Startling Discoveries in Pajarato Canon, N. M. - Building Containing 1,200 Rooms

The building discovered was 500 by 450 feet, entirely of stone carefully dressed. It was two or three stories high originally, but now only walls six to 10 feet remain standing. The upper story evidently was open to the sky, and upon this the dwellers in the building probably spent both night and day. But it is the finds made in a room 9 by 12 feet in size that are the most suggestive of the civilization of the ancient people. An old furnace for smelling was found, near which was a large iron bar deeply incrusted with rust, also pieces of rich copper ore, as well as gold ornaments and a piece of beautiful turquois.

Twenty-five pieces of pottery of great beauty and brilliancy were in the room. They

In the building are 1,200 to 1,500 rooms, only one of which was excavated. There are nundreds of similar ruins in the 25 miles from Bland to Espanola, showing that in that district at one time lived more people than are in New Mexico today. The region has not as yet been touched by scientists
