony. The gentleman, we learn, does not inte to pursue that vocation, but appreciates the certificate as a worthy addidiplomas he has gain'd disowhere."

At Chubb's Corner, vectorday, Ges. W. Gerow sold the lensehold property at Milford, belonging to the estate of the late Wm. McNell, to the bid of