

4 Heads are better than one

The world's first four-headed university student will enroll at the U of A this fall.

In an exclusive interview the Enquirer spoke with (from left to right) Boris, Christine, Arnold Dionne and Ms. Dionne about their unusual condition. As you're probably aware, the Dionne family became famous when they had the first four-headed child to survive, some twenty years ago. Since that time, life has not been easy for the four-headed youngster(s?).

"How would you like being called eight eyes?" quipped Arnold who plans to enter the Faculty of Engineering.

Arnold is entering engineering because he feels the future of Canada depends on continued growth in secondary and tertiary industry. "I'm also in it for the money, eh?"

To the left, both physically and politically, is Boris, who recently changed his name from Adam because the name Boris identifies him more "with the workers." He is a member of the Communist party and will study political science.

He attributes his superior intelligence as the main factor in his politics. "We can't all be stupid," says Boris.

In between Boris and Arnold is Christine, a born-again Christian of charismatic persuasion.

"I'm so glad the Lord gave me the opportunity to suffer this way," says Christine. "I just know there is some purpose in my never being able to lead a normal life."

Christine is taking bible college courses by correspondence and will enter nursing.

Ms. Dionne, the fourth head, would not tell the Enquirer her first name because she felt it might put her in an inferior position. Sources close to the heads speculate her first name may be Rapunzel.

Ms. Dionne plans to enter the Faculty of Arts and will study herstory (as opposed to history) and will take courses from female instructors only.

"Why should I let some male professor sexually harass me," she asks. Ms. Dionne will minor in misogamy.

The Dionne foursome will have a special time-table developed by the computing department which will allow them to finish their studies in just over twelve years. They will also have special permission to sleep while in each others' classes.

Taking twelve years to go through university does not seem to bother the foursome. As Arnold puts it, "Hell, it takes some regular students that long."
