

PROTESTANT ACADEMY.

This excellent institution was erected in 1870, by the Wesleyan Methodists of the city, and retained their name until August, 1876, when it came under the joint auspices of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches, at which time the new name was substituted. It is situated on Haviland Street, at a convenient distance from the crowded part of the city, occupying the most commanding site which the city affords. It is substantially built of brick, three stories high. Its internal arrangements, for adaptation to the work of teaching, leave nothing further to be desired. The rooms are spacious and lofty, and perfectly ventilated. The stair cases are large and well adapted to easy entrance and exit. The building is heated in winter by steam. No pains or cost have been spared by the trustees to make this school very desirable for the youth of our island; where they may successfully prepare for honorable positions in future life. The terms commence, as follows: Summer, August 28th; Autumn, November 9th; Winter, February 1st; Spring, April 17th.
