Geo. F. Beverly, clerk in the post office,

The trouble arose over some delivery goes that Mr. Beverly and J. C. Clark, also a post office clerk, each asked the messena post office clerk, each asked the messenger for a basket and were given them.

The matter was reported to Postmaster Hanington by one of the men in the department, and he called Mr. Clark and said the basket must be returned. Mr. Clark accepted the decision. His basket had been taken home and could not just them be returned. Mr. Beverly's was still in the office and the postmaster had it while the office and the postmaster had it while talking to Mr. Clark. Mr. Beveriy came along, claimed the basket and, it is said, refused to obey orders to return it, claiming it was his. It is understood there was something of a stormy scene which ended in Beverly's suspension for insubordination, both men being told that what they had done was objectionable from the standpoint of the department.

A Telegraph reporter asked Mr. Hanington about the matter last night, but he would not make a statement beyond saying that Mr. Beverly had been suspended for insubordination and the case had been reported to Ottawa.

MEMORIAL WINDOW

Placed in St. George's Church, Carleton, in Memory of the Late Thomas Johnston.

Last Sunday morning a memorial window, the gift of Mrs. M. A. Johnston, a member of the church, was unveiled in St. George's church, Carleton, by a short dedicatory service, consisting of a formal presentation and acceptance of the window. An appropriate hymn was sung and special prayer offered.

The rector, Rev. Mr. Sampson, in accepting the gift expressed the apprecia-tion of the congregation, and thanked the donor for her generous act.

The window is of triple circular headed form. The frame sashes were made by the Lawton Company. The centre panel is 11 feet by 3 feet; the side panels 8 by 1-6. The Maritime Glass Works made the stained glass.

The centre panel represents The Saviour standing holding a child in his arms, his left hand resting on the head of a boy standing at his side. The side panels support the centre very effectively. The colors are very rich and the whole reflects much credit on the glass works workmen. The
