BROKEN SLEEP - TIRED NEXT MORNING.

MORNING.

Sleep not only rests, but builds up the body. Out down the hours of sleep, and you out down health in the same proportion. Rebuilding then ceases, nerves go to smash, you grow tired, weak and wretched.

To restore sleep you must get more bodily strength, more nutritious blood, healthier nerves. Ferrozone solves the whole problem, makes you sleep soundly, given endurance, vim, ambition. No more morning weakness—instead the fire of youth will run in your veins, supplying abundance of energy and vigor. Witchery expresses the instant effect of Ferrozone; try it.

Won't Coerce Nerway.

Stockheim, June 15.—The attitude of the laboring classes is likely to prove a potent factor in overcoming any possible disposition on the part of a section of the Riksdag to suggest the adoption of the Riksdag to tion of coercive measures towards Nor-way accepting the dissolution of the union. Swedish labor unions are daily telegraphing to Norwegian unions, saying they will refuse to take up arms, and the Social Democratic party has issued a proclamation saying the workingmen would go on strike over the whole country.

A puny child is atways an anxiety to the parents. There seems generally no reason why the little one should be weak when it is so well fed. But the fact is that it does not matter how much food the child takes if the stomach cannot extract the nourishment from it. No benefit can be derived from just eating. That is the condition of many a sickly child. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are not doing their work, and the body is really starving. It is little use to give fish foods, like cod liver oil or emulsione, in such a case, because these also have to be digested; they may lighten the stomach needs. ## A BLUESTONE ROMANCE

HASTINGS CO. MADE FAMOUS BY THE PRINCESS OF WALES.

How Her Royal Highness Came to Figure in Geology—Marble Sodolite and Statuary Marble of Bancroft Town-ship Add One More to the World's Luxuries—The Economic Side.

Wes, I mean what I say shout Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," says Henry A. Coles of St. Mary's River, Guysboro Co., N. S., in a recent interview. "I had atomach trouble for about five years. It got so bad I was taken to my bed and the doctor was called in, He couldn't reach the trouble however and I was suffering very bad, and not knowing what to do when my wife said. Let us try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

"Well, we tried them, and the result was that I used seven boxes and the stomach trouble left and has not troubled me since. Do you wonder I recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?"

If you can't digest your food don't if the remaining the stome to the World's Luxuries—The Economic Side.

Little Bancroft village, up by the rock-bullt little York River in Bancroft Township, County of Hastings, has given birth to a geological romance. The chief figure in this interesting epicalism of the philosopher's stohe, is a certain preclous blue stone called sodelite, with at least three kinds

The chief figure in this interesting episode is the Princess of Wales. The other leading characters are Messra. Charles. Allom and John Duveen, of London, and Mr. Thomas Morrison, of Aberdeen. The kernel of the romance, almost after the fashion of the philosopher's stone, is a certain precious blue stone called sodelite, with at least three kinds of marble.

From these curieus conjunctions it happens that at present three miles from the village of Bancroft there are strange new quarries, with horses and men at work clearing off the land, in and about the village £1,500 has been spent in a few months, and to Toronte at the end of last week came two English gentlemen, bubbling ever with a tale of adventure that promises to create a new industry in Canada, says The News.

create a new industry in Canada, says
The News.
The two gentlemen were Messrs.
Allom and Duveen. Mr. Allom is the active partner in the well-known firm of White & Allom, of London, the leading decorators in the British Empire.
Mr. John Duveen is the leading member of the celebrated firm of Duveen Brothers, London and New York, known to the Angle-Sayan world as the leadto the Anglo-Saxon world as the lead-ing high art dealers in the British Em-ing high art dealers in the British Em-pire.

Wour days ago these gentlemen were pounding roughshod over the granite hills and the knee-deep marshes of Bancreft Township. Five nights ago with Mr. Morrison, their geologist, and the picturesque old settler, Gaebel, who lives all alone in the hills, they were-rambling under a moonless aky with a farmer's lantern in a last search for a mountain of white marble. They a farmer's lantern in a last search for a mountain of white marble. They found it before daylight. Consequently Mr. Allom telegraphed to cancel his berth on the S. S. Philadelphia, missed his train out of Bancroft, and almost by accident dropped off at Toronto for a few hours, where these interesting ex-players, were interviewed.

few hours, where these interesting explorers were interviewed.

