How "Eastlake" Steel Shingles will save you money

It's a one-man job laying "Eastlake" Shingles-that means a big reduction in first cost.

Most roofs can only be laid properly by practical roofers.

The laying of all roofings calls for the time and labor of two or three men-Excepting "Eastlake" Metallic Shingles.

The "Eastlake" is easy to lay-takes just one quarter the time and labor of the four-lock shingles.

There is only one side-lock and gutter, which prevents all leaking and allows for ample expansion and contraction.

Then the "Eastlake" counter-sunk cleat, a special patented feature, holds the bottom of the shingles solidly in place, allows for no sifting in of rain or snow.

"Eastlake" Steel Shingles are absolutely weathertight.

Roofs covered with "Eastlakes" 25 years ago are in perfect condition to-day. That is the only sure test of quality.

Read about these roofs—some may be in your neighborhood. Send for our illustrated booklet, "Eastlake Metal-lic Shingles." Write to-day.

N.B.—An "Eastlake" roof means clean