On a table lay several bits of blue, white and green rock. Mr. Allom picked up a dark blue chip and held it up to the light.

"We shall call it the Royal Victoria lapis lazula," he said. "So far as is known, there is no other deposit in the world just like it. It came from the Township of Bancroft, not far from Madoc. That stuff will polish like a diamond. Pay a visit to Mr. Pierpont Morgan soon and you shall see a border of it round his new library. At Mariborough House you shall see it. As for ornaments, beautiful buttons, umbrells handles, and all such, it is simply a pew sensation.

"The Princess will simply be delight-

"The Princess will simply be delighted when she sees sur lox of specimen," added Mr. Allom, "Yes; we have christened our quarry the Princess Quarry and our company the Princess Quarry Co."
"The story dates back to the time when the Princess, then the Duchess of Cornwall and Yerk, visited Canada. While in Montreal, Mr. Reid there pre While in Montreal, Mr. Reid there presented her with about thirty beautiful-While in Montreal, Mr. Reid there presented her with about thirty beautifully polished stones—blue, green and white. They had been got by Mr. Willmot, the Dominion geologist, and polished by him. Two years ago the Princess sent for me, as I had been doing the decorations of Mariborough House. Mr. Allom, she said. If these stones came from Hastings County, in Ontario, why cannot more be found like Agr. Allom, she said. If these stones came from Hastings County, in Ontario, why cannot more be found like them? Why cannot a new Canadian industry be established, employing skilled Canadian labor polishing these stones for England?"

It now began to be evident what the Princess of Wales had to do with this romance. Just another case of womanly intuition getting shead of science, even in a commercial proposition. For the best part of a century the blue and white recks in Hastings county have been dotted with settlers. They raised cattle that browsed and grazed on the sodolite. And one day, according to legend, thirteen years ago, a settler's cow slipped on a rock. The hoef left a long blue mark in the light soil. Afterwards a geologist studied the formation, and for a little while the settlers talked about it. But it was neither gold not diamonds, and the nine days wonder ceased. Certainly it would not have been revived but for the ther salked about it. But it was netter gold not diamonds, and the nime days wonder ceased. Certainly it would not have been revived but for the practical intuition of the Princess.

"The upshot of it was," continued Mr, Allom, "that the Princess handed the whole collection over to me to expioit. Four months afterwards I met Mr. Thomas Morrison, a quarrying expert of Aberdeen, who had done contracts for me. 'Morrison,' I said, showing him a bit of that common white marble, 'what do you think of that." "He looked at it hard. 'Let me have that,' he said. He pocketed it. Shortly afterward he came to me with a proposal to go to Canada. I want to discover that white marble formation,' he said. 'There's building material in that. Find enough of it, and we can oust the quarries of Beigium.

"Pity we couldn't oust the quarries of Carrara, too,' said I. 'That means to find statuary marble.

"However, not to be prolix, Morrison came out here in the beginning of last year at my expense. He went up to the village of Bancroft, hired a room at the Bancroft House, and started on his plignings over the rocks in that wild country, saying. Ittile but thinking much; chipping off specimens of bige and white stose; saving them up. Between Toronto, Ottawa and Bancroft he put in eight months, consulting here with Mr. Chadwick, our solicitor, in Ottawa with the Geological Department. He returned to England with a report, and his specimens. Mr. Duveen, his brother, and mysif, got together.

"We sent Morrison out again last Marck, with his wife. They wont up to Bancroft. In three weeks after that arrival they built a house right on the edge of a quarry, and moved inte the bedoe it was done. Mr. Morrison bought properties and got options as more. Some of the farmers were disposed to hang on. Old man Gaebel sold us 600 acres, and encouraged other men to sell out also, In a short while Mr. Morrison was able to ge shead. He bought horses and hired men; built a blacksmith shop and started in to do some quarrying."

But the most absorbing episode in the narrative, aside from the discovery of the marvelous mountain of blue sodolite, was the story of how these gentlemen discovered the hill of white marble, isolated bits of which had already been located by Mr. Morrison. Mr. Allom had already booked his passage back to England, but determined to have one more quest for white marble. They might even yet find the statuary marble deposits that would sidetrack the quarries of Carrara in Italy, the only known source of the world's statuary marble.

Only one night remained. They took it. The three men with old man Gaebel as a guide started out. This was last Wednesday night, with not the glint of a moonbeam and the weirdest tramp sver taken by the old settler, whe had been on those hills forty years. And after they had tramped till long past midnight they located a continuous ridge of white marble, returning with tired legs and great joy to the Gaebel homestead.

The next day they made further expirations. The result was that for the first time in the history of the world they discovered signs that down beneath the white building marble of the surface lay a huge deposit of the finest statuary marble, as good as any in the quarries of Carrara. Leaving Mr. Morrison to look after the claim, Messrs. Allom and Duveen came on to Toronte to confer with their solicitors. "Now," concluded Mr. Allom, after he had displayed pieces of sea-green marble and a plece of amethyst all from Bancroft, "what does this discovery of white statuary marble mean? It means that whereas now sculptors have to par 24 a cuble foot for Carrara marble, they can get it from Canada for one author that smore statuary polish and design these stone right in Canada, employing Canadian labor, and we ploying Canadian labor, and we shall ship not only abroad, but to the United States, if the duty does not prevent us. As for the white and green building marble, that can be quarried cheap in paying quantities, although, of course, labor is dearer here than in Belgium. The only other sources of the ordinary granite sodolite are Bulgaria and a ridge in the north of Maine. We have water power on our properties, but we have already negotiated in Toronto for steam engines which will be shipped at once. We shall both of us be back in August to go over the property again."

And se ended the rambling, romantic story of how the Princess of Wales initiated by her womanly intuition what promises to develop into one of the most distinctive and world-renowned industries of this colony, as well as a further link in the chain of Imperialism.

The Estimen Fisheries.

With the exception of the Puget Sound region, all salmon fisheries outside of Alaska had a prosperous season in 1904, handsome gains having been made on the Columbia River and the salmon streams of Washington, Oregon and California. This is quite contrary to the outlook about the middle of the summer, but the later runs were profuse, and packing was continued for a longer period than usual. The Puget Sound canneries suffered severely, meeting a loss from last year of nearly 50 per cent. The product of the several regions was as follows:

1903. 1904.

The total value of the Alaskan output, at the figures furnished by the packers in all cases but one, was $7,-725,782. The figures show a loss of $2,-53,833 from the aggregate market value of the pack for 1903.

The aggregate number of salmon of all varieties taken was 25,025,841, against 34,615,813 in 1903. The total number of hands employed was 12,-547, made up of 5,645 whites, 2,002 natives, 3,629 Chinese, and 1,721 Japanese. The introduction of Japanese labor was practically new last year, and was rendered necessary by the dimiculty in procuring Chinamen to man the canneries. A considerable number of Filippines and Porto Ricans were also employed in work heretofore done employed in work heretofore done

Has a Queen of the May.

British Columbia is the one part of the British Empire in which the old English custom of dancing round the May Pole is kept up. The only departure made in British Columbia is in the change of date. In England May Day used to be the one chosen for the fete; at Vancouver the festivities are generally put off till about the middle of the month.

For over forty years New Westminster has kept up the pretty custom. This year it took place on May 14. The Queen of the May was chosen a day or two before. She and the ex-Queen were the two principal figures among hundreds of gally dressed children. She rules the Royal City for one day. The program was as follows:

About 1 p. m. a procession was formed down town, at the head of which were two carriages, one containing the Queen of May and the other the ex-Queen. The former had her maids of honor and the latter a retinue. Escorted by the city band and a military guard, the Queen's Park, where the crowning took place, followed by the May Pole Ganes and children's games. In the evening a hall was held in the Dominion Fair buildings, at which the girls of the two royal partles were the relaming belies.

Carlyle on Right and Wrong. Carlyle maintained that a strain of sentiment about criminals was very prevalent in his day, which tended seriously to obliterate or diminish the real difference between right and wrong. He hated with an intense hatred that whole system of philosophy which de nied that there was a deep, essential fundamental difference between right and wrong and turned the whole matter into a mere calculation of interests. He was accustomed to say that one of the chief merits of Christianity was that it taught that right and wrong were as far apart as heaven and hell and that no greater calamity can befall a nation than a weakening of the righteous hatred of evil.
